39. Auctioneer is selling only such right or title to the items being sold as Auctioneer may have by virtue of consignment agreements on the date of auction and disclaims any warranty of title to the Property. Auctioneer disclaims any warranty of merchantability or fitness for any particular purposes. All images, descriptions, sales data, and archival records are the exclusive property of Auctioneer, and may be used by Auctioneer for advertising, promotion, archival records, and any other uses deemed appropriate.
40. Translations of foreign language documents may be provided as a convenience to interested parties. Auctioneer makes no representation as to the accuracy of those translations and will not be held responsible for errors in bidding arising from inaccuracies in translation.
41. Auctioneer disclaims all liability for damages, consequential or otherwise, arising out of or in connection with the sale of any Property by Auctioneer to Bidder. No third party may rely on any benefit of these Terms and Conditions and any rights, if any, established hereunder are personal to the Bidder and may not be assigned. Any statement made by the Auctioneer is an opinion and does not constitute a warranty or representation. No employee of Auctioneer may alter these Terms and Conditions, and, unless signed by a principal of Auctioneer, any such alteration is null and void.
42. Auctioneer shall not be liable for breakage of glass or damage to frames (patent or latent); such defects, in any event, shall not be a basis for any claim for return or reduction in purchase price.

Release:

43. In consideration of participation in the Auction and the placing of a bid, Bidder expressly releases Auctioneer, its officers, directors and employees, its affiliates, and its outside experts that provide second opines, from any and all claims, cause of action, chose of action, whether at law or equity or any arbitration or mediation rights existing under the rules of any professional society or affiliation based upon the assigned description, or a derivative theory, breach of warranty express or implied, representation or other matter set forth within these Terms and Conditions of Auction or otherwise. In the event of a claim, Bidder agrees that such rights and privileges conferred therein are strictly construed as specifically declared herein; e.g., authenticity, typographical error, etc. and are the exclusive remedy. Bidder, by non-compliance to these express terms of a granted remedy, shall waive any claim against Auctioneer.
44. Notice: Some Property sold by Auctioneer are inherently dangerous e.g. firearms, cannons, and small items that may be swallowed or ingested or may have latent defects all of which may cause harm to a person. Purchaser accepts all risk of loss or damage from its purchase of these items and Auctioneer disclaims any liability whether under contract or tort for damages and losses, direct or inconsequential, and expressly disclaims any warranty as to safety or usage of any lot sold.

Dispute Resolution and Arbitration Provision:

45. By placing a bid or otherwise participating in the auction, Bidder accepts these Terms and Conditions of Auction, and specifically agrees to the alternative dispute resolution provided herein. Arbitration replaces the right to go to court, including the right to a jury trial.
46. Auctioneer in no event shall be responsible for consequential damages, incidental damages, compensatory damages, or any other damages arising or claimed to be arising from the auction of any lot. In the event that Auctioneer cannot deliver the lot or subsequently it is established that the lot lacks title, or other transfer or condition issue is claimed, In such cases the sole remedy shall be limited to rescission of sale and refund of the amount paid by Bidder; in no case shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot. After one year has elapsed, Auctioneer's maximum liability shall be limited to any commissions and fees Auctioneer earned on that lot.
47. In the event of an attribution error, Auctioneer may at its sole discretion, correct the error on the Internet, or, if discovered at a later date, to refund the buyer's purchase price without further obligation.
48. Arbitration Clause: All controversies or claims under this Agreement or arising from or pertaining to: this Agreement or related documents, or to the Properties consigned hereunder, or the enforcement or interpretation hereof of this or any related agreements, or damage to Properties, payment, or any other matter, or because of an alleged breach, default or misrepresentation under the provisions hereof or otherwise, that cannot be settled amicably within one (1) month from the date of notification of either party to the other of such dispute or question, which notice shall specify the details of such dispute or question, shall be settled by final and binding arbitration by one arbitrator appointed by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA"). The arbitration shall be conducted in Dallas, Dallas County, Texas in accordance with the then existing Commercial Arbitration Rules of the AAA. The arbitration shall be brought within two (2) years of the alleged breach, default or misrepresentation or the claim is waived. The prevailing party (a party that is awarded substantial and material relief on its claim or defense) may be awarded its reasonable attorney's fees and costs. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof; provided, however, that the law applicable to any controversy shall be the law of the State of Texas, regardless of its or any other jurisdiction's choice of law principles and under the provisions of the Federal Arbitration Act.
49. No claims of any kind can be considered after the settlements have been made with the consignors. Any dispute after the settlement date is strictly between the Bidder and consignor without involvement or responsibility of the Auctioneer.
50. In consideration of their participation in or application for the Auction, a person or entity (whether the successful Bidder, a Bidder, a purchaser and/or other Auction participant or registrant) agrees that all disputes in any way relating to, arising under, connected with, or incidental to these Terms and Conditions and purchases, or default in payment thereof, shall be arbitrated pursuant to the arbitration provision. In the event that any matter including actions to compel arbitration, construe the agreement, actions in aid or arbitration or otherwise needs to be litigated, such litigation shall be exclusively in the Courts of the State of Texas, in Dallas County, Texas, and if necessary the corresponding appellate courts. For such actions, the successful Bidder, purchaser, or Auction participant also expressly submits himself to the personal jurisdiction of the State of Texas.
51. These Terms & Conditions provide specific remedies for occurrences in the auction and delivery process. Where such remedies are afforded, they shall be interpreted strictly. Bidder agrees that any claim shall utilize such remedies; Bidder making a claim in excess of those remedies provided in these Terms and Conditions agrees that in no case whatsoever shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot.

Miscellaneous:

52. Agreements between Bidders and consignors to effectuate a non-sale of an item at Auction, inhibit bidding on a consigned item to enter into a private sale agreement for said item, or to utilize the Auctioneer's Auction to obtain sales for non-selling consigned items subsequent to the Auction, are strictly prohibited. If a subsequent sale of a previously consigned item occurs in violation of this provision, Auctioneer reserves the right to charge Bidder the applicable Buyer's Premium and consignor a Seller's Commission as determined for each auction venue and by the terms of the seller's agreement.
53. Acceptance of these Terms and Conditions qualifies Bidder as a client who has consented to be contacted by Heritage in the future. In conformity with "do-not-call" regulations promulgated by the Federal or State regulatory agencies, participation by the Bidder is affirmative consent to being contacted at the phone number shown in his application and this consent shall remain in effect until it is revoked in writing. Heritage may from time to time contact Bidder concerning sale, purchase, and auction opportunities available through Heritage and its affiliates and subsidiaries.
54. Rules of Construction: Auctioneer presents properties in a number of collectible fields, and as such, specific venues have promulgated supplemental Terms and Conditions. Nothing herein shall be construed to waive the general Terms and Conditions of Auction by these additional rules and shall be construed to give force and effect to the rules in their entirety.

State Notices:

Notice as to an Auction in California. Auctioneer has in compliance with Title 2.95 of the California Civil Code as amended October 11, 1993 Sec. 1812.600, posted with the California Secretary of State its bonds for it and its employees, and the auction is being conducted in compliance with Sec. 2338 of the Commercial Code and Sec. 535 of the Penal Code.

Notice as to an Auction in New York City. These Terms and Conditions are designed to conform to the applicable sections of the New York City Department of Consumer Affairs Rules and Regulations as Amended. This is a Public Auction Sale conducted by Auctioneer. The New York City licensed Auctioneers are Kathleen Guzman, No.0762165, and Samuel W. Foose, No.0952360, who will conduct the Auction on behalf of Heritage Auctions, Inc. ("Auctioneer"). All lots are subject to: the consignor's right to bid thereon in accord with these Terms and Conditions of Auction, consignor's option to receive advances on their consignments, and Auctioneer, in its sole discretion, may offer limited extended financing to registered bidders, in accord with Auctioneer's internal credit standards. A registered bidder may inquire whether a lot is subject to an advance or reserve. Auctioneer has made advances to various consignors in this sale.

Notice as to an Auction in Texas. In compliance with TDLR rule 67.100(c)(1), notice is hereby provided that this auction is covered by a Recovery Fund administered by the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation, P.O. ## Additional Terms & Conditions:
COINS & CURRENCY

COINS and CURRENCY TERM A: Signature. Auctions are not on approval. No certified material may be returned because of possible differences of opinion with respect to the grade offered by any third-party organization, dealer, or service. No guarantee of grade is offered for uncertified Property sold and subsequently submitted to a third-party grading service. There are absolutely no exceptions to this policy. Under extremely limited circumstances, (e.g. gross cataloging error) a purchaser, who did not bid from the floor, may request Auctioneer to evaluate voiding a sale: such request must be made in writing detailing the alleged gross error; submission of the lot to the Auctioneer must be pre-approved by the Auctioneer; and bidder must notify Ron Brackemyre (1-800-8726467 Ext. 1312) in writing of such request within three (3) days of the non-floor bidder's receipt of the lot. Any lot that is to be evaluated must be in our offices within 30 days after Auction. Grading or method of manufacture do not qualify for this evaluation process nor do such complaints constitute a basis to challenge the authenticity of a lot. AFTER THAT 30-DAY PERIOD, NO LOTS MAY BE RETURNED FOR REASONS OTHER THAN AUTHENTICITY. Lots returned must be housed intact in their original holder. No lots purchased by floor Bidders may be returned (including those Bidders acting as agents for others) except for authenticity. Late remittance for purchases may be considered just cause to revoke all return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM B: Auctions conducted solely on the Internet THREE (3) DAY RETURN POLICY: Certified Coin and Uncertified and Certified Currency lots paid for within seven days of the Auction closing are sold with a three (3) day return privilege. You may return lots under the following conditions: Within three days of receipt of the lot, you must first notify Auctioneer by contacting Client Service by phone (1-800-872-6467) or e-mail (Bid@HA.com), and immediately ship the lot(s) fully insured to the attention of Returns, Heritage, 3500 Maple Avenue, 17th Floor, Dallas TX 75219-3941. Lots must be housed intact in their original holder and condition. You are responsible for the insured, safe delivery of any lots. A non-negotiable return fee of 5% of the purchase price ($10 per lot minimum) will be deducted from the refund for each returned lot or billed directly. Postage and handling fees are not refunded. After the three-day period (from receipt), no items may be returned for any reason. Late remittance for purchases revokes these Return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM C: Bidders who have inspected the lots prior to any Auction, or attended the Auction, or bid through an Agent, will not be granted any return privileges, except for reasons of authenticity.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM D: Coins sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for a guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Numismatic Guaranty Corporation (NGC), P.O. Box 4776, Sarasota, FL 34230; Professional Coin Grading Service (PCGS), PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; ANACS, 6555 S. Kenton St. Ste. 303, Englewood, CO 80111; and Independent Coin Grading Co. (ICG), 7901 East Belleview Ave., Suite 50, Englewood, CO 80111.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM E: Notes sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Grading, condition or other attributes of any lot may have a material effect on its value, and the opinion of others, including third-party grading services such as PCGS Currency, PMG, and CGA may differ with that of Auctioneer. Auctioneer shall not be bound by any prior or subsequent opinion, determination, or certification by any grading service. Bidder specifically waives any claim to right of return of any item because of the opinion, determination, or certification, or lack thereof, by any grading service. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Paper Money Guaranty (PMG), PO Box 4711, Sarasota FL 34230; PCGS Currency, PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; Currency Grading & Authentication (CGA), PO Box 418, Three Bridges, NJ 08887. Third party graded notes are not returnable for any reason whatsoever.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM F: Since we cannot examine encapsulated coins or notes, they are sold "as is" without our grading opinion, and may not be returned for any reason. Auctioneer shall not be liable for any patent or latent defect or controversy pertaining to or arising from any encapsulated collectible. In any such instance, purchaser's remedy, if any, shall be solely against the service certifying the collectible.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM G: Due to changing grading standards over time, differing interpretations, and to possible mishandling of items by subsequent owners, Auctioneer reserves the right to grade items differently than shown on certificates from any grading service that accompany the items. Auctioneer also reserves the right to grade items differently than the grades shown in the prior catalog should such items be reconsigned to any future auction.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM H: Although consensus grading is employed by most grading services, it should be noted as aforesaid that grading is not an exact science. In fact, it is entirely possible that if a lot is broken out of a plastic holder and resubmitted to another grading service or even to the same service, the lot could come back with a different grade assigned.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM I: Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. The degree of liquidity for certified coins and collectibles will vary according to general market conditions and the particular lot involved. For some lots there may be no active market at all at certain points in time.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM J: All non-certified coins and currency are guaranteed genuine, but are not guaranteed as to grade, since grading is a matter of opinion, an art and not a science, and therefore the opinion rendered by the Auctioneer or any third party grading service may not agree with the opinion of others (including trained experts), and the same expert may not grade the same item with the same grade at two different times. Auctioneer has graded the non-certified numismatic items, in the Auctioneer's opinion, to their current interpretation of the American Numismatic Association's standards as of the date the catalog was prepared. There is no guarantee or warranty implied or expressed that the grading standards utilized by the Auctioneer will meet the standards of any grading service at any time in the future.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM K: Storage of purchased coins and currency: Purchasers are advised that certain types of plastic may react with a coin's metal or transfer plasticizer to notes and may cause damage. Caution should be used to avoid storage in materials that are not inert.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM L: Storage of purchased coins and currency: Purchasers are advised that certain types of plastic may react with a coin's metal or transfer plasticizer to notes and may cause damage. Caution should be used to avoid storage in materials that are not inert.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM M: NOTE: Purchasers of rare coins or currency through Heritage have available the option of arbitration by the Professional Numismatists Guild (PNG); if an election is not made within ten (10) days of an unresolved dispute, Auctioneer may elect either PNG or A.A.A. Arbitration.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM N: For more information regarding Canadian lots attributed to the Charlton reference guides, please contact: Charlton International, PO Box 820, Station Willowdale B, North York, Ontario M2K 2R1 Canada.

Your five most effective bidding techniques:

1 Interactive Internet™ Proxy Bidding

(leave your maximum Bid at HA.com before the auction starts)

Heritage's exclusive Interactive Internet™ system is fun and easy! Before you start, you must register online at HA.com and obtain your Username and Password.

1. Login to the HA.com website, using your Username and Password.
2. Chose the specialty you're interested in at the top of the homepage (i.e. coins, currency, comics, movie posters, fine art, etc.).
3. Search or browse for the lots that interest you. Every auction has search features and a 'drop-down' menu list.
4. Select a lot by clicking on the link or the photo icon. Read the description, and view the full-color photography. Note that clicking on the image will enlarge the photo with amazing detail.
5. View the current opening bid. Below the lot description, note the historic pricing information to help you establish price levels. Clicking on a link will take you directly to our Permanent Auction Archives for more information and images.
6. If the current price is within your range, Bid! At the top of the lot page is a box containing the Current Bid and an entry box for your "Secret Maximum Bid" – the maximum amount you are willing to pay for the item before the Buyer's Premium is added. Click the button marked "Place Bid" (if you are not logged in, a login box will open first so you can enter your username (or e-mail address) and password.
7. After you are satisfied that all the information is correct, confirm your "Secret Maximum Bid" by clicking on the "Confirm Absentee Bid" button. You will receive immediate notification letting you know if you are now the top bidder, or if another bidder had previously bid higher than your amount. If you bid your maximum amount and someone has already bid higher, you will immediately know so you can concentrate on other lots.
8. Before the auction, if another bidder surpasses your "Secret Maximum Bid", you will be notified automatically by e-mail containing a link to review the lot and possibly bid higher.
9. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes at 10 P.M. Central Time the night before the session is offered in a floor event. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes two hours before live sessions where there is no floor bidding.
10. The Interactive Internet™ system generally opens the lot at the next increment above the second highest bid. As the high bidder, your "Secret Maximum Bid" will compete for you during the floor auction. Of course, it is possible in a Signature® or Grand Format live auction that you may be outbid on the floor or by a Heritage Live bidder after Internet bidding closes. Bid early, as the earliest bird wins in the event of a tie bid. For more information about bidding and bid increments, please see the section labeled "Bidding Increments" elsewhere in this catalog.
11. After the auction, you will be notified of your success. It's that easy!

2 HERITAGE Live!™ Bidding
(participate in the Live auction via the Internet)

1. Look on each auction's homepage to verify whether that auction is "HA.com/Live Enabled." All Signature® and Grand Format auctions use the HERITAGE Live!™ system, and many feature live audio and/or video. Determine your lots of interest and maximum bids.
2. Note on the auction's homepage the session dates and times (and especially time zones!) so you can plan your participation. You actually have two methods of using HERITAGE Live!™: a) you can leave a proxy bid through this system, much like the Interactive Internet™ (we recommend you do this before the session starts), or b) you can sit in front of your computer much as the audience is sitting in the auction room during the actual auction.
3. Login at HA.com/Live.
4. Until you become experienced (and this happens quickly!) you will want to login well before your lot comes up so you can watch the activity on other lots. It is as intuitive as participating in a live auction.
5. When your lot hits the auction block, you can continue to bid live against the floor and other live bidders by simply clicking the "Bid" button; the amount you are bidding is clearly displayed on the console.

3 Mail Bidding
(deposit your maximum Bid with the U.S.P.S. well before the auction starts)

Mail bidding at auction is fun and easy, but by eliminating the interactivity of our online systems, some of your bids may be outbid before you lick the stamp, and you will have no idea of your overall chances until the auction is over!

1. Look through the printed catalog, and determine your lots of interest.
2. Research their market value by checking price lists and other price guidelines.
3. Fill out your bid sheet, entering your maximum bid on each lot. Bid using whole dollar amounts only. Verify your bids, because you are responsible for any errors you make! Please consult the Bidding Increments chart in the Terms & Conditions.
4. Please fill out your bid sheet completely! We also need: a) Your name and complete address for mailing invoices and lots; b) Your telephone number if any problems or changes arise; c) Your references; if you have not established credit with Heritage, you must send a 25% deposit, or list dealers with whom you have credit established; d) Total your bid sheet; add up all bids and list that total in the box; e) Sign your bid sheet, thereby agreeing to abide by the Terms & Conditions of Auction printed in the catalog.
5. Mail early, because preference is given to the first bid received in case of a tie.
6. When bidding by mail, you frequently purchase items at less than your maximum bid. Bidding generally opens at the next published increment above the second highest mail or Internet bid previously received; if additional floor, phone, or HERITAGE Live!™ bids are made, we act as your agent, bidding in increments over any additional bid until you win the lot or are outbid. For example, if you submitted a bid of $750, and the second highest bid was $375, bidding would start at $400; if no other bids were placed, you would purchase the lot for $400.
7. You can also Fax your Bid Sheet if time is short. Use our exclusive Fax Hotline: 214-443-8425.

4 Telephone Bidding (when you are traveling, or do not have access to HERITAGE Live!™)

1. To participate in an auction by telephone, you must make preliminary arrangements with Client Services (Toll Free 866-835-3243) at least three days before the auction.
2. We strongly recommend that you place preliminary bids by mail or Internet if you intend to participate by telephone. On many occasions, this dual approach has reduced disappointments due to telephone (cell) problems, unexpected travel, late night sessions, and time zone differences. Keep a list of your preliminary bids, and we will help you avoid bidding against yourself.

5 Attend in Person (whenever possible)

Auctions are fun, and we encourage you to attend as many as possible – although our HERITAGE Live!™ system brings all of the action right to your computer screen. Auction dates and session times are printed on the title page of each catalog, and appear on the homepage of each auction at HA.com. Join us if you can!

We're collectors too, and we understand that on occasion there is more to buy than there is cash. Consider Heritage's Extended Payment Plan [EPP] for your purchases totaling $2,500 or more.

Extended Payment Plan [EPP] Conditions

- Minimum invoice total is $2,500.
- Minimum Down Payment is 25% of the total invoice.
- A signed and returned EPP Agreement is required.
- The EPP is subject to a 3% fully refundable Set-up Fee (based on the total invoice amount) payable as part of the first monthly payment.
- The 3% Set-up Fee is refundable provided all monthly payments are made by eCheck, bank draft, personal check drawn on good funds, or cash; and if all such payments are made according to the EPP schedule.
- Monthly payments can be automatically processed with an eCheck, Visa, or MasterCard.
- You may take up to four equal monthly payments to pay the balance.
- Interest is calculated at only 1% per month on the unpaid balance.
- Your EPP must be kept current or additional interest may apply.
- There is no penalty for paying off early.
- Shipment will be made when final payment is received.
- All traditional auction and sales policies still apply.

There is no return privilege once you have confirmed your sale, and penalties can be incurred on cancelled invoices. To avoid additional fees, you must make your down payment within 14 days of the auction. All material purchased under the EPP will be physically secured by Heritage until paid in full.

To exercise the EPP option, please notify Eric Thomas at 214.409.1241 or email at EricT@HA.com upon receipt of your invoice.

We appreciate your business and wish you good luck with your bidding.

Dear Platinum Night Bidder,

This is another thrilling Platinum Night Auction that is so incredible, with so many wonderful rarities that we had to hold it over two nights! The dual catalogs showcase the finest numismatic items available at Heritage's Official Auction of FUN 2009. Our Platinum Nights have a global reputation for presenting the finest coins that Heritage Auction Galleries offers. FUN 2009 contains treasures from more than 700 consignors, and it is during these sessions that our bidders will determine if another world record for the world's most valuable numismatic auction will be established. Heritage set that record at FUN 2005 ($62 million), then set a new record at FUN 2007 ($78 million+). We thank the community for your continued support, regardless of the final accounting!

While Platinum Night contains the 'best-of-the-best' gleaned from all of our FUN consignors, many of these rarities were contributed by our anchor consignors:

• The Peter J. Adasek, M.D. Collection • The Arno Collection • The Calvin Collection • The Deb-Ann Collection • The Martin L. Diffenbaucher, Jr. Collection • The Findley Collection • The Dale Friend #2 PCGS Registry Set of Barber Half Dollars • The Good Morgan Sunshine #3 PCGS Registry Set of Proof Morgan Dollars • The Commander David R. Hinkle Collection, Part Three • The Jack Lee Estate Collection • The Lemus Collection – Queller Family Collection Part Two • The Malibu Collection, Part Two • The James Mossman Collection • The Omaha Collection • The Jim O'Neal Collection of Saint-Gaudens $10 Indians • The Plymouth Collection • The Scott Rudolph Collection • The San Jose Collection of Colonial Coinage • The Sanderson Family Collection of Morgan Dollars •

I invite you to read more about them in the main Signature® catalog.

Every Platinum Night is special, which means that FUN 2009 will be twice as special! These wonderful numismatic treasures are a thrill to inspect and then to own after spirited competition! Heritage started the Platinum Night concept at FUN in 2004, and they have earned their legendary reputation – but we never forget that it is the collector who has made these auctions such a delight.

If you want to stretch your budget to buy a special coin, consider our Extended Payment Plan – the details can be found online at HA.com, e-mail EPP@HA.com, or contact Eric Thomas at 214.409.1241.

If you are attending FUN in person, please stop by our booth and introduce yourself. If you cannot join us in person, please consider the HERITAGE Live! bidding system at HA.com – this technology allows you to easily bid through the Internet at the live session, so you can directly participate in all of the excitement of the auction floor action. Good luck with your bidding!

Sincerely,

Greg Rohan
President

MORGAN DOLLARS

Conditionally Rare 1878 7/8TF Strong Morgan Dollar, MS66

4931 1878 7/8TF Strong MS66 PCGS. Five tips of previous tailfeathers can be discerned, peeking out from beneath the five middle feathertips of this 7-tailfeather specimen. One of the "convex" breast coins, of which there were approximately 2 million struck, according to the Bowers silver dollar Encyclopedia (the same source gives an estimate of 7.2 million "flat" breast pieces minted in business strike format). This satiny example displays just a bit of light toning, which is slightly more apparent on the reverse. The design motifs are crisply produced, and there are no glaring defects on either side of the coin. Population: 5 in 66, 0 finer (10/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7078)

Striking 1878 7/8 Strong Tailfeathers Dollar, MS66

4932 1878 7/8TF Strong MS66 PCGS. A Top 100 Variety. The doubling on the reverse is strongly reminiscent of an intermediate state between VAM-41 and VAM-41A, with substantial polishing-down evident in the upper parts of the main tailfeathers and at the undertype but not to the extent visible on the VAM-41A. Regardless of the eventual attribution, a remarkable example of the Strong 7/8TF category, shining with subtle gold and pink elements over parts of each side. Crisply detailed central devices are virtually impeccable. For all 1878 7/8TF Strong varieties, Population: 5 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).
From The Arno Collection. (#7078)
See: Video Lot Description

Famous VAM-44 Tripled Blossoms 1878 7/8 Tailfeathers Dollar, MS62

4933 1878 7/8TF Tripled Blossoms MS62 PCGS. VAM-44. A Top 100 Variety. Jeff Oxman's assessment of the Tripled Blossoms 7/8 Tailfeathers is famous: "Considered by most VAM specialists to be the Number One Morgan dollar variety." The cotton bolls show tripled edges and blossoms. The reverse shows is the same as VAM 33 with doubled legs on the eagle and five faint extra tailfeathers. This is a brilliant, sharply struck example that shows semi-reflective fields on each side. Though scattered abrasions preclude Select status, the overall eye appeal is superior to what the grade might suggest. A great representative of this rarely offered variant.

Incredible MS66 1878 Morgan Dollar Seven Tailfeathers, Reverse of 1879

4934 1878 7TF Reverse of 1879 MS66 PCGS. CAC. The initial year of Morgan dollar production is notable for its three reverse designs: first, the Eight Tailfeathers variety; second, the Seven Tailfeathers, "Reverse of 1878" variety with uppermost fletching parallel with the rest; and finally, the Seven Tailfeathers, "Reverse of 1879" with uppermost fletching at a slant. This attractive Premium Gem comes from the last of those states. Virtually untoned surfaces have powerful, watery luster, and the carefully preserved devices are crisply detailed. Eye appeal is profound. Population: 6 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7076)

Lightly Toned 1878 7 TF Reverse of 1879 Dollar MS66 Prooflike, the Finest Certified

4935 1878 7TF Reverse of 1879 MS66 Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Lee 1/Jack Lee 2 Collection. The 1878 7 Tailfeathers issue was struck in two major reverse variations: the Reverse of 1878, with parallel top arrow feather, and the Reverse of 1879, with slanting top arrow feather. The current Premium Gem consists of the latter reverse. Soft tan-gold and rose patina covers both sides, each of which has been well cared for. A precise strike emboldens the design features. This is the single finest certified example of the '78 7 Tailfeathers 1879 Reverse with Prooflike finish.

From The Arno Collection. (#7077)

See: Video Lot Description

Exquisite 1878-CC Dollar, MS67

4936 1878-CC MS67 PCGS. All 1878-CC dollars have the Reverse of 1878, with parallel top arrow feather and concave breast on the eagle. Mint State examples are abundant, and thousands have been certified through the MS65 level by PCGS and NGC. Premium Gems number about 340 coins, and less than 15 rate MS67, with none finer.

A precision strike brings about exquisite definition on the design elements, and attractive satiny luster adorns both sides. Faint tan color makes a occasional appearance on Liberty's portrait and on the eagle. Well preserved throughout. Population: 4 in 67, 0 finer (11/08). From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7080)

Enchanting Superb Gem 1878-CC Morgan Dollar

4937 1878-CC MS67 PCGS. The United States Mint's Nevada branch struck three separate dollar-denominated silver coins, and this issue, with its healthy mintage of 2.2 million pieces, ushered in a new era of coinage for the Carson City Mint. The Morgan dollar would become inextricably linked to Carson City in numismatic lore, with the GSA sales in particular spurring collectors' imaginations. Unlike with a number of later issues, however, the 1878-CC did not receive much of a population boost from the GSA releases, with government holdings a distinct minority of examples coined. That said, a number of coins were paid out during the earlier Treasury releases.

It is known that the 1878-CC dollar was paid out heavily, both within Nevada and elsewhere in the United States; Rusty Goe, in his The Mint on Carson Street, writes that " ... almost immediately bags of these new dollars were being shipped to out of state destinations." He further notes such far-flung ending-points as St. Louis, Cincinnati, and New Orleans; this last city, however, did not see much circulation of Carson City dollars after 1878, since O-mint Morgan dollars were struck in 1879.

This Superb Gem 1878-CC dollar is easily one of the finest representatives known, rating a (non-specific) mention in Goe. It is one of just four MS67 pieces certified by PCGS, with none finer (11/08). Shining and sharply struck silver-white centers yield to rich gold-orange in medium-thickness bands at the margins. Immensely appealing for this popular issue.

Elegant 1878-S MS68 Dollar
The Finest Certified

4938 1878-S MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee Collection. The 1878-S mintage approaches 10 million coins. Leroy Van Allen and George Mallis, in their 1991 Morgan and Peace Dollars reference, cite an April 18, 1878 New Alta California account of the first Morgan dollar striking at San Francisco. The initial striking took place at half past three in the afternoon of April 17. Former governor F.F. Low, mint officers, and the press were in attendance. San Francisco Mint superintendent Henry L. Dodge was Master of Ceremonies, and under his direction the coins were struck. Dodge placed the first planchet in the press, then presented the first struck coin to coiner Cicott. The second went to former governor Low, the third, fourth, and fifth to three ladies present, and others to different gentlemen present. Nearly one thousand coins were struck, when one of the dies broke. The press was stopped, and further coinage was suspended until the following day.

David Bowers (1993) believes that the majority of the 1878-S dollar mintage was stored at the San Francisco Mint, to be paid out over a period of subsequent decades. The abundance of this date on the market is reflected in PCGS and NGC data. Tens of thousands have been certified through MS65, and slightly over 800 finer. A single MS68 piece, the present offering, is the finest known!

Immaculately preserved silver-gray surfaces display just the slightest hint of light gold color on the lower reverse. An exacting strike imparts complete delineation to the design elements, including exquisite detail in the hair above Liberty's ear, the breast feathers, and the leaf ribbing. Effusive luster complements these attributes, all of which synergistically result in elegant eye appeal.

Gleaming Gem Prooflike 1879-CC Dollar

4939 1879-CC MS65 Prooflike PCGS. CAC. Thickly frosted central devices are pleasingly detailed, and the gleaming, minimally toned fields offer moderate reflectivity. The general eye appeal is impressive, with only a handful of occasional flaws present in out-of-the-way places. The 1879-CC Morgan dollar is a prized issue in the series, particularly in Mint State, and a lack of representation in the GSA sales only reinforced perceptions of its essential rarity. Prooflikes are even more elusive, as data from the PCGS Population Report show. Population: 7 in 65 Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7087)

Marvelous Gem Prooflike 1879-CC Dollar

4940 1879-CC MS65 Prooflike PCGS. While the mention of a Carson City Morgan dollar conjures up visions of glittering Gems released via the GSA sales, that image is far from reality for the 1879-CC issue. With only a fraction of the original mintage saved, high-end coins are the exception, not the rule. Most collectors would be delighted to own this particular "exception", coming as it does with impressively reflective fields and richly frosted, sharply struck central devices that show a touch of rose-orange patina. Minimally toned elsewhere and in fantastic condition. Tied for the finest Prooflike example known to NGC or PCGS (11/08).
From The Arno Collection. (#7087)

Exceptional 1879-CC Dollar MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4941 1879-CC MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike NGC. Not only is this spectacular coin the first key CC-mint issue in the series, but it is a near-Gem with Deep Mirror Prooflike certification from NGC, and as such also a rarity and an eternally popular Morgan dollar. Few such specimens of the 1879-CC exist, since most examples of the issue show rather shallow prooflike tendencies, or none at all. This is a true Deep Mirror Prooflike, however, with lavish mint frost on the devices and limitless mirrors in the fields, yielding the coveted black-on-silver appearance. A couple of light scrapes prevent an even finer grade, but this tremendous coin has much to delight the viewer. Census: 11 in 64, 1 finer (11/08). (#97087)

Fabulous 1879-CC Dollar, MS65 Deep Prooflike

4942 1879-CC MS65 Deep Prooflike NGC. The 1879-CC Morgan dollar issue was little-represented in Treasury or GSA releases, and with an original mintage of just over three-quarters of a million pieces, few examples have survived in anything approaching pristine condition. To compound the challenge for the collector of Deep Prooflikes, Q. David Bowers writes in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars that reflective depth is at a premium for the issue, with even coins designated as Prooflike having hazy surfaces. This Gem is a delightful exception to the rule, reflective in the green- and gold-toned fields even at arm's length. Decisively detailed, richly frosted devices supply ample contrast. A single abrasion in Liberty's upper hair defines but does not jeopardize the grade. The lone Deep Prooflike at this level known to NGC, with none finer (11/08).

Sharp 1879-O Dollar, MS66

4943 1879-O MS66 NGC. Though the strike on 1879-O dollars is highly variable, this Premium Gem boasts some of the sharpest detail for the issue. Immensely lustrous surfaces are generally silver-white with occasional coral-pink and green-gold elements that grace the fields. Careful preservation is a defining attribute. While the Treasury releases of the 1950s and early 1960s brought to light thousands of 1879-O dollars in Mint State, most of these showed unsightly marks, and interested collectors far outnumber the pool of Gem and better survivors. This MS66 coin is tied for numerically finest graded by NGC or PCGS (11/08).

Desirable 1879-O Silver Dollar, MS66

4944 1879-O MS66 PCGS. The New Orleans Mint reopened in 1879, after being closed since the early days of the Civil War. The Mint's primary focus was on silver dollar production, and a generous mintage of 2.9 million pieces was achieved in this first year of renewed activity. Today, this issue is quite available in lower Mint State grades, but the coin becomes scarce at the Choice level. Q. David Bowers estimates fewer than 500 pieces survive in MS65 or better grades.

The present coin is an outstanding example of this landmark issue. The coin possesses full cartwheel luster, and virtually unblemished surfaces. The extraordinary strike imparts crisp detail on all devices. A touch of gold toning at the periphery enhances the stunning eye appeal. Population: 11 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

Prize 1879-O Morgan
MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4945 1879-O MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike NGC. The 1879-O is another Morgan dollar issue that is seldom seen with prooflike fields, and deep mirror specimens are rarer yet. This Gem Deep Mirror Prooflike piece is one of only two coins so certified at NGC, with none finer (9/08). Splendid contrast, reflective silver-white fields, and cartwheel luster are abundant on this wonderful coin. A thin ring of golden toning appears at the extreme rim on both sides, testament to this coin's startling originality. Certified in an early NGC holder, this is a prize Morgan dollar, sure to delight its next owner.

Finest Certified 1879-S Reverse of 1878 Dollar, MS66

4946 1879-S Reverse of 1878 MS66 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. It is quite likely that these were the first San Francisco Mint silver dollars coined in 1879, using reverse dies that remained unused in the previous year. The number of actual dies employed, or the quantity minted from these old reverse dies, is not known today. At the time these coins were struck, nobody gave any thought to recording the number of coins struck from each individual die, and even if they had, it is likely that the records would not have specified old or new dies. Although it has only become a popular rarity in the last 40 years, discovery of this variety is credited to George W. Rice who made a brief mention of it in the June 1898 issue of The Numismatist. At the 1913 ANA Convention, Howard Rounds Newcomb displayed an example and reported that it was a rarity. A discussion of this variety and its display appeared in the October 1913 issue of The Numismatist.

The exact number of these coins struck is not specifically known today. The Van Allen and Mallis (VAM) Encyclopedia describes varieties produced from seven different reverse dies of this hub type. Dave Bowers suggested a mintage of 600,000 coins, assuming a mintage of 100,000 coins per die for "a half dozen or more die pairs." Given the scarcity in Mint State grades, and the rarity in Gem quality, the actual number struck is probably not more than this, although it is not known how many may have been melted under provisions of the Pittman Act.

The present opportunity is extraordinary. Seldom does an example of this variety appear in the marketplace. This one is fully brilliant and sharply struck with amazing eye appeal. The fields are lightly reflective, and it is a borderline prooflike coin. When one considers how common 1879-S dollars with the Reverse of '79 hub style are, even in the highest grades, it is rather remarkable that this variety from the earlier hub is such an important rarity. One glance at the obverse gives the appearance of a Gem quality 1879-S Morgan dollar, but it is not until the rarity is turned over, does the all important reverse design type become apparent. Population: 1 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

Well Defined 1880 Dollar MS66 Prooflike

4947 1880 MS66 Prooflike PCGS. The 1880 Morgan comes from a generous mintage of 12,600,000 pieces, and is readily obtainable in the better Mint State grades. Prooflike examples can be located through near-Gem without too much trouble, but higher-grade specimens are elusive.

The present Premium Gem Prooflike coin reveals untoned surfaces that yield modest field-motif contrast. A better-than-average strike imparts relatively strong definition to the design features, including the hair above Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. Both sides are nicely preserved. Population: 2 in 66 Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).

Gorgeous MS67 1880-CC Dollar

4948 1880-CC MS67 PCGS. The Carson City Morgan dollars released in the GSA sales have been prized for decades for their often-pristine conditions, the result of nearly a century of undisturbed rest on government grounds. Among the 1880-CC dollars that are virtually assured of a GSA origin, this Superb Gem is one of the best-preserved, powerfully lustrous with subtle gold-orange central patina and pale cloud-white toning over parts of the margins. Solidly struck with transcendent visual appeal. Neither NGC nor PCGS has graded a numerically finer representative (11/08).

Superb 1880-CC Morgan Silver Dollar, MS67

4949 1880-CC MS67 PCGS. Mintage of silver dollars was limited at the Carson City Mint in 1880 because of an uncertain supply of silver. Many local miners preferred to ship their ore to San Francisco in the early years of the Mint. Coinage was suspended from November 1, 1879 to May 1, 1880 because of these difficulties. When coinage was resumed, only 591,000 silver dollars were produced before year's end. This small mintage was further reduced in 1881, when the Assay Commission determined many of the CC dollars were of insufficient fineness. The findings of the Assay Commission resulted in the melting of 96,000 dollars being stored in the Mint vaults. A net mintage of only 495,000 coins was eventually deemed fit for use.

This offering features a beautiful specimen of this better-date coin. Sparkling cartwheel luster radiates from the pristine surfaces. The devices are frosty, with die polish showing in small patches on Liberty's hair and cap. The high technical grade of this coin is matched by its tremendous eye appeal. This coin is worthy of a place in the most advanced collection. Population: 23 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Charming Gem 1880-O Dollar

4950 1880-O MS65 NGC. CAC. Shining surfaces are essentially silver-white with only the faintest hints of patina or color. The strike is excellent by almost any standard, and whispers of delightful frost add interest to the well-preserved central devices. Excellent eye appeal does justice to the grade. Despite an ample mintage of over 5.3 million pieces, the 1880-O dollar is unknown for the reflectivity category above MS65 (11/08); surprisingly, save for brief comments about a lack of availability in MS64 and finer grades, this passes without mention in most numismatic references.

Splendid 1880-S Morgan Dollar, MS68 Prooflike

4951 1880-S MS68 Prooflike PCGS. This is an absolutely splendid representative of the 1880-S dollar, and one of the finest-certified with Prooflike fields, by either of the major grading services. Sharply struck throughout, with a wonderfully radiant sheen over the essentially untoned surfaces, and great reflectivity on both sides. Bowers (1993) notes that examples of this well-produced issue have long been admired for their typical high quality. Not many, however, have achieved the rank of this Superb Gem, and, in the Prooflike category, just one piece has been graded even finer.
Population: 17 in 68 Prooflike, 1 finer (10/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7119)

Stunning Condition Scarcity 1880-S Dollar MS68 Prooflike

4952 1880-S MS68 Prooflike PCGS. The 1880-S Morgan dollar, with a mintage approaching 9 million pieces, is in plentiful supply in the marketplace. Indeed, David Bowers writes in A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars that: "... among Morgan dollars of the early (1878-1904) years, the 1880-S is second only to the 1881-S in terms of availability."

The PCGS/NGC population figures corroborate Bowers' assertion. The two services have graded tens of thousands of 1880-S specimens through the Superb Gem level. Even prooflike coins are plentiful through MS65. Higher grade prooflike examples are much more elusive, especially in MS68, the numerical grade of the present offering.

Both sides of this coin yield relatively strong contrast between fields and devices. The only toning present is occasional wisps of reddish tan color at the margins. A well executed strike sharpens the design features, including the hair over Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. Immaculately preserved surfaces reveal just a few minor reverse ticks. Population: 17 in 68, 1 finer (11/08).

Remarkable MS68 ★ 1881-CC Single Finest NGC Certified

4953 1881-CC MS68 ★ NGC. As of (11/08), NGC has certified only three 1881-CC dollars as MS68. Among those, only the present piece has earned the Star designation from NGC. Thus, this is the single finest NGC-certified 1881-CC dollar. Among CC-mint Morgan issues, only the 1885-CC has a lower mintage, which makes this Superb Gem all the more desirable. It has a razor-sharp strike, with full detail on the eagle's breast and the hair above the ear. The nearly brilliant surfaces exhibit dazzling cartwheel sheen and are remarkably free from abrasions. For the Carson City specialist who will settle for no less than the finest quality.

Magnificent MS68 1881-CC Morgan Dollar

4954 1881-CC MS68 PCGS. This issue's entire mintage was struck within the first three months of the year; Rusty Goe, in his The Mint on Carson Street, notes that officials in Philadelphia expected a heightened Morgan dollar mintage this year, judging by the dozens of obverse and reverse dies shipped out to Nevada, but the supply of silver bullion deposits dried up, and after production ceased on April 1, 1881, it would not restart for the rest of the year. Goe comments further on the twist of fate that led to this issue's comparative availability:

> "With such a low mintage this date should be scarce and valuable, but it is neither. other than a small quantity released locally, nearly all of the 296,000 1881-CCs remained in the mint vault until 1885. Then, along with nearly 70% of the mintage of silver dollars from 1880 through 1885, they were sent to Treasury facilities in Washington D.C. and San Francisco."

Goe's comment that the 1881-CC is neither scarce nor valuable is true, though only to a certain point for the latter. Certainly, barring some dramatic supply or demand shock, the six-figure GSA release of 1881-CC Morgan dollars will continue to satisfy collectors well into the future. Like almost any issue, however, the 1881-CC has a grade in which it becomes a condition rarity, in this case MS68. The gorgeous example offered here has smooth, immensely lustrous surfaces with occasional dabs of silver-blue and gold patina at the margins. Excellent strike and eye appeal. Population: 3 in 68, 0 finer (11/08).

Notable MS66 1881-O Dollar

4955 1881-O MS66 NGC. According to Q. David Bowers in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, "To find a high-quality 1881-O will take some doing, but there are enough around that within a few months or so you should be successful." Only one collector will enjoy the success of winning this lot, but what a success it will be! Profoundly lustrous surfaces are minimally toned save for the slightest hint of gold near the margins. Considerable frostiness graces the high points, and the fields and devices are equally smooth with only a few luster grazes. Census: 7 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

Remarkable MS69 1881-S Morgan Dollar
Ex: Jack Lee 1, Jack Lee 2
One of Only Two Pieces Certified as MS69

4956 1881-S MS69 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. This phenomenal silver type coin appeared in both of Jack Lee's famous and formidable collections of Morgan dollars. Jack Lee's third collection, which Heritage auctioned in November 2005, was not a specialized set but just included coins (such as an 1870-S dollar) that he particularly enjoyed. This past year, Heritage has also offered the Jack Lee inventory at the time of his passing, in addition to his #1 all-time PCGS Registry Set of Lincoln cents. The present piece is one of only two 1881-S dollars that have earned the coveted MS69 grade from either NGC or PCGS. Heritage auctioned the other MS69 1881-S dollar as well, in January 2002 as part of the Mike Casper Collection, and it follows this lot.

As one might expect from such an exceptional grade, the current lot ranks among the finest Morgan dollars, and should be viewed if at all possible, simply to appreciate its spectacular quality. Many '81-S dollars have an intricate strike, blazing luster, and clean surfaces. What separates this coin from its peers is the virtual absence of abrasions. Even when examined at length beneath a loupe, no marks are readily found. A tiny, curly lintmark between the D in GOD and the eagle's head is strictly of mint origin, and also provides an identifier for any future auction appearances.

The strike is equally exemplary, with full hair detail above the ear and exquisite feather definition on the eagle's breast. Essentially brilliant, although the careful observer will locate traces of golden toning. It boggles the mind that this immaculate piece could have once jingled within a canvas bag holding a thousand coins. Perhaps, instead, it was set aside by the coiner, possibly for presentation to a visiting notable. Population: 2 in 69, 0 finer (11/08).

Pristine 1881-S Dollar, MS69
The Ultimate Type Coin

4957 1881-S MS69 PCGS. What do the 1880-S, 1881-S, 1883, 1889, and 1896-S Morgan dollar issues have in common? They are the only ones to have at least one MS69 representative in the PCGS Population Report. The comprehensive listing shows just 10 non-Prooflike pieces and a single Prooflike, with half the non-Prooflike coins and the Prooflike dated 1880-S. The 1881-S has two MS69 examples, while the other three dates hold a single representative each (11/08).

The 1881-S has long enjoyed a reputation as a type coin, and for good reason. In his Item of the Week column for the May 24, 2005 edition of Numismatic News, Paul M. Green notes wryly about 1881-S dollars: "The question is not whether it is in Mint State, but how nice it is." With vast quantities of 1881-S dollars paid out from the 1930s through the 1950s and at least half (6 million pieces) of the issue released in the Treasury bonanza of the 1960s, the 1881-S Morgan dollar is plentiful right through MS67, and even MS68 coins are available with a certain degree of time and money invested.

At the MS69 level, however, the collector's luck runs out, save for the fortunate two who will make up the roster of owners for the finest known 1881-S Morgan dollars. The present piece approaches flawlessness, with all but the sharpest unaided eye unable to spot a single quibble. Light silver-gray and gold-gray shadings visit smooth surfaces that sport virtually unimpeded luster. The strike is crisp, as expected. Whether it eventually serves as the ultimate Morgan dollar type coin or occupies a prominent role in a high-end series set, this MS69 Mint masterpiece will be a noteworthy trump.

Enchanting MS67 1882 Dollar

4958 1882 MS67 NGC. Though the 1882 Morgan dollar has a mintage of over 11.1 million pieces, the meltings that took place under the Pittman Act, as well as other, more scattered reductions to bullion that happened during various silver crazes, have claimed many examples. Still, the issue remains readily available in most grades, though as several commentators note, Gems are highly elusive. At the Superb Gem level the issue is a condition rarity. This frosty beauty, sharply struck with impressively lustrous fields, is minimally toned and delightfully appealing. Census: 9 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Conditionally Rare 1882-O Morgan, MS68 The Finest Certified 1882-O Dollar

4959 1882-O MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. Like many of the New Orleans issues, the 1882-O was considered a scarce date half a century ago. That is because a substantial portion of the original 6 million coin mintage remained hidden in Treasury vaults. Many millions of silver dollars were stored in the Treasury as security for silver certificates that were printed in massive quantities. For each dollar in silver certificates, the government was required to store a dollar in silver coins. Silver dollars were obviously the most convenient way to meet the requirement. The Treasury released many of those silver dollars during the period from 1962 to 1963. In his Silver Dollar Encyclopedia, Dave Bowers wrote of the Treasury release: "the 1882-O was solidly entrenched as one of the most common issues in the series.

Although they were stored in bags, seemingly untouched, a physical inventory was taken on a periodic basis, requiring all of the bags to be unstacked, counted, and restacked. As a result, nearly every silver dollar in storage was heavily bagmarked. A coin of the quality offered here remains one of the major condition rarities in the Morgan dollar series.

This is the finest certified 1882-O Morgan dollar; the only example to receive the MS68 grade from PCGS or NGC. It is an exquisite piece with highly lustrous and frosty silver surfaces. The strike is full for all practical purposes, including strong delineation of the hair strands over Liberty's ear. The surfaces are nearly perfect, with the number of marks on each side almost literally counted on the fingers of one hand. Close examination reveals subtle champagne accents on the brilliant white surfaces, with a tiny iridescent toning splash over the U of UNITED and another at I of the same word.

Charming 1883 Dollar, MS68

4960 1883 MS68 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. Among 1880s Morgan dollars, the 1883 Philadelphia issue, with a mintage approaching 13 million pieces, is among the most available. David Bowers writes in his A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars: "Produced in quantity, such pieces were often struck in haste, and some care needs to be exercised to find attractive pieces."

One need not look beyond this MS68 specimen to locate a more attractive coin. Its charming silver-colored surfaces display pleasing satiny mint luster, and are immaculately preserved. A precision strike leaves strong definition on the design elements, further enhancing the coin's eye appeal. Population: 2 in 68, 1 finer (11/08). From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7142)

Exquisite MS68 1883-CC Dollar

4961 1883-CC MS68 PCGS. The GSA sales released vast numbers of Carson City Morgan dollars to the collecting public, and for the years from 1881 to 1885, government holdings of the Carson City issues amounted to either just under a majority (1881) to over four-fifths of the original production (1884). For the 1883-CC, over three-quarters of a million pieces were sold, over 60% of the mintage, and that figure was taken after the Treasury releases had concluded.

While the Carson City dollars were not accorded any special treatment during the decades that they sat in canvas sacks in government vaults, they experienced a minimum of jostling in the meantime, and today, better-grade examples are not unusual in the numismatic marketplace. Choice and even Gem pieces are readily available, and acquiring an example at the MS66 level takes only a modicum of patience, should one not be too concerned about price or appearance.

Identifying and obtaining a Superb Gem is a much greater undertaking, and finding a piece that transcends the MS67 designation is a rare event; NGC has certified no such pieces for this issue, while PCGS has graded only three examples at the MS68 level and none finer (11/08). The present piece is part of that tempting troika, exquisitely detailed with essentially flawless surfaces that show only a touch of cloud-white patina over parts of the fields. Virtually brilliant otherwise with magnificent eye appeal, and sure to be a stunning addition to the next collection that holds it.

Richly Toned MS65 1883-S Dollar

4962 1883-S MS65 PCGS. A fantastically lustrous, crisply detailed, and colorful Gem representative of this San Francisco issue, the first challenging date from that Mint after a string of popular type coins. Pleasingly preserved surfaces give off powerful cartwheels beneath ample orange, peach, silver-gray, and violet patina, with the first two colors dominant on the obverse and the last prevailing on the reverse. Described by Bowers as "very difficult to find, especially at higher Mint State levels." Examination of the certified population data reveals the extent of its condition rarity. Population: 15 in 65, 3 finer (11/08). (#7148)

Magnificent 1883-S Dollar, MS66

4963 1883-S MS66 PCGS. Ex: Wayne Miller/Jack Lee. The 1883-S dollar, sporting a mintage of 6,250,000 pieces, is readily available in circulated grades, as well as through the lower Mint State levels of MS60 to MS63. Inspection of PCGS/NGC population figures indicate that the 1883-S population decreases at the near-Gem level, and Gems become challenging, with approximately 30 certified examples. The two services have seen just four Premium Gems, two MS67s, and none finer. Moreover, bagmarks are a significant problem with this issue, as indicated by David Bowers in A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, where he says: "These must have been stored and handled roughly."

The Premium Gem that we offer here reveals a few unobtrusive luster grazes, but these are certainly not "significant," and they fail to negate this coin's magnificent eye appeal. Soft purple patination is visible around the right and lower obverse margins, and nearly imperceptible hints of multicolored hues cling to the right reverse margin. Semiprooflike characteristics are noted in the fields, that in turn highlight the devices. A well executed strike manifests itself in strong definition on the design elements, including the hair over Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers.

This is the plate coin for the 1883-S discussion in Wayne Miller's 1982 The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook. Population: 2 in 66, 1 finer (11/08).

The Clapp-Eliasberg 1883-S Morgan Dollar, MS67 Prooflike

4964 1883-S MS67 Prooflike PCGS. CAC. Ex: Eliasberg. Best described as a condition rarity in top grades, the 1883-S Morgan dollar is relatively plentiful in lower Mint State grades. It is also a major rarity in prooflike preservation. A quick glance at the current PCGS population data will prove quite revealing: they have certified 2,266 examples in grades from MS60 to MS64, 22 coins in the same grade range with prooflike or deep prooflike surfaces, only 18 coins in grades from MS65 to MS67, and just two pieces in that grade range with prooflike surfaces, including the present piece from the Eliasberg Collection, a green-label PCGS coin that remains the single finest 1883-S dollar that PCGS has ever certified. It is in the top numerical grade for the issue, and it is the only Superb Gem certified with prooflike surfaces.

Most of the 1883-S dollars that were stored after they were minted became available to collectors in the first half of the 20th century, including the release of a few bags in the 1950s. There were apparently none left for release during the 1962 to 1964 Treasury distribution. The price of this issue remained at low levels until it was realized that none would appear in the early 60s Treasure activities, then prices quickly and dramatically rose. Nearly all of the existing commentary about the 1883-S Morgan dollar is geared toward lower Mint State grades, as that was the available supply. In 1982, Wayne Miller discussed the 1970s market for Uncirculated coins in The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook:

"Until a few years ago, such specimens were very rare. However an enormous jump in the price of the 1883-S in 1973 - it moved from $75 to $275 in less than six months-brought many specimens into the market. Over 100 Uncirculated pieces were available at the summer 1973 Long Beach coin show. The Redfield hoard contained a quantity of high-quality 1883-S dollars. Most were well struck with good luster. As usual, surface abrasions prevented most from being considered in the gem category. The 1883-S is still a difficult date to obtain in strictly BU condition. ... BU specimens are usually well struck with good luster and are readily discernible from sliders. Bagmarks tend to be plentiful."

In the Eliasberg catalog, Dave Bowers said the following about the present coin, a comment that is equally apropos today: "The 1883-S [MS67 PL] Eliasberg Collection specimen is one of the most important Morgan dollars of this date to come on the market in our generation."

This amazing coin is fully prooflike, deep enough that Dave Bowers cataloged the coin as MS66 Deep Prooflike in the Eliasberg catalog. The surfaces have a hint of pale champagne toning on both sides, although most collectors would readily call it a fully brilliant silver specimen. Like nearly all Mint State 1883-S dollars, it is sharply struck.

Perhaps the Finest Known 1883-S Dollar MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4965 1883-S MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Dave Bowers comments on the 1883-S dollar in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars (2007): "Some dies are prooflike, but not necessarily deeply mirrored. Among 1883-S dollars in Mint State, these are encountered with regularity, that is, when Mint State pieces themselves are found—for all 1883-S dollars are elusive at that grade level. DMPL coins are exceedingly rare." To substantiate Bowers' claim that this issue is "exceedingly rare" with the Deep Mirror Prooflike designation, one need only review the current NGC Census Report and PCGS Population Report. As of (11/08), PCGS has certified only two pieces as Deep Mirror Prooflike: the current offering and a respectable MS61 example. NGC reports a total of seven coins with the designation—the finest being an MS64 and the balance being either AU or MS62.

This piece—pedigreed to Jack Lee as noted on the PCGS insert—is of unimaginable quality for the issue. A light golden cast is evenly dispersed across each side, attesting to this 1883-S dollar's utter originality. Without the aid of magnification we can only identify a few scattered abrasions. One is noted in the right obverse field behind Liberty's cap and another is visible under the eagle's beak. Additionally, a mark is visible in the left obverse field near Liberty's neck, but closer examination suggests the possibility that the tiny abrasion is actually a planchet flaw. It is unfair, really, to hold a coin with such delicate, watery fields to the same grading standards as a frosty Mint State coin, since the aforementioned flaws would likely be obscured by luster as opposed to being accentuated by pristine mirrors. A special coin destined for the most discriminating of cabinets.

Exquisite MS68 1884 Dollar

4966 1884 MS68 NGC. The 1884 is a popular and readily available issue in most grades, to the point of being a popular type coin among collectors of Philadelphia type sets. As always, such availability has its limits as grade increases, and in the case of the 1884, MS68 is the "end of the line," with just two coins awarded that numeric grade by NGC and just one by PCGS (11/08). This shining Superb Gem, generally silver-white with the faintest rose tint in the centers, is sharply struck and exquisitely preserved. Magnificent all-around eye appeal with only a few unimportant luster grazes in the fields.

Sensational 1884-CC Morgan Dollar, MS68 Tied for Finest PCGS Certified

4967 1884-CC MS68 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Jack Lee 1 / Jack Lee 2. Of all the Carson City Morgan dollars that were stored for close to a century between the Nevada Mint and the Treasury, the 1883-CC and 1884-CC issues were by far the most plentiful and remain common today in grades up to MS65. Anything nicer than that is a rarity, and is elusive. The present piece, for example, in the lofty MS68 grade, is one of just three similar pieces that PCGS has certified, with none finer (12/08).

Dave Bowers wrote in his Encyclopedia: "The 1884-CC is very common in Mint State. In fact, it is the most common of all Carson City dollars in this regard. Probably a million or more exist. Most are in the range of MS-60 through MS-63, however, many MS64s remain, and MS65 coins are not rare."

Prior to the 1930s, this date was considered a prime rarity, since knowledge of those coins stored in Treasury vaults was generally unavailable to the numismatic community. Of course the relatively low mintage of just over 1 million coins tended to corroborate the perceived rarity. Bowers further explained that "962,638 [pieces], amounting to 84.7% of the original mintage, were still in the hands of the Treasury Department after March 1964, when a halt was called to the great Treasury release that began in October 1962."

A fully brilliant piece, the frosty and vibrant white surfaces have intense luster of virtually perfect quality. The few marks on either side are almost entirely hidden in the devices, and even those require magnification to see.

Stunning 1884-CC Dollar MS67 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4968 1884-CC MS67 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. 1884-CC Mint State dollars are abundant in the marketplace, with even Gems being available without too much trouble. Prooflike and Deep Mirror Prooflike examples can also be located. DMPL's in the lofty grade of Superb Gem, such as the current offering, are another matter. PCGS and NGC have graded a mere three pieces each, and none finer.

The deeply mirrored fields of the current Superb Gem highlight the satiny devices that have benefited from a well executed strike. The surfaces of both sides are impeccably preserved and free of color, save for a couple of wisps of light gray at the upper left obverse margin. This coin exudes stunning eye appeal.

Fantastic Superb Gem Prooflike 1884-O Dollar

4969 1884-O MS67 Prooflike PCGS. While Prooflike examples of this issue are not unknown, Q. David Bowers writes in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars that "most show little contrast and are the antithesis of cameo, and most are heavily bagmarked." This Superb Gem is a welcome change, housed in a green label holder and described as "merely" Prooflike, though the strongly cartwheeled, yet immensely reflective silver-white fields could easily provoke some healthy debate. Spectacularly frosted central devices are exquisitely detailed with hints of rose visiting areas that are otherwise snow-white. Magnificently preserved and one of the most extraordinary examples of the issue ever offered by Heritage. Population: 1 in 67 Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).

Impressive 1884-S Select Dollar

4970 1884-S MS63 PCGS. Ex: Wayne Miller Collection. Most of the 3.2 million 1884-S Morgan dollar mintage probably went into circulation. Also, some undistributed bags may have been melted under the provisions of the 1918 Pittman Act. Relatively few Mint State coins were saved until later years, with the result that Uncirculated pieces are elusive today.

David Bowers (1993) writes: "... it is known that limited numbers of this issue dribbled out from storage in the Treasury Building in Washington, D.C. as early as the early 1930s, and continuing though at least the very early 1950s. If any full bags were paid out, I have not learned of the situation." Bowers goes on to say that many 1884-S dollars were released to banks from storage at the San Francisco Mint in 1926, and again in the 1950s. He believes that several thousand coins, mostly in lower Mint State grades, went into the hands of dealers, investors, and collectors during the 1950s and early 1960s.

Each side of this Select example has a pleasing satiny finish with strong luster. Whispers of light grayish tan make an occasional appearance, and an impressive strike brings about sharper design features than usually seen. Both faces are quite well preserved. It is only the presence of a small milling mark in the field above the eagle's head that probably denies the attainment of a higher grade. Population: 36 in 63, 16 finer (11/08).

Captivating Condition Rarity
1884-S Gem Dollar

4971 1884-S MS65 NGC. The San Francisco Mint produced 3,200,000 business strike dollars in 1884. Most of these were apparently placed into circulation. As David Bowers writes in his Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States, this was a rather unusual situation for the Morgan dollar series: "Large quantities of most other contemporary issues were bagged and then relegated to storage, to see the light of day in 1962-1964. Apparently, not so with the 1884-S." Circulated coins are therefore common, even in Extremely Fine and About Uncirculated grades.

With regard to Mint State 1884-S dollars, Bowers goes on to say: "Relatively few ... were saved until later years, with the result that on the numismatic market today, Uncirculated coins are both highly prized and highly priced." Most NGC/PCGS Mint State pieces are in the MS60 to MS63 levels. The two services have certified fewer than 30 near-Gems, three Gems, and three specimens finer.

The Gem offered in this lot displays partially prooflike surfaces, especially on the obverse. Whispers of light golden-brown toning concentrate on the margins, joined by wisps of sky-blue on the obverse and russet on the reverse. An attentive strike sharpens the design features, including those in the central areas that are often weak. A few stray minute marks are well within the parameters of the designated grade. This captivating condition rarity will elicit spirited bidding. Census: 2 in 65, 1 finer (11/08).

Fabulous MS68 1885-CC Dollar

4972 1885-CC MS68 NGC. Most Morgan dollars with mintages near or below 228,000 pieces are considered semi-keys at worst, but thanks to the GSA sales, in most grades, the 1885-CC is readily available for a price. Coins in grades up through and including Gem border on commonplace, but Superb Gems are heavily contested prizes. This MS68 coin, one of just five so graded by NGC with none numerically finer (11/08), offers solid detail and impressive preservation. Light golden overtones drape the frosty centers, while the margins remain essentially brilliant. Shining luster completes the outstanding eye appeal.

Singular MS68 1885-CC Dollar, Ex: Jack Lee

4973 1885-CC MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. Paul M. Green, in the "Item of the Week" Numismatic News column dated February 26, 2008, offers a number of insightful comments about the 1885-CC dollar:

> "At first glance, the 228,000-mintage 1885-CC looks like a fairly typical Carson City dollar date. The mintage was on the low side, but like other Carson City dollars, the 1885-CC was part of the great GSA sales in the 1970s. ... The sales included 148,285 examples of the 1885-CC, or 65.03 percent of the original mintage.
> "The fact that so many examples of the 1885-CC were sold has perhaps made some forget that it was a very tough date before the sales. It wasn't a major rarity, however, since there had been some bags that appeared in the 1950s."

It seems strange, given the six figures' worth of 1885-CC coins sold by the government, that even with all the Gems, Premium Gems, and even MS67 coins in PCGS holders today, only one coin has ever qualified for the MS68 designation in the eyes of that service (11/08). That piece is this piece, pedigreed to the first Jack Lee collection of Morgan dollars and housed in a green label holder, has appeared in the PCGS Population Report for years, a singular and seemingly untouchable presence. Its availability here presents a tremendous opportunity for the Carson City collector. Both sides are impeccably preserved with strong detail and powerful, swirling luster beneath a melange of green-gold, aqua, and pale silver-gray shadings. The overall visual appeal is fittingly immense.

Amazing 1885-S Morgan, MS67 Tied for Finest Certified

4974 1885-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 2. The San Francisco Mint produced a modest number of silver dollars in 1885, just 1,497,000. The date was never considered rare, but its scarcity was certainly known to early 20th century collectors. However, in the late 1940s, during a time of numismatic boom, the price of these coins dropped by nearly 70%. Dave Bowers explains in his Silver Dollar Encyclopedia: "Over the years—since the time of mintage—there had always been a modest supply of Mint State 1885-S dollars on the market; it was never considered to be a rarity. By 1945 the market price had climbed to about $15 per coin. Right after World War II, when the coin market was experiencing a boom, the San Francisco Mint paid out a lot of early Morgan dollars, 1885-S among them. The price dropped to about per coin by 1947."

Today, the typical Mint State Morgan dollar has frosty luster and numerous bagmarks. The strike is generally average at best. The typical surviving example falls in the lowest range of the Mint State grades, MS60 to MS63. Of course the present coin is hardly typical, being a phenomenal Superb Gem.

Bold design details and frosty, brilliant silver surfaces are evident on this lustrous Superb Gem. While the hair over Liberty's ear is a trifle weak, all other design details are sharp and clearly much finer than usual for the date. Both sides have a frame of delicate lilac-gold toning along the borders. This piece is one of just two submissions that are PCGS certified MS67, with none at NGC.

Gorgeous MS68 1886 Dollar

4975 1886 MS68 NGC. The combined certified population shows just 11 pieces at this grade level, eight certified by NGC and three by PCGS, with none finer (11/08). No statistic or certified grade is needed, however, to tell the collector that the present coin is something special. Light gold-orange overtones drape parts of the margins, while the centers are impressively lustrous and minimally toned. The devices are well-executed with only a touch of softness visible on the eagle's breast. The surfaces are smooth, as demanded of the grade, and careful scrutiny is required to turn up even the smallest flaw. From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7166)

Landmark 1886-O Morgan Dollar, MS65
One of the Finest Known

4976 1886-O MS65 PCGS. CAC. Some issues, such as the 1921-D half dollar, are celebrated for having the lowest mintage in a series, while others like the 1921 Peace dollar are distinguished as being a first-year issue. Sometimes it is the physical characteristics of a coin that make it special, as with 1820 N-13 Large cents, which are relatively more available in high grades than other cents of that era, thanks wholly to the Randall hoard of cents found in the 1860s. The 1886-O dollar stands out as being the rarest New Orleans issue in MS65 or better condition as fewer than five Gem specimens are known to exist. The current offering belongs to that small fraternity of high-end 1886-O dollars. After more than 25 years of third-party grading, only five coins are currently documented at the MS65 level or above at both major services. NGC documents only one such coin—a lone MS66. The PCGS Population Report shows a total of four examples; three MS65 pieces and the famous MS67 Deep Mirror Prooflike coin that was considered by Wayne Miller in his 1982 reference to be "the most spectacular Morgan dollar now known." That piece sold for $231,000 in Bowers and Merena's November 1990 sale of the Chris Schenkel collection.

But why is this seemingly common issue so rare in high grade? The mintage of over 10 million coins makes it hard to believe that so few 1886-O dollars exist in Gem condition. The 1881-S issue saw a comparable output of coins, yet well over 100,000 examples of that date are known in MS65 or better condition. David Bowers speculates in his Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States (1993): "At or near the time of striking in the nineteenth century, probably a few million coins, say two to four million, were placed into circulation and saw commercial use. Probably, millions of other coins, perhaps as many as six to eight million pieces, went to the melting pot under the terms of the 1918 Pittman Act." Bowers continues by stating that "in MS64 grade it is extremely difficult to locate; probably somewhere between 125 and 250 remain. In MS65 preservation the 1886-O is the rarest New Orleans Mint Morgan dollar; at least one exists, but possibly no more than three." The steep drop of survivors between MS64 and MS65 is reflected in various price guides. For example the current Coin Dealer Newsletter indicates a staggering 21-fold increase in price for the 1886-O between MS64 and MS65 condition—more than any other issue in the entire Morgan dollar series.

The Gem offered here represents the only certified 1886-O dollar grading above MS64 to ever cross the auction block at Heritage. And, as to be expected with such a great condition rarity, the statistics are similar with other auction companies. John Dannreuther and Jeff Garrett's compilation of silver dollars sold at auction between 1995 and 2004 records not a single showing of an MS65 1886-O dollar. The landmark offering of the current example may represent one of the few appearances of this rare Gem issue in our lifetime.

Predominately white surfaces abound with intense cartwheel luster. Although known to be notoriously weekly struck, this 1886-O dollar boasts an unusually strong strike. The negligible scattered abrasions number fewer than the most conservative of graders would allow for a Gem Morgan dollar. A memorable specimen that was one of the prides of a great collector's cabinet. Population: 3 in 65, 0 finer (11/08).

Legendary Gem 1886-O Dollar
The Famous Eliasberg Coin

4977 1886-O MS65 PCGS. As written for this coin's catalog description for the April 1997 edition of the auction of the Louis E. Eliasberg, Sr. Collection:

> "The 1886-O dollar is a very curious issue, inasmuch as the mintage is especially generous, worn coins are plentiful, but the high-grade Mint State coins are rarities. When seen in Mint State, the 1886-O is apt to be in lower ranges such as MS-60 to MS-62. Coins at the MS-64 level are indeed rare."

This is a point that deserves further attention. A handful of other Morgan dollar issues, among them the 1884-S and 1895-O, exhibit the same duality of relatively available circulated coins and nearly inaccessible Mint State pieces. What do these issues have in common? Certainly not mintage; the coins in this group range from the 1895-O, with less than half a million pieces, to the 1886-O, which has a mintage of over 10.7 million coins. What they do have in common, however, is a substantial presence in the XF to AU designations, which indicate that those coins which were released circulated only briefly prior to their recovery from circulation; this is also indicative, however, of a lack of savings in Mint State. A contributing factor and corollary is that virtually all of the Morgan dollar issues that are condition rarities in Mint State are branch issues; only the 1901 is an exception to this trend.

Another common factor is a lack of representation in the game-changing Treasury releases of the 1960s. A Paul M. Green article printed in the April 15, 2008 edition of Numismatic News includes several insightful comments about the 1886-O Morgan dollar, among them: "It's pretty hard to lose 10 million silver dollars, but Bowers and others have tried to trace the release of every Morgan dollar but the 1886-O is barely evident in the reports, with just a small trickle of examples being reported as opposed to the usual bags and that continues all the way through the Treasury release of the 1960s."

The most easily reached conclusion is that government melting of silver dollars proved particularly disastrous for several issues, which would become the prominent condition rarities of today. The Paul Green article supports this, continuing:

> "There is really only one conclusion to explain why the 1886-O is really a very ordinary date in circulated grades and but [sic] suddenly in higher grades it becomes nearly impossible. Actually there are two factors in that the small supply of Mint State 1886-O dollars we can study shows the 1886-O was not very well made with particularly poor luster. The number reaching high grades is very small, but the real problem is that there are basically no supplies to allow for cherrypicking.
>
> The 1886-O, it has to be concluded, was a Pittman Act victim and in extremely large numbers. Had it been any other way, the 1886-O would be found in much higher numbers at least in lower Mint State grades. As it is, despite a significantly larger mintage, the 1886-O is in the same class as the 1895-O when you get to MS-65 or better."

Green's comments on aesthetics link into the other prime challenge affecting the would-be 1886-O Morgan dollar owner: that of appearance. Detractors of this issue's overall eye appeal include Wayne Miller, who wrote in his The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook that "The typical 1886-O is heavily bagmarked, with indifferent luster. ... Because of heavy surface abrasions present on most specimens, gems are rare." Q. David Bowers is also on record in several of his references, such as his Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States: A Complete Encyclopedia, as a non-enthusiast. From that work: "In 1886 the New Orleans Mint struck silver dollars exclusively. Even though the coiners had single-mindedness of purpose, they did a sloppy job, spaced the dies too far apart, and turned out millions of poorly struck coins."

Even amid all of this doom-and-gloom, a handful of bright spots appear, coins that were saved long ago and have re-emerged as numismatic treasures. Judging by the description of the coin for the Eliasberg sale, its cataloger left no ounce of enthusiasm unspent: "Apart from the elusive nature of the 1886-O in higher numerical Mint State levels, the aspect of quality rears its head. Among Mint State coins of this issue, very few have much if any aesthetic appeal. The present coin is an exception to this general rule ... It is, indeed, a remarkable coin."

The present cataloger concurs wholeheartedly. While the strike at the uppermost points shows trifling softness, the visual appeal is comprehensive, of uniformly high quality. Generally pale silver-gray surfaces show subtle pink overtones and the occasional whisper of gold close to the rims. Surfaces are smooth and delightful. For the reflectivity category, this is one of just three MS65 examples certified by PCGS, with none finer at that service (11/08).

Captivating MS67 1886-S Dollar

4978 1886-S MS67 NGC. With just three-quarters of a million pieces struck, the 1886-S dollar was a lower-mintage Morgan issue from the start, and meltings of somewhere between a quarter and a half of the original mintage (as reported by Q. David Bowers in his Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States) only exacerbated its scarcity, particularly in Mint State. This crisply struck representative shows ample reflectivity in the fields, though any pretension to Prooflike status would be tenuous, and considerable frost on the devices. Carefully preserved and gorgeous. Census: 2 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Impressive 1886-S MS67 Dollar

4979 1886-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee/ PCGS Tour. The 1886-S dollar is obtainable through the near-Gem level of preservation. Gems are scarce, Premium Gems are rare, and finer pieces are nearly unobtainable. Examples with very sharp strikes require some searching.

The current Superb Gem was the recipient of an impressive strike, the results of which show in the hair-above-ear, breast feather, and leaf ribbing details. Light gold color visits portions of the obverse, while waves of cobalt-blue, purple, golden-tan, and orange race over the reverse. Potent luster emanates from both sides, each of which reveals just a few minor grade-consistent marks. Population: 4 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Fantastic VAM-2 1887/6 Dollar, MS66

This overdate, though visible to the sharp unaided eye that is looking for it, went unidentified until the early 1970s, grouping it with others described by Wayne Miller in his 1982 work The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook: "In fact, the existence of the majority of die varieties was unknown until the last decade." The 1887/6 overdate, once discovered, became highly prized, particularly in the uppermost grades. ## Magnificent MS66 1887/6 Silver Dollar, VAM-2

4981 1887/6 MS66 PCGS. VAM-2. A Top 100 Variety. A brilliant Premium Gem that boasts dazzling luster and is exceptionally free from marks. The obverse is particularly close to immaculate. The strike is above average, with only a hint of incompleteness at the centers. The reverse border at 4 o'clock displays a trace of struck-in grease, as made. The 1887/6 was discovered by overdate specialist Ted Clark in 1971. His collection was auctioned by Heritage in 2002. It took another year before the 1887/6-O was identified, by Bob Riethe. ## Elusive 1887/6 VAM-2 Gem Deep Mirror Prooflike Dollar

4982 1887/6 MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. VAM-2. A Top 100 Variety. The curve of the 6 is plainly visible at the bottom of the 7. David Bowers, in his 2006 A Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, estimates that the mintage of this variety is "Probably slightly less than 1/2 percent of the total 1887 mintage (20,290,000)," or about 101,450 pieces.

A relatively large number of 1887/6 Mint State specimens are extant, but Deep Mirror Prooflike coins are extremely elusive. Indeed, PCGS and NGC have certified only 20 such examples.

The current Gem DMPL yields relatively strong field-motif contrast. The only color visible consists of a couple of splashes of gold-orange above Liberty's eyebrow. Sharp definition is apparent on the design elements, including the hair at Liberty's ear and on the eagle's breast feathers. A few minute grade-consistent marks do not distract. Population: 3 in 65 Deep Mirror Prooflike, 0 finer (9/08).

Incredible 1887-O Dollar, MS66 Prooflike One of the Finest Known

4983 1887-O MS66 Prooflike PCGS. Slight strike weakness, typical for the issue, is noted in the centers, although this specimen is actually far above average in terms of detail definition. This minor concern is easily redeemed by the stunning surface preservation and eye appeal of the current offering. No 1887-O dollar has been graded finer at either NGC or PCGS as of (11/08). Regardless of surface designation, only 16 pieces are graded at the MS66 level, and only four of those examples are designated as Prooflike at both services combined—two at PCGS and two and NGC. One must also consider the possibility that those low numbers include one or two resubmissions.

Based on the distribution of certified 1887-O dollars, it is clear that this issue was poorly handled after striking. Most suffer from bagmarks and those that were not saved in original bags were circulated. Per Bowers (2007): "Bags were released over a long period of years, including 1938, 1953, and 1957, per interviews I have conducted, and no doubt on other occasions as well. Examples from Treasury releases of 1962 through 1964 constitute the majority of pieces available in Mint State today. Bags were released as late as March 1964." Obviously this example was either well positioned within a bag, or saved at the time of release in 1887 or shortly thereafter. The cheek is exceptionally clean and only a few light abrasions in the left obverse field preclude a finer technical grade.

Amazing MS67 Deep Prooflike 1888 Dollar

4984 1888 MS67 Deep Prooflike NGC. Among Philadelphia issues, the 1888 ranks among those with the most inconsistent striking characteristics. As Q. David Bowers writes in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, "The 1888 rates as a common date in the Morgan series, although the quality of individual specimens can vary dramatically. Extended die use caused granularity and metal flow lines on some. On the other hand, more than just a few 1888 dollars are attractive and prooflike."

This outstandingly reflective Superb Gem is one of the latter, minimally toned in the deeply mirrored fields. Subtle rose tints accent the sharply struck central devices. A beautifully preserved coin that could win over even the fussiest numismatic aesthete. Census: 1 in 67 Deep Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).

Rainbow 1888-S Morgan, MS67

4985 1888-S MS67 PCGS. This Superb Gem is an amazing iridescent dollar with intermingled rose, gray-gold, sea-green, and lilac color on both sides, and full satin luster beneath the toning. Although it is not fully struck, this example is considerably finer than most. Only a few sharply struck examples are known. The '88-S is a scarce date in all grades, and it is extremely rare in MS67 quality. Only 657,000 of these coins were originally minted, and most were released during the 1940s and 1950s, often for commercial use in Nevada casinos. Population: 2 in 67, 0 finer (10/08).

Incredible 1889 Morgan, MS68
The Second Finest Certified Example

4986 1889 MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. Apparently one of the four doubled ear varieties, this example appears to be VAM-20, with doubling on the right side of the ear and inner ear, as well as the hair immediately above he ear, and minute doubling on the forehead. The other three doubled ear varieties are Vam-16, 18, and 21.

In 1889 the Philadelphia, New Orleans, Carson City, and San Francisco Mints were producing Morgan dollars, with subsidiary silver coins largely ignored. At the four mints, nearly 35 million silver dollars were coined, and more than 33 million of those were struck in Philadelphia and New Orleans. With 21,726,000 struck, the 1889 Philadelphia Mint dollar had the highest annual production of any issue in the entire series from 1878 to 1921. Only the 1922 and 1923 Peace dollars had higher mintages among all silver dollars coined from 1794 to 1935. To understand the size of the 1889 Morgan dollar mintage, consider that all the mints, working together, only produced a little over 20 million silver dollars in total from 1794 to 1875.

Despite the immense mintage, NGC and PCGS have only certified seven examples in grades finer than MS66! PCGS has grade this single MS68, and one superlative MS69 example, while NGC has never graded one better than MS67. The importance of the present opportunity is just too great to ignore. An incredible example with hints of lemon-yellow toning on each side over brilliant silver luster and frosty surfaces. The hair over Liberty's ear is virtually full, and the remaining obverse and reverse design details are about as sharp as they were in the die.

Fabulous 1889 Dollar, MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4987 1889 MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. The 1889-P was an abundantly produced issue in the Morgan dollar series. More than 21 million pieces were struck. With that frantic pace of production, there was little time to polish dies, and as a result, prooflike coins are legitimately rare, with Deep Mirror Prooflike pieces especially so. This piece has deeply reflective fields with some frost on the devices, which yields a moderate cameo contrast. Fully struck and virtually abrasion-free, there is just the slightest hint of peripheral color on either side. Fabulous eye appeal.

Pleasing Near-Mint State 1889-CC Dollar

4988 1889-CC AU58 NGC. The population data for 1889-C dollars plunges to double digit numbers for each numeric designation beyond the AU58 level, making this the grade of choice for most collectors. Pleasing cartwheels with only slight luster breaks in the fields justify the near-Mint State grade determination by NGC. Closer examination reveals a slight semiprooflikeness quality on both sides of this lightly toned 1889 Carson City dollar. The strike is bold and the overall visual aspect is above average for the issue. Adding to its appeal, this piece also displays fine die breaks through ITED STATES OF AM on the reverse legend. (#7190)

Remarkable Near-Mint State 1889-CC Dollar

4989 1889-CC AU58 PCGS. CAC. This near-Mint State Carson City representative retains generous luster beneath light to medium gray patination imbued with traces of golden undertones. A somewhat above average strike delivers sharp definition to the design features, resulting in strong detail in the hair over Liberty's ear, on the eagle's breast feathers, and on the leaf ribbing. Close examination with a loupe reveals remarkably clean surfaces for a coin that saw some circulation. The foregoing attributes confirm the CAC green label. This will be an excellent addition to a high-grade Morgan dollar collection. (#7190)

Amazing 1889-CC Morgan Dollar Rarity, MS65

4990 1889-CC MS65 NGC. In August 1885, the Carson City Mint produced 28,000 Morgan dollars, the final installment of the 228,000 coins minted that year. Four years and three months later, in October 1889, that facility produced its next quantity of silver dollars, rounding out the year with a total production of 350,000 coins. It seems that the vast majority of those coins minted were actually paid out and entered circulation in the late 19th century. The result of that activity is a plentiful supply (for a price) of worn examples. A second result is a lack of available Mint State pieces. Beginning in the early 1930s, the Treasury paid out individual pieces and small groups, but never any large quantities or bag lots. It seems that those piece that are available today have these payouts as their source.

As one of the top Morgan dollar rarities, the 1889-CC is desirable in all grades. Quantities of this issue are all but unknown today with bag lots almost of legendary status, none having been reliably reported in more than twenty-five years. As a major Morgan rarity, the '89-CC has perhaps been a bit over promoted in the past. It is usually available for a price in lower circulated grades, and even lower grade Uncirculated pieces are often available at public auction and from major dealers' fixed price lists. However, Gems are very rare and are only available when a major collection is dispersed.

The Carson City Mint received 10 obverse dies dated 1889 for this coinage, and combined those with seven reverse dies. However, only three specific varieties are listed in the current Van Allen-Mallis reference: VAM-1 - Normal dies; VAM-2 - High 9, doubled 1; VAM-3 - Far date. This example appears to be the High 9 obverse, although it has a faint die crack through the date that is not visible in the VAM plate. The reverse has a CC mintmark tilted to the left, but placed farther right than the piece illustrated in the VAM reference. In addition to the faint crack through the date, the obverse has minor die cracks through the peripheral design elements. Likewise, the reverse has peripheral die cracks through much of the legend.

The surfaces on this coin are extraordinarily clean with only a few tiny blemishes on either side. The luster has the satiny texture that is invariably seen on 1889-CC dollars, although it is not prooflike as often encountered. Dave Bowers suggests that 25% of all high grade 1889-CC dollars are prooflike. While Carson City dollars in general are known for their exuberant, frosted texture, the '89-CC for some reason is always seen with a more subdued, satiny and reflective appearance. Well struck, each side is free from any trace of color.

Extremely rare as a Gem, with just four other MS65 examples certified by NGC, including one prooflike piece, and one other amazing coin graded MS67. Comparatively, PCGS has certified a single MS65 and one MS68. The present coin ranks among the top eight NGC or PCGS certified examples of the issue, providing an incredible opportunity for the advanced Morgan dollar connoisseur and specialist.

The Amazing Eliasberg 1889-CC Dollar, MS68

4991 1889-CC MS68 PCGS. Ex: Eliasberg/Jack Lee 2. Carson City struck their first silver dollars in 1870, the first year of coinage operations. They continued to strike Seated dollars through 1873, and Trade dollars until 1878, in addition to subordinate silver denominations and gold half eagles, eagles, and double eagles. Beginning in 1878, all of the mints, including Carson City, were primarily occupied with the production of silver dollars as a result of the Bland-Allison Act. Gold coins were also in production at the various mints. Coinage of silver dollars continued at Carson City into 1885, when operations of that mint were suspended. The cessation of operations was due to the extreme expense of coinage in comparison to the benefits. According to the mint director, costs were as high as 18% of the value of local deposits in 1885. At the time, Carson City was hardly a large city, with a population of only about 4,000 people, and overall population in the state was declining.

The Mint at Carson City opened again in the third quarter of 1889, with preliminary steps taken to prepare the facility for coinage. Rusty Goe writes in The Mint on Carson Street: "Carson City Mint employees were eager to get back to work in July of 1889. Four years of dormancy had left the facility in a state of disrepair, but clean-up crews removed the cobwebs, aired out the rooms, and dusted off the machinery in preparation for a resurrection of coinage operations."

As preparations were underway in Carson City, changes were being made in Philadelphia. Edward O. Leech took over reign of the Mint as its director in Philadelphia, a position that he held during these last years of Carson City production, stepping down in 1893. Leach was born in Washington, D.C., in 1850, and graduated from Columbia University and the National Law University. He served in the Bureau of Statistics at the Treasury Department before being transferred to the Mint Bureau. His resignation from the Mint gave him the opportunity to accept a position as vice president of the National Union Bank in New York City. Leech died in 1900.

The 1889-CC Morgan dollar was one of the lower mintage issues of the entire series, with just 350,000 coins produced. All of them were struck during the last three months of the year, with monthly production of 100,000 coins in October and November, and 150,000 coins in December. Many other less famous dates had lower mintages, but Goe explains that the many 1889-CC silver dollars met an early demise: "For unknown reasons, approximately 250,000 to 325,000 1889-CC silver dollars were eventually melted, securing this date as one of the keys to a set of Morgan dollars."

Like several other dates, this is an extremely rare issue in Gem quality. Most of those that avoided the melting pot were placed in circulation, and today the typical example grades just VF or lower, often with damage. To date, NGC and PCGS have certified 925 submissions as MS60 or finer, but they have combined to certify only eight coins in grades of MS65 or finer. PCGS has certified this MS68 along with an MS65. NGC has actually certified five examples as MS65 (representing at least three different coins) and one MS67.

There seems to be a little confusion regarding the appearance of these coins. Wayne Miller, in 1982, stated "the typical 1889-CC is well struck, with average bagmarks." A decade later, Dave Bowers essentially said the same thing: "Nearly all 1889-CC dollars are well struck with excellent definition of details." However, another decade passed, and the Red Book of Morgan Dollars contained the following: "Usually an average strike at best, often below average." This Eliasberg specimen can only be considered well-struck.

The only quantity of Mint State examples is reported to be three bags, one owned by Harry Warner, and the other two owned by Ben Stack. There were also reports of a couple of bags located in Montana during the 1950s or early 1960s. Other than these, there have been no quantities of 1889-CC Morgan dollars released. The Treasury had none when their hoards of dollars were distributed in the early 1960s. Apparently, they actually retained one solitary coin, which later was part of the GSA sales of CC dollars in the 1970s.

The physical beauty of this coin was aptly described by Dave Bowers in the Eliasberg catalog: "prooflike. Delicately mottled golden toning over silver, prooflike surfaces. Extremely well struck. A gorgeous, splendid coin in all respects. This is certainly one of the very finest in existence of this exceedingly important date and mintmark, quite possibly the finest. An exciting coin for the connoisseur and specialist." Careful examination with magnification fails to reveal any surface marks on either side of this Superb Gem example. The strike is nearly full, even down to separation of the hair strands over Liberty's ear, almost always a point of weakness on these Morgan dollars.

Intensely Appealing 1889-CC Dollar MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4992 1889-CC MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. The rarest Carson City Morgan dollar issues and, undeniably, one of the top three key-date coins in the series. When talking about condition, the 1889-CC dollar enters the realm of true rarity. As of (11/08), only 16 examples have been graded by PCGS at the MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike level with none finer. The numbers at NGC are even lower, with only 12 coins thus graded at the same level—none finer. Furthermore—regardless of surface designation—only two pieces have achieved a grade beyond MS64 at PCGS.

Due to its key-date status, 1889-CC dollars are in high demand at all levels. The effect on price is less noticeable in the AU and lower grade range, but the competition for near-Gem examples—realistically the finest available—becomes fierce due to the extremely limited supply. Since the beginning of our online auction archives in 1993, we record the sale of only 14 pieces at the MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike level, with some of those coins making more than one appearance.

The current offering is lightly toned in a subtle amber hue and displays near-cameo contrast on both sides, as one would expect from a coin designated as Deep Mirror Prooflike. Even with the delicate state of the fields, few abrasions are present and the resulting eye appeal is memorable. Boldly struck and a breathtaking example of one of the darlings of the Morgan dollar series. Population: 16 in 64, 0 finer (11/08).

Outstanding MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike 1889-CC Dollar One of the Finest Examples Known

4993 1889-CC MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. CAC. As is well known to dollar collectors the 1889-CC is not especially rare with a prooflike finish in the fields, but that statement must be understood in the context of 1889-CC dollars. The '89-CC is an absolute as well as a condition rarity, meaning whenever an example is available for sale in any grade it is a worthy coin, and Uncirculated coins are an uncommon offering even in a major auction. Even if 40% of the available coins are reflective in the fields, that is still a small number compared to many other issues in the Morgan series where mintages were much higher. Only 15 other pieces have been graded MS64 DMPL by PCGS with 12 by NGC, and most importantly none have been certified finer by either service.

This is an especially attractive coin and definitely high-end for the grade, as reinforced by the CAC sticker that accompanies. The surfaces are mostly brilliant with just the lightest accent of golden patina around the margins. The devices are heavily frosted and contrast starkly against the illimitable depth of reflectivity in the fields. The striking details are also fully brought up in the center of each side with complete definition over the ear of Liberty and on the eagle's breast. From a technical standpoint, this is one of the finest examples of this key issue in the Morgan series, and it is also one of the most visually appealing 1889-CC dollars known. (#97191)

Desirable MS66 1889-O Dollar

4994 1889-O MS66 NGC. Among 1889-dated Morgan dollars, the low-mintage Carson City issue steals the show, but the O-mint issue is also notable as a condition rarity despite a mintage of close to 12 million pieces. This Premium Gem, tied for numerically finest graded by NGC or PCGS (11/08), is generally well-defined at the margins with little patina over surfaces that show this issue's strong, but occasionally peculiar luster. The reverse periphery exhibits a degree of granularity, but with the obverse as minimally marked and attractive as it is, the coin displays beautifully.

Striking MS66 1889-O Dollar

4995 1889-O MS66 PCGS. This issue, though slightly underrated due to its high mintage and close proximity to the 1889-CC issue, is a condition rarity at the Premium Gem level; as noted by Q. David Bowers in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, "Today Mint State coins are very common, but sharply struck gems with beautiful luster are rare." This elegant example fills the bill, minimally toned on each side with generally above-average definition. The luster is particularly impressive. Tied with five MS66 pieces graded by NGC and eight others certified by PCGS for finest in the combined certified population (11/08).

MS66 Prooflike 1889-S Morgan From the Gregg Bingham NFL Set

4996 1889-S MS66 Prooflike PCGS. Ex: NFL Set. A stone-white Premium Gem with impeccable preservation and impressive field reflectivity. Crisply struck and beautiful. The cheek is especially free from marks. The low mintage 1889-S is rare as an MS66, and is also rare with mirrored fields. It is remarkable that the issue exists both as MS66 and Prooflike.

Gregg Bingham was a linebacker for the Houston Oilers between 1973 and 1984. He is also a numismatist, and his high grade collection of Morgan dollars was marketed as the NFL Set and auctioned by Heritage in 2001. Encapsulated in a green label holder. Population: 2 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

Amazing MS66 1890-CC Dollar

4997 1890-CC MS66 PCGS. Unlike its earlier Carson City fellows, the 1890-CC Morgan dollar issue was not well-represented in the Treasury releases, and as a result, the handful of high-grade examples that survived outside government custody and the few GSA coins are significant numismatic prizes. This Premium Gem, one of 11 pieces tied for numerically finest known to NGC or PCGS (11/08), shows occasional rose-champagne tints over parts of the centers, while the peripheries sport brilliant silver luster. Impressive eye appeal and preservation, even by Premium Gem standards.

Splendid 1890-CC Dollar MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike

4998 1890-CC MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee/ Naples II. The mintage figure for the 1890-CC dollar is the largest in the Carson City series (2,309,041 pieces). David Bowers (2005) writes that quantities were probably placed into circulation in the 19th century, and perhaps many bags were melted under the 1918 Pittman Act. Yet, Prooflike coins, and even Deep Mirror Prooflikes are seen with frequency, at least through the near-Gem level of preservation.

Whispers of light gold color visit portions of the reverse of this Gem DMPL specimen, and a well executed strike leaves sharp detail on the design features, including the hair above Liberty's ear, an area that is often weak on Prooflike examples (Bowers). A few minute marks just barely keep this splendid coin from an even higher numerical grade. Light roller marks are visible in the centers of both sides. Population: 19 in 65 Deep Mirror Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).

Condition Rarity 1890-S MS67 Dollar

4999 1890-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. The 1890-S dollar is available through the near-Gem level, and even Gem examples can be located without too much trouble. MS66 examples pose a challenge, and MS67 coins are rare.

This Superb Gem displays partially prooflike fields that yield modest variance with the devices when the coin is tilted slightly beneath a light source. Most of the design elements are in receipt of a well executed strike, with only the hair over Liberty's ear showing minor softness. The surfaces of both sides are essentially untoned, and are devoid of all but the most trivial marks. Population: 6 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Exceptional 1890-S Dollar MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike

5000 1890-S MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Large numbers of 1890-S dollars were placed into circulation at or near the time of mintage, and many that were stored in the San Francisco Mint were probably melted under terms of the 1918 Pittman Act. Despite this, the relatively large 8 million plus coinage assured a plentiful supply of Mint State survivors. David Bowers (1993) contends that: "... the 1890-S is one of the San Francisco Mint issues that has never been rare in Mint State—quite a contrast to its 1889-S sibling."

The Gem offered in this lot is one of the 14 highest-graded Deep Mirror Prooflike 1890-S dollars certified by PCGS and NGC. Splashes of purple, sky-blue, and golden-tan patina concentrate at the borders, leaving the centers color free. An attentive strike sharpens the design elements, enhancing the coin's eye appeal. Some minor grazes likely prevent an even finer grade. An exceptional coin. Population: 8 in 65 Deep Mirror Prooflike, 0 finer (11/08).

Once Unsung 1891 Morgan Dollar, MS66 A Condition Rarity

5001 1891 MS66 NGC. One of the unsung condition rarities in the Morgan dollar series for many years, the 1891 is now recognized as one of the toughest P-mints in Gem or finer condition. The surfaces on this high quality example are frosty and very clean under layers of silver-gray and charcoal-gray toning. The strike is just a trifle soft on the highpoints of Liberty's hair, just above her ear, and very well executed on the eagle's breast. More than 8.6 million pieces were struck, yet comparatively few have been certified at the Gem grade level by PCGS and NGC. At the Premium Gem (MS66) level, moreover, just four pieces have been found worthy, two at NGC and two at PCGS. At NGC, none have been graded any higher than MS66, while just one Superb Gem has been designated as such by PCGS. This example is positioned within the Condition Census, for the issue, and currently stands as one of the finest known Morgan dollars produced in 1891 at the Philadelphia Mint. NGC Census: 2 in 66, 0 finer (10/08).

Delightful 1891-CC Silver Dollar, MS66

5002 1891-CC MS66 PCGS. The availability of 1891-CC dollars has varied with time. Quantities of this issue were put into circulation as soon as the coins were minted, unlike the issues of the 1880s. Bags of these coins were also distributed at face value at various times, until the 1950s. As a result, this date was one of the most available Carson City silver dollars in the first half of the 20th century. As a result of this early distribution, few coins were left in the vaults by the time of the great Treasury release of the 1960s. When large quantities of other dates were released in this flood, the 1891-CC became fairly uncommon by comparison. Today, this date is much less available in Mint State than the issues of the 1880s.

The present coin is a stellar example of this historic date. Mint luster abounds on the flawless surfaces. The design elements are fully brought up by the impressive strike. Just a hint of golden toning enhances the periphery of the reverse. Population: 41 in 66, 1 finer (11/08).

Remarkable Superb Gem 1891-CC Morgan Dollar, VAM-4

5003 1891-CC MS67 NGC. VAM-4. A scarce variety that features a faintly repunched mintmark. This is an exciting piece that offers amazingly clean surfaces and a rich, frosty glow across both sides that induces a pleasing cartwheel sheen in the fields. Boldly struck, with just a hint of incompleteness noted directly above the ear, where faint roller marks may have inhibited a full striking impression. Overall, however, a remarkable specimen that will entice the specialist in Carson City dollars; especially since it is one of only two examples of the '91-CC (all varieties) graded at MS67: one apiece at NGC and PCGS (10/08).

Vibrant 1891-O Dollar, MS65

5004 1891-O MS65 PCGS. Both sides of this O-mint Gem are awash with vibrant luster, and are essentially devoid of toning. Some design detail occurs in the centers, areas that are ordinarily flat. The date, another typical area of weakness, is bold on this specimen. A couple of light contacts and grazes on each side are not disturbing. PCGS grades none finer.

Appealing 1891-S Dollar, MS67

5005 1891-S MS67 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Jack Lee 2. The 1891-S is usually seen with a generous amount of eye appeal (David Bowers, 2005). And this Superb Gem generates extraordinary eye appeal, as evident from the following combination of attributes: exquisitely struck design elements, including crisp definition in the hair over Liberty's ear and on the eagle's breast feathers; vibrant luster that exudes from both sides; and impeccably preserved surfaces that display whispers of reddish-brown patination at portions of the peripheries, slightly more noticeable on the reverse. Population: 7 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Magnificent 1891-S Dollar, MS67 From the Norweb Collection

5006 1891-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Norweb. The 1891-S Morgan dollar comes from a mintage of 5.296 million pieces. Representatives of this issue are available through the near-Gem level of preservation, as evident from perusal of the PCGS/NGC population data. The number of certified Gems drops significantly, and the two services have graded fewer than 70 Premium Gems, a mere nine MS67s, and none finer.

Radiant luster emanates from both sides of this MS67 offering, each of which is essentially untoned. An attentive strike manifests itself in strong definition on the design elements, including near-complete detail in the hair over Liberty's ear and on the eagle's breast feathers. Smooth surfaces are impeccably preserved. We mention a few minuscule marks on Liberty's face solely for pedigree purposes. This is a great coin with a great provenance.

Premium Gem 1892 Silver Dollar

5007 1892 MS66 PCGS. Although an easily available date in most grades, the 1892 Morgan dollar is a rarity in Premium Gem, and Superb quality examples are unknown. Not only is this example tied for the finest certified, but it exhibits exceptional aesthetic appeal. Both sides are fully brilliant and highly lustrous with radiant mint frost. Although the hair above Liberty's ear is a trifle soft, it can be considered a full strike for the issue. Aside from a few scattered surface ticks on each side, the obverse and reverse are pristine. The offering of Morgan dollars in the present sale includes two different examples of this date certified MS66, the other piece graded by NGC. This is remarkable as we have only offered one example at this grade level in the last 13 years, and that coin was certified by ANACS. Population: 2 in 66, 0 finer (11/08). (#7212)

Interesting MS66 1892-CC Dollar

5008 1892-CC MS66 PCGS. As one of the later Carson City dollar issues that was virtually absent from the GSA sales, high-end examples of the 1892-CC Morgan are exceedingly elusive and highly prized by today's collectors. The present piece should satisfy even the most discerning series collector, immensely lustrous with occasional whispers of pale silver-gray patina visible in the fields. The well-defined portrait and eagle are carefully preserved with hints of twinkling frost on the high points. A lovely Premium Gem that offers memorable eye appeal. Population: 16 in 66, 2 finer (11/08).

Ex: PCGS Tour, NFL Set

5009 1892-CC MS66 PCGS. Ex: PCGS Tour/NFL Set. The 1892-CC dollar was paid out in a certain quantity during the San Francisco and Treasury releases of the 1960s and earlier, though by the time of the GSA sales, the cupboard was bare. The issue is an in-demand condition rarity at the Premium Gem level, and the offering of this widely observed piece is a great opportunity to score a numismatic touchdown. Dappled gold-orange and cyan shadings drape immensely lustrous fields and crisply detailed devices. Well-preserved overall; an apparent flaw at the upper reverse just above (S)T(ATES) is a strike-through, as evidenced by the presence of similar texture on and off the nearby denticle feature. ## Terrific Premium Gem 1892-O Dollar

5010 1892-O MS66 PCGS. Series enthusiasts are well aware of the challenge posed by the 1892-O dollar, in terms of both preservation and attractiveness. In his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, Q. David Bowers quotes Van Allen and Mallis: "This is probably the most consistently flat struck date of the entire Morgan series ... A small number of full strikes exist, however." Bowers also cites Wayne Miller as joining the "thumbs-down chorus." Bowers himself joins said chorus, making unflattering comparisons to the notoriously poorly produced 1891-O issue and bemoaning its poor definition.

Amid the mass of mediocre pieces, however, is an element of hope. Wayne Miller, writing in his Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook of 1982, noted that a bag of 1,000 1892-O dollars came to light in 1977, and it "contained a considerable number of fully struck Gem pieces." Q. David Bowers suggests that most of the high-end examples extant today come from that source. Certainly, such an origin is plausible, though by no means certain, for the present Premium Gem.

The strike, though not absolute at the highest parts of the portrait, is certainly above-average for the issue, and the well-defined feathers on the eagle's breast offer considerable frost. Impressively lustrous and carefully preserved surfaces exhibit only the faintest wisps of patina. Incredible visual appeal for this supremely challenging issue. Population: 4 in 66, 1 finer (11/08).

Remarkable 1892-O Dollar, MS67
The Finest Certified at Either Service

5011 1892-O MS67 PCGS. The Treasury release of millions of Morgan dollars in the early 1960s made some rarities within the series become common almost overnight. Without this knowledge, traditional data, such as mintage figures and certified population charts would make little sense. As an example, we compare two issues similar at their time of production. The 1892-O dollar saw a mintage of 2.7 million pieces and, six years later, a total of 4.4 million 1898-O dollars were struck. The mintages are, in the scope of the series and numismatics in general, quite similar, yet the 1898 O-mint Morgans are far more available today. The reason why is explained by Dave Bowers in his Guidebook of Morgan Silver Dollars (2007):

> "The 1898-O is the first of the 'big three' rarities released from a long-sealed vault in November 1962 to ignite the great Treasury-release treasure hunt. Previously, in Mint State the 1898-O was a rarity. Today, the 1898-O is plentiful in all grades, including Gem Mint State." Discussing the current issue, Bowers notes that "during the 1962 through 1964 Treasury release a deluge issued forth from a vault containing New Orleans coins, put under seal in 1929. However, the 1892-O was not among those found in great quantity."

Armed with this knowledge, it is easy to understand why PCGS has graded a total of 1,690 1898-O dollars as MS66 and an additional 135 coins at the MS67 level, yet only four examples of the 1892-O issue have been certified as MS66, with only one piece—the coin offered here—being deemed fine enough for the coveted MS67 designation (11/08).

Subtle sea-green and russet coloration clings to the borders of this otherwise cream-toned Superb Gem dollar. The strike is substantially nicer than typically encountered on this O-mint issue and, as the MS67 determination would suggest, the surfaces are free of visible abrasions. Uninterrupted, satiny luster further justifies the assigned grade. This 1898-O dollar is in a league of its own, being the finest certified—without company—at either service.

Top-Drawer 1892-S Morgan Dollar, MS67 With Lovely Original Toning Ex: Clapp, Eliasberg

5012 1892-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Eliasberg. Although the stock and financial markets are in turmoil—or, more likely—because they are in turmoil, the market for exceptional rare coins has been remarkably healthy and vibrant. While part of this is due to buyers seeking alternative investments to the normal lineup of stocks, bonds, and mutual funds, the fact is that collector coins remain at the base of this phenomenal market. Although the past cannot predict the future, truly rare, high-end coins have turned in notable returns when held for long periods of time. One need look no further than the memorable, once-in-a-lifetime Lemus Collection patterns assembled by David Queller, offered elsewhere in this sale, for tangible evidence.

While patterns may be considered a somewhat esoteric numismatic specialty, Morgan dollars are part of the bedrock of U.S. coin collecting. The Morgan dollar coins were quite unpopular when they premiered in 1878, the creative efforts of a new, untested Englishman, George T. Morgan, whom the Mint had hired only two years earlier, in 1876. But over the years, a confluence of factors have conspired to make them today among America's most desired and widely collected coin series. Their large size, intrinsic value, and classic beauty are part of that equation. But a first major impetus toward increased collector interest was the Pittman Act of 1918, which spurred the melting of more than 270 million silver dollars, with the great majority of them Morgan dollars.

The collecting community as a whole first began pursuing the business strike issues, as opposed to the proofs specifically made for collectors, in the couple of decades following that great silver inferno. More recently, rising silver prices, the historic GSA sales of Morgan dollars, and even the modern introduction of the silver American Eagles have all contributed to steadily increasing popularity—and prices—of this legendary series.

A recent historic landmark must be noted before we turn to the present example. A recent sale of an MS67 PCGS-graded 1893-S Morgan dollar, the acknowledged key to the series, surpassed the million mark for the first time ever. That coin, the Cornelius Vermeule-Jack Lee 2 specimen, was sold by Chris Napolitano to Laura Sperber of Legend Numismatics, who promptly resold it to an anonymous collector.

According to a recently published online CoinLink article by Greg Reynolds, Napolitano acted as agent for the seller, a collector who "likes to buy really neat coins." The buyer of the coin (to quote Sperber), "... has been collecting since he was a kid," "... has been buying Morgans since the 1970s," and "has one of the most intense passions for Morgans" that Sperber has ever seen.

There you have the story of Morgan dollar collecting in a nutshell: a sale of what is almost certainly now the finest known 1893-S Morgan, from one collector who likes top-drawer, "really neat" coins to another who has a passion for Morgan dollars as his sole collecting specialty.

While the present 1892-S Morgan dollar graded MS67 by PCGS (and with an illustrious pedigree) is not quite in the same league, it is not far off. We do not hesitate to say that, of the several MS67 pieces we have auctioned over the last dozen-plus years, this piece is at the top of the pack. Simply splendid, strictly original patina is present in both sides, with mellow amber-gold predominating, but the obverse adds a dash of ice-blue near the lower rim. Liberty's cheek, and indeed the surfaces throughout, are remarkably clean and free of mentionable distractions. The strike is bold and equally problem-free, and the wonderful luster has a slight semiprooflike gleam in the fields, completing this marvelous package.

The appearance of an 1892-S Morgan dollar in the highest Uncirculated grades is an understandably infrequent occurrence. Nonetheless, Heritage has handled some even-dozen appearances of the 1892-S from MS66 to MS68 PCGS in the last 18 years—some more than once—for an average of about one every 18 months or so. The phenomenal Jack Lee-Jack Lee 2 coin, the only MS68 PCGS specimen, brought a strong $322,000 in our November 2005 Dallas Signature auction (lot 2309). The last time we offered an MS67 PCGS specimen before the present lot was in 2004, and we saw five such occurrences between 2001 and 2004. Those Superb Gems all ranged from a low of $115,000 (the previous appearance of this coin) to $127,500 on the high side.

Interestingly, however, we handled one MS66 PCGS piece twice in 2006 and 2007, and both times it brought much more than an MS67 had only a few years before. The high-end MS66 piece in our 2006 FUN Auction (Heritage, 12/2006, lot 3319) garnered an amazing $230,000, and when it failed to upgrade and again was offered later, in a new MS66 PCGS holder as part of the Jackson Hole Collection (Heritage, 4/2007, lot 76), it brought $189,750.

As we said earlier, the past does not predict the future. But fortune has certainly smiled on those who buy top-drawer, eminently collectible coins, not because they want to resell them—but because they want to treasure them. Population: 5 in 67, 1 finer (11/08).

Standout 1893 Silver Dollar, MS66

5013 1893 MS66 NGC. Long regarded as one of the more difficult Morgan dollar issues from the Philadelphia Mint, only the 1894 and 1895 issues are more elusive to find in circulated grades. The limited original mintage (378,000 business strikes) of this date guarantees its continued popularity among Morgan dollar specialists. Uncirculated examples are always available for a price, but Gems are very scarce and Premium Gems such as the present coin are virtually unheard of. Indeed, between NGC and PCGS, only six pieces have been certified at this lofty grade, with one finer (10/08).

A brilliant and frosty Gem with nearly immaculate fields. A couple of microscopic milling marks are located on Liberty's vulnerable cheek, these only being mentioned for future pedigree purposes. The peak of the 3 in the date is recut. As the strike is good, this Condition Census piece will be the standout of any collection of Morgans.

Fabulous Gem 1893-CC Dollar

5014 1893-CC MS65 NGC. This fresh Gem is tied for numerically finest known to NGC (11/08). Minimally toned surfaces sport vibrant luster. Only a hint of golden patina visits the rims. Though a few shallow luster grazes are visible on each side, these flaws have little effect on the visual appeal. Most notable about the present example is its strike; unlike many examples, which are so flatly struck as to have attracted the unflattering nickname of "pancake," this coin offers bold central striking definition, both at the often-weak hair over Liberty's ear and on the eagle's breast feathers. In addition, the peripheral detail is strong.

Though the Carson City Mint was on pace to have a decent level of Morgan dollar production in 1893, shifting political winds intervened, and June 1, 1893, saw the end of coinage in Nevada. As recounted by Rusty Goe in his The Mint on Carson Street:

> "Newly elected president Grover Cleveland, parleying with a divided Congress, determined that the Sherman Silver Purchase Act had failed, and needed to be repealed. Silver dollar production was suspended across the nation, pending the passage of the repeal act in November of 1893. Treasury Secretary John G. Carlisle and Mint Director Robert E. Preston seized the opportunity to deactivate Carson City's coinage operations, reducing it to an Assay Office. And then it was over, with 1893 being the last date ever stamped on a U.S. coin with the 'CC' mintmark."

Singular MS66 1893-CC Dollar

5015 1893-CC MS66 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. Among the most interesting coincidences in U.S. Mint lore is the "Rule of 23," which suggests that mints will last for a period of approximately 23 years or extend their lifespan for over a century. Charlotte (1838-1861), Dahlonega (same years), and the first iteration of the New Orleans Mint (same years) all fit into the former category, while Philadelphia, Denver, and San Francisco have enjoyed at least a century of longevity. The "Rule of 23" bodes well for West Point, which passed through its "danger year" of 2007 largely without incident.

After the Southern gold mints were shuttered, another Mint began operations in 1870, this one in a dusty town in the Nevada desert, Carson City. Like Charlotte and Dahlonega, it had a tumultuous history, with production in fits and starts. It did not take anything like the Civil War to shut down the Carson City Mint, however; instead, an administrative decision demoted Carson City to an Assay Office in 1893, 23 years after production started.

In its final year of existence as a mint, Carson City struck both gold coins and silver dollars. Judging by the combined certified population, which shows this to be the only MS66 1893-CC Morgan dollar with any reflectivity designation (11/08), there is a strong argument to be made for this example as the single most important representative of the issue ever put up for auction. The crisply struck portrait and eagle are carefully preserved, and the luster is powerful; though light gray shadings drape most of the fields, each side shows substantial mirrors, and one could make the case that the present piece deserves a Prooflike designation. Eye appeal is spectacular. An incredible opportunity for the Morgan dollar connoisseur.

Charming Choice 1893-O Dollar, Ex: Wayne Miller

5016 1893-O MS64 PCGS. Ex: Wayne Miller. Miller, in his Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook, described this issue in unflattering terms: "It is especially elusive in uncirculated condition. Most such specimens exhibit an excessive amount of bagmarks, which often concentrate on Liberty's face, and indifferent luster." This piece pedigreed to him is a delightful exception, with substantially above-average striking definition and few flaws in the portrait area. Dabs of blue-violet and gold-orange patina grace the margins. The obverse shows prominent cartwheel luster, while the reverse is substantially prooflike. PCGS has graded just seven coins finer (11/08).

Intriguing Choice XF 1893-S Dollar

5017 1893-S XF45 PCGS. With a small (disputed but no more than 100,000 pieces) mintage coined from a single set of dies, the 1893-S dollar is one of the easiest key issues for detecting alterations. A small die line within the incuse T of LIBERTY on the obverse appears on all genuine examples, even those that are heavily worn. Of course, this diagnostic is equally applicable to higher-grade pieces such as the present Choice XF coin. The pale pearl-gray surfaces remain noticeably lustrous, particularly at the obverse margins and the reverse fields, with light wear concentrated at the well struck high points. (#7226)

Highly Demanded 1893-S Dollar, AU53

5018 1893-S AU53 PCGS. Key-date coins. Lincoln cent collectors have their 1909-S VDB anchor coin, Mercury dime enthusiasts revel at the mere mention of a 1916-D ten cent piece, and Morgan dollar specialists covet the 1893-S issue. Demand for these special date/mintmark combinations is incessant as they are pursued not only by collectors of the series, but also by investors, general hobbyists, hoarders, and even non-collectors who remember learning of a certain key-date coin many years ago, but now have the money to purchase an example.

The current offering is in the grade range most heavily sought by the majority of those seeking an 1893-S dollar; the cost of lesser examples provides an incentive to wait for a finer piece, yet the price tag for high grade specimens increases dramatically and quickly reaches the six-figure mark. This picture-perfect AU53 piece displays ample luster and is free of distractions requiring mention here. (#7226)

Interesting AU53 1893-S Dollar

5019 1893-S AU53 NGC. With the Treasury releases of the 1960s, a number of Morgan dollar issues previously considered great rarities were reduced to commonality, but the utter lack of any concentrated grouping of 1893-S dollars only reinforced its aura as a key date. The present example is in substantially above-average condition, pleasingly lustrous with warm gold-orange peripheral shadings around substantially silver-gray centers. Only a touch of modest wear affects the highest parts of the design, and though the fields show a number of wispy abrasions, the remaining luster is impressive. NGC has graded 63 finer examples (11/08). (#7226)

Attractive AU53 1893-S Dollar

5020 1893-S AU53 NGC. David Bowers writes in Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States that: "It may have been that tens of thousands of 1893-S dollars were melted under terms of the 1918 Pittman Act. Still many thousands were released into circulation." This lightly circulated example retains a decent amount of luster and whispers of light tan color around the borders. Partially prooflike fields establish mild contrast with the well defined motifs. A few minute marks on the cheek, neck, and left obverse field are consistent with the grade and do not detract. (#7226)

Widely Sought AU53 1893-S Dollar

5021 1893-S AU53 PCGS. A relatively high grade example of this important key date Morgan dollar, silver-gray in color with liberal portions of luster remaining on each side. Only the lightest wear is visible on the highpoints, and there is just a hint of striking weakness in the central regions. Wispy hairlines in the fields are accompanied by a small number of noticeable milling marks and abrasions, a few of which stray onto the central devices.

The proof-only 1895 aside, this issue has long been recognized as the premier rarity in the Morgan dollar series. The election of President Grover Cleveland and the financial panic caused by the hoarding of gold during this period marked a shift in government policy toward the minting of silver dollars. The repeal of the Sherman Act became law in the winter of 1893 and mintages were drastically reduced. Just 100,000 pieces were struck, a tiny figure by Morgan dollar standards, and the vast majority were either heavily circulated or later melted. Today, even XF examples can be extremely challenging to locate, and the occasional appearance of an AU or Mint State piece never fails to capture significant attention from specialists. This coin may provide an ideal choice for the budget-conscious collector, or for anyone needing an example of the issue who cannot afford to spend a six-figure sum in order to purchase a Mint State specimen. Ex: Denver Signature (Heritage, 8/2006), lot 5370, which realized $24,035. (#7226)

Captivating AU55 1893-S Dollar

5022 1893-S AU55 NGC. Almost since the beginning of serious Morgan dollar date collecting, the 1893-S has been a hotly desired dollar, and that enthusiasm has been unwaning. As Q. David Bowers writes in his Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, "Unlike its kissing cousin the 1892-S, the 1893-S has always had a sterling reputation with collectors." A Morgan dollar may be only 90% silver, but an 1893-S is always 100% collectible! This Choice AU piece is even more desirable than most, immensely lustrous with excellent definition on the portrait. Hints of peach and gold peripheral toning surround minimally worn pearl-gray centers. (#7226)

Noteworthy Near-Mint 1893-S Dollar

5023 1893-S AU58 NGC. The 1893-S is a prominent rarity among Morgan dollars, with an interesting twist: a plurality of known survivors are in VF condition. Such a grade is indicative of a specific, moderate-to-light amount of wear, that is inconsistent with the experiences of other issues. Many have concentrations at Fine or lower, while a handful of Treasury and GSA release issues have higher modes. What could have caused the distinctive wear pattern?

Q. David Bowers, in several of his written references, relates the anecdotal evidence supplied by E.S. Thresher, who wrote in the July 1925 edition of The Numismatist that the 1893-S was one of only a handful of Morgan dollar issues he had not encountered in circulation. This led Bowers to speculate that perhaps the late 1920s saw the release of most of the 1893-S dollars to Rocky Mountain states, where coin collectors were scarce, and there they circulated until silver dollars fell out of fashion for general commerce.

The exact reason seems unknowable, yet the Bowers thought-experiment leads to some interesting possibilities. A hard fact, on the other hand, is that the 1893-S dollar is elusive in AU grades and a condition rarity in Mint State. This near-Mint survivor, impressively lustrous beneath layers of gold-orange and silver-gray patina, is well-defined with only a touch of friction across the high points. A few small abrasions on the cheek and wispy marks in the fields have little impact on the eye appeal. Census: 13 in 58, 28 finer (11/08). (#7226)

Splendid Near-Gem 1893-S Morgan Dollar

5024 1893-S MS64 PCGS. During The Great Treasury Release of 1962 to 1964, some Morgan dollar issues that were previously considered rarities became common almost overnight. The 1903-O dollar is perhaps the most famous example; barely known in Uncirculated condition prior to the Treasury's release of millions of silver dollars in the early 1960s, the 1903-O plunged from a retail price of $1,500 per Mint State coin to approximately $15 each. Similar scenarios were applicable to other previously scarce dates, although the 1893-S issue was peculiarly absent from the flurry of activity. Dave Bowers, in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars (2007), recounts the time: "... among the great Treasury release coins of 1962 through 1964, no bag or even small group was found, although many stray pieces were identified ... ." Bowers continues by noting that nearly all of the "strays" were in VF condition. In fact, Morgan dollar researchers unanimously agree that the largest concentration of 1893-S survivors are found in the VF grade range. This opinion is duly illustrated in the NGC Census Report and the PCGS Population Report, where VF examples substantially outnumber pieces in other grade ranges.

The reason for the absence of 1893-S dollars in the Treasury hoard, and for their lack of availability in Mint State condition, can only be explained through conjecture and will likely remain an unsolved mystery, considering the monumental research efforts afforded to this series in the past few decades. As the years pass, government archives are scrutinized, overseas hoards repatriated, and more books are written on the subject. And after more than 20 years of third party grading, the combined certified coin population—representing nearly 4 million Morgan dollars—has seemed to stabilize, with little change to the census of key-date issues. It is safe to conclude, therefore, that the 1893-S is—and always will be—the most desirable and elusive of all business strike Morgan dollars.

Subtle, satiny luster blankets the fields, which show semiprooflike qualities when viewed at an angle. This correlates well to Dave Bowers' statement that "about half of the known Mint State coins have a degree of prooflike character." A nearly indiscernible degree of light golden toning is evenly distributed across both sides, to the point that some would qualify this coin as "untoned." For the sake of future identification, we note a 3-mm strike through error emanating from the upper right corner of the T in UNITED and extending diagonally into the left reverse field. The specimen offered here is, at first, unbelievable. When one mentions an 1893-S dollar the word "circulated" is soon introduced to the conversation. Rarely does a near-Gem or better example enter the market. The fact that we offer another high-end 1893-S dollar in this sale—that example grading MS65—is to numismatists what a total solar eclipse is to astronomers. Amazingly, we did have such an occurrence in our March 1995 Atlanta ANA sale, where an MS64 piece was offered along side a stunning MS65 survivor. Now, nearly 14 years later, such an event unfolds before us once again.

Extraordinary 1893-S Dollar, MS65
The Rarest Business Strike Morgan Dollar

5025 1893-S MS65 NGC. Only one die pair is known for the 1893-S silver dollars, and it was utilized to coin 100,000 pieces, according to long established records, although recent research suggests that the real mintage was just 77,000 pieces. Either figure places this issue at the top of the list of lowest business strike mintages of the series (discounting the 12,000 1895 dollars supposedly struck but never seen).

The existence of one die pair, with specific obverse identification features, makes authentication a simple process. In the past, many counterfeit 1893-S dollars have been made by adding an S mintmark to an 1893 dollar, or altering an 1898-S to resemble an 1893-S. The following two obverse die characteristics will distinguish the genuine 1893-S dollars from those counterfeit or altered pieces that lack such characteristics. First, a raised diagonal die line begins at the left top of the upright of T in LIBERTY just below the crossbar, and angles up to the right across the crossbar, meeting the extreme top of that letter nearly above the right upright of the same letter. A continuation of the die line (or a second, nearly parallel die line) can be seen between the left and center leaves above the Y. The die line remains visible on all examples except those with the T worn away. Some examples have dirt filling the letters that must be removed before authentication is possible. Second, a small rust mark or die lump can be seen within the left foot of the R. Like the diagonal die line, this die lump or rust mark can be seen in nearly any grade encountered, as long as the R remains visible.

Like the 1889-CC and a few other issues, there have never been reports of large quantities of Mint State 1893-S Morgan dollars on the market. Dave Bowers comments: "Apart from 20 Mint State coins said to have been found in a bag in Great Falls, Montana, and reported by Wayne Miller, I do not know of any group of high-grade coins found in the 1950s or later. However, Walter Breen reported that Harry Warner, once active in the bulk sale of silver dollars, had handled a full bag. If so, then we may all be surprised and delighted someday if these appear." Meanwhile, Bowers estimates the total existing population of 1893-S Morgan dollars in all Mint State grades is between 61 and 83 coins. Such figures are consistent with current population data. PCGS records 34 Mint State coins, including five in MS65 and two in MS67. NGC records 29 Mint State pieces, with just two in MS65 and one in MS67. Bowers continues to state that about half of the known Mint State population has some prooflike characteristics, yet only a single PCGS example has received a designation of Prooflike, an MS62 PL coin.

The present Gem ranks as one of just 10 submissions that NGC and PCGS have certified in MS65 or finer grades, a figure that certainly must includes some resubmissions. Although a specific Census of these coins has never been attempted, so far as we know, it seems reasonable to suggest that the true population includes four or five MS65 coins and two that grade MS67. Both sides have fully brilliant silver-white luster and a faint champagne tint, with satiny fields and frosty devices. The hair over Liberty's ear is a bit indistinct as usual, and the breast feathers are slightly merged, but the remaining detail on both sides is sharp. A few tiny marks are present on Liberty's cheek, but the remaining obverse and reverse surfaces are excellently preserved.

Condition Rarity 1894 Dollar, MS65

5026 1894 MS65 PCGS. With a mintage of just 110,000 coins, this issue is the first Morgan dollar rarity from the Philadelphia Mint, followed by the proof-only 1895, and the conditionally rare 1901. While a few bags of 1894 Morgan dollars turned up during the middle of the 20th century, it does not appear that this date was part of the Treasury release that took place from 1962 to 1964.

Mint State examples of this date are generally found at the lowest levels, and true Gems are extremely rare. The combined Mint State populations of NGC and PCGS show that approximately 1,800 examples of this date have been certified in MS60 or higher grades, but only 28 of those pieces have been graded MS65 or finer.

Wayne Miller provides information about the distribution of this issue his Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook: "Since the 1894-P was minted in fewer quantities than any other business strike dollar except for the 1893-S, it is scarce in all grades. However, it is not as rare in Uncirculated condition as might be expected. Because of its low mintage many pieces were undoubtedly set aside from the first days of issue. A solid bag of uncirculated 1894-P dollars surfaced in Great Falls, Montana in the early 1960s. These coins were widely dispersed, and account for a considerable percentage of the BU 1894-P dollars now in existence."

This Gem is housed in a green-label PCGS holder, and it exhibits frosty silver luster with a few tiny specks or splashes of gold toning limited to the obverse. Both sides are sharply detailed, including the hair over Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. The surfaces are particularly pleasing, with only a few tiny luster grazes on each side and one minor abrasion under the S of PLURIBUS on the obverse. Population: 20 in 65, 4 finer (12/08). (#7228)

Desirable 1894 Morgan Dollar, MS66 Tied for Finest Certified

5027 1894 MS66 PCGS. CAC. The model for the Morgan dollar, Ms. Anna Williams, was apparently unaffected by the celebrity status bestowed upon her by the hundreds of millions of silver dollars that showed her profile. The following commentary was included in her obituary in The Numismatist in 1926: "The story of how Miss Williams came to be the model has not been told often. She was besieged for the story many times, but in later years she smilingly referred to it as 'an incident of my youth,' and preferred to talk of her work in the kindergarten schools of the city (Philadelphia) which she supervised."

The portrait of Ms. Williams is the critical area for grading Mint State Morgan dollars. It is seldom found unblemished with a smooth, rounded cheek. This is especially true for the 1894, the second scarcest Philadelphia issue in the series. Several bags and numerous rolls were released in the 1950s and 1960s, but most of these coins were lower graded examples in the MS60-64 range. To date, only three other examples of the 1894 have been certified in MS66 condition (all four are PCGS), and predictably none are finer.

As mentioned, the portrait of Liberty is remarkably smooth and free from the abrasions normally encountered. The surfaces are smooth, satiny, and brilliant throughout. Each side is fully struck with fine detailing over the ear of Liberty as well as the breast of the eagle. A rare opportunity for the Morgan specialist. Population: 4 in 66, 0 finer (10/08).

Sharp 1894 Dollar
MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike
Finest of Three Certified Specimens

5028 1894 MS64 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. The PCGS insert is labeled "Wayne Miller Plate Coin." The 1894 Morgan dollar has the lowest business strike mintage (110,000 pieces) of any Philadelphia issue, except 1895. Prooflike coins are very rare. PCGS and NGC have graded only 16 "regular" Prooflikes, some of which are likely resubmissions, and the former service has certified just three as Deep Mirror Prooflike, of which the near-Gem offered here is the finest. NGC has certified no DMPLs.

A veneer of light champagne-tan color covers both sides, each of which projects pleasing field-device contrast. An exacting strike leaves strong definition on the design elements, including sharp detail in the hair over Liberty's ear and on the eagle's breast feathers. A few trivial handling marks barely preclude Gem classification.

The Eliasberg 1894-O Morgan Dollar, MS65 Tied for the Finest Certified

5029 1894-O MS65 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Eliasberg. When he was preparing an exhibit of his collection in the 1950s, Louis E. Eliasberg, Sr., had special wooden display frames made to house his collection. The coins remained in those frames until the 1990s, when the coins were removed in preparation for the auction sale. As a result of the long-term storage in those frames, many of the silver coins acquired a distinctive and highly attractive patina that is almost unmistakable.

The Eliasberg Collection had many truly memorable Morgan dollars. Coins such as the 1889-CC in the present sale, certified as MS68, came from the same wooden display case as the present piece. The 1892-S, 1893-O, and 1893-S Morgan dollars in the Eliasberg Collection also ranked among the best of their kind. The present 1894-O Morgan, in its modest grade of MS65, still ranks as one of the finest that has ever been certified. It carries a pedigree back to 1906 or earlier, just a decade after it was struck.

Housed in a green-label PCGS holder, this Gem is tied for the finest that service has graded. NGC has also certified a small number of MS65 examples, but none finer. It has the distinctive Eliasberg patina, an original and memorable combination of light yellow, russet, gold, and pale brown toning that deepens toward the periphery.

Exceptional 1894-O Dollar MS62 Deep Mirror Prooflike One of the Two Finest Certified

5030 1894-O MS62 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. 1894-O dollars have a poor reputation. Indeed, David Bowers contends in A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars that: "Mint State examples of the 1894-O dollar are often wretched in appearance. A great deal of searching will be needed to find an example that is decent or above average (but not sharp) in striking details and with attractive luster."

Bowers also mentions that Prooflike 1894-O dollars are elusive, and when encountered, are likely to be "of low contrast, bagmarked, and unattractive." Their elusiveness is apparent when perusing PCGS/NGC population data. These services have certified just 20 Prooflike examples, and a mere five Deep Mirror Prooflike coins, of which our MS62 specimen is one of the two finest.

Pleasing field-motif contrast is visible on both sides, each of which displays a few wisps of light tan color. The design elements exhibit a better-than-average strike; the hair above Liberty's ear and the breast feathers, while not quite full, still show nice detail. A few small contact marks define the grade, but in actuality are not all that bad.

Reflective 1894-S Morgan Dollar, MS67 Tied for the Finest Certified

5031 1894-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. While hardly a common date, with a mintage of only 1,260,000 coins, the 1894-S is the most available date of the year, especially in higher grades up to MS65. However, in MS67 the story of availability is much different than it is in MS64 or MS65. The two PCGS certified pieces are the only MS67 silver dollars to carry the 1894 date.

Dave Bowers calls the date a "numismatic delight" in A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars. He continues: "Most are well struck, lustrous, and pleasing to the eye. In MS-63 and MS-64 grades, examples will fit into a high-quality collection. MS-65 coins are difficult to find and justifiably more expensive." There are no unusual varieties reported for the date, with six different minor varieties recorded in the VAM reference. The only distinctive variety has a die scratch or crack on Liberty's eye.

Only three Superb Gem examples appear on the population reports, one at NGC and two at PCGS. This sharply detailed piece has remarkable surfaces with reflective, satiny luster beneath deep toning; violet and gold on the obverse and deeper lilac, gold, and blue on the reverse. Faint roller marks on each side remain from the original planchet preparation before this piece was struck. The appearance and toning suggests that it came from an old-time collection, although we have yet to determine a pedigree.

Gem Prooflike 1894-S Dollar, Ex: Jack Lee

5032 1894-S MS65 Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. All 1894-dated silver dollars are very scarce, and Gems are rarely encountered. Prooflike Gems are extremely rare, and no 1894-S dollars have been certified as MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike by either major service. This example has flashy fields and a pleasing strike. The reverse is gorgeously preserved, and the obverse has only a few faint grazes. Lightly toned caramel-gold on the portrait and the eagle's breast. Certified in a green label holder. Population: 2 in 65, 0 finer (11/08).

Pleasing Mint State 1895-O Dollar

5033 1895-O MS60 PCGS. CAC. Each side offers soft, pleasing luster with a hint of satin, far from the "dull, insipid luster" Q. David Bowers describes as common in his A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars. The strike, however, is more typical, with significant softness noted around Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast. Variable silver-rose and golden-tan toning crosses much of each side. The MS60 designation is a fair grade, considering the numerous wispy abrasions that populate the fields, yet the coin retains appreciable eye appeal and shows no trace of wear, as attested to by the PCGS certification grade and the CAC sticker. (#7236)

MS61 1895-O Silver Dollar

5034 1895-O MS61 PCGS. There are precious few Mint State coins of this popular and difficult issue to go around, and many Morgan collectors must settle, for budgetary and/or aesthetic reasons, on a high-grade circulated specimen rather than a low-Mint State piece.

This example shows rather muted luster over powder-gray patina on each side, which serves to lessen the effect of the numerous mostly light abrasions that dot both the device high points and the fields. This strictly Mint State coin will make a nice acquisition for the advanced collector who cannot justify the much greater expense of an MS62 or MS63. Population: 28 in 61, 73 finer (11/08).

Seldom Encountered 1895-O Morgan Dollar, MS62

5035 1895-O MS62 PCGS. In 1895, silver dollars were definitely not needed or wanted by the American public. The provisions of the Sherman Silver Purchase Act of July 14, 1890 required the government to produce a vast quantity of these unnecessary coins every month. The thankless task of coining these unwanted coins fell heavily on the staff of the New Orleans Mint during much of the 1890s.

Probably because the coiners knew the majority of these coins would be stored in vaults, far from critical eyes, the staff took no special pains with quality control. In fact, their main concern was to turn out as many coins as possible, in the shortest time possible. In an effort to lessen die wear and prevent breakage, with the resulting delays, the coiners set the dies farther apart than usual, resulting in poor striking quality on almost all specimens coined. Muted mint luster was also a consequence of this casual approach to coinage.

The recorded mintage for the 1895-O Morgan dollar was an anemic 450,000 pieces. Though most of these were stored away, perhaps 100,000 pieces were released into circulation at the time of issue. Coins continued to be released sporadically over the years, until the supply was gone. Apparently, there were no 1895-O coins left in storage by the time of the Treasury releases in the 1960s. Q. David Bowers has stated, "The rarity and importance of the 1895-O in Mint State cannot be overemphasized."

The present coin has a better than average strike for this date, with much detail discernable on Liberty's hair and the eagle's breast. The luster is subdued, as usually seen on this date. Mottled gray and lilac toning accent the fields, and handling marks are consistent with the grade. This offering is an important opportunity to acquire this historic coin in Mint State. (#7236)

Radiant Silver-White Gem 1895-O Morgan Dollar

5036 1895-O MS65 PCGS. Five pieces. Believe it or not, that is the sum total of PCGS-certified 1895-O Morgan dollars in MS65 condition. If one adds the pieces certified finer than MS65 at PCGS, the number grows to seven coins—one each in MS66 and MS67.

Despite the incredible condition rarity of the issue, Heritage is privileged to offer two Gem 1895-O examples in the present sale. This business-strike issue has one of the steepest grade-price appreciation curves in the entire Morgan dollar series as Mint State is approached and passed, providing an enormous incentive for coins to be broken out of their slabs and resubmitted in the hopes of achieving a finer grade.

In his 2006 Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, third edition, Q. David Bowers offers these thoughts concerning the 1895-O Morgan issue (emphasis ours:

> "When researching my silver dollar Encyclopedia, I was startled to learn that alone among business strike Morgan dollars, the 1895-O was not represented in any Treasury hoards or releases; at least, I was not able to find any evidence that they were. I believe that the 1895-O in high levels of Mint State is one of the great unrecognized rarities in American coinage; actually, it has been recognized somewhat, as the market price indicates, but I do not believe its true potential has been appreciated."

Of the fewer than half-million coins—450,000 to be exact—produced in New Orleans in 1895, Bowers believes that "well over 100,000" of them were subsequently melted in the Pittman Act furnaces. Bowers provides an estimate of eight to 15 pieces surviving in MS65 or better. We suspect the actual number is much closer to eight than 15.

The pieces in the present sale mark only the fourth and fifth times (counting repeat appearances, such as the Ex: Norweb coin) that Heritage has offered 1895-Os in Gem condition; interestingly enough, though, in our July 1993 ANA Sale we also offered two different Gem coins, in one of the first sales in our Permanent Auction Archives. (We have also offered the only MS67 PCGS specimen, as well as an MS66 NGC example, in higher grades.) If we include the number of auction appearances of MS65 or finer certified examples from Heritage and others, we reach a total of eight auction appearances in the last 18 years, or an average of about one Gem or finer every 2.5 years.

But statistics do no justice to individuals. The present coin is silver-white, with radiant cartwheel luster and the barest tinge of gold at the extreme rims. While the Norweb Gem 1895-O is beautifully toned and will appeal to those who appreciate toned coins, this piece's wonderful luster and brilliance will appeal to the other major group of Morgan collectors. The few abrasions noted on the cheek, while not insignificant, are consistent with the Gem grade and not overly distracting, considering the monumental importance of this piece. This is a coin that would be appealing even if it were a common O-mint Morgan, such as an 1883-O. Although the hair over the ear shows typical O-mint weakness, the eagle's breast feathers are much sharper than normally seen for the issue, and there are few other distractions noted on either side. A single tiny darker toning spot on the reverse rim, at 7:30, is mentioned for pedigree purposes.

The importance of the present offering to Morgan dollar collectors simply cannot be overstated.

Marvelous Gem 1895-O Morgan Dollar
The Celebrated Norweb Specimen

5037 1895-O MS65 PCGS. The 1895-O is one of several Morgan dollar issues that has long beguiled collectors, novices and series veterans alike. With a starting mintage of 450,000 pieces, the expectation of an elusive date is established quickly, and the price for a mid-range circulated example-several hundred dollars in VF, approaching a thousand in XF-meets that expectation. What happens as the grade approaches Mint State, however, is a mind-boggling level of appreciation: even in Choice or MS64 condition, the 1895-O is one of only a handful of Morgan dollar issues to command six figures.

Q. David Bowers weighs in on the 1895-O in an entry for his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars: "The 1895-O is often seen in circulated grades ... There are scads of high EF and AU coins around, indicating that many 1895-O dollars must have been in circulation for only a short time ..."

It is a certainty, however, that those 1895-O dollars to be released did circulate, with only a handful of unworn survivors extant. Often, Mint State Morgan dollars hail from government releases of the 1950s or later, particularly the Treasury releases of the early- to mid-1960s and the GSA sales of Carson City dollars in the 1970s. Though virtually every other issue experienced a degree of increased availability from those releases, with even the 1893-S dollar turning up a handful of isolated examples, the 1895-O was left out in the cold. Continues Bowers: "The 1895-O emerged as the single circulation-strike variety that is not known to have been a part of any Treasury releases via bags."

With that source of Mint State pieces nullified, the only source of high-end 1895-O Morgan dollars is the tiny pool of survivors saved at the time of release. Paul M. Green summed it up in his Item of the Week column for the February 15, 2005 edition of Numismatic News:

> "The situation is a simple one. The 1895-O was low mintage and it was not saved by many. Whatever was not released into circulation was probably destroyed when hundreds of millions of silver dollars were melted under the Pittman Act. That meant when the bags were released, the 1895-O was not present and that is what makes it special in uncirculated grades."

Even among high-grade examples of this issue, the present coin has long been a focus of adulation, as in the catalog description for the piece when it was sold in the third auction of the Norweb Collection:

> "Nearly full brilliant surfaces are tinged with just a whisper of gold. Lustrous, frosty, and thoroughly desirable overall. This piece undoubtedly was set aside at the time of issue and it is not unreasonable to suggest that it was ordered from the New Orleans Mint by J.W. Scott in 1895, kept in his stock, until it passed into the present collection.
>
> "In higher grades of preservation, the 1895-O is an extreme rarity. Here is one of the very finest examples."

For further description, a few notes should suffice. The peripheral color now appears to be more peach or orange than gold, acknowledging the presence of a few small areas of deeper brown patina are present near the outer devices. Both luster and strike are distinctly above-average, though a degree of softness is noted at the central high points. Still, the eye appeal and condition are amazing for the issue, and this is among the most distinguished 1895-O dollars that a collector can hope to acquire. Population: 5 in 65, 2 finer (11/08).

Premium Gem 1895-S Morgan Dollar
Lustrous and Brilliant White

5038 1895-S MS66 NGC. It has been more than three years since we have had the pleasure of offering an 1895-S Morgan dollar at the Premium Gem level, and with good reason. Simply put, they are rare. MS66 coins are definitely on the top end of the scale for this issue. (We nonetheless have the pleasure of offering two MS66 1895-S examples in this Platinum Night, the other an MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike specimen.) The 1895-S, besides being a condition rarity, has the added cachet of the 1895 date. For the collectors assembling a year set of Morgan dollars, they face either the choice of an expensive 1895-P proof coin, the 1895-O which in the higher Mint State grades is even rarer and more costly—or an 1895-S.

This is not in any sense meant to imply that the present coin is playing second fiddle. Most collectors choose to collect by date and mintmark, but the difficulty of the trio of tough 1895 issues only adds to this piece's charm.

The quality challenges that the 1895-S Morgan seeker faces are aptly summed up in this quote from Bowers' Silver Dollar Encyclopedia:

> "Most Mint State coins exist in lower levels such as MS-60 or MS-61 and are heavily bagmarked. Nearly 1,000 of these were sold as 'MS-65' in the 1970s and are from the Redfield estate. Many Mint State coins show die striations in the fields. I estimate that about 2,500 to 5,000 coins survive at this level. In MS-63, the population is in the range of 1,000 to 2,000, after which it drops sharply to just 400 to 800 at the MS-64 level. MS-65 or finer specimens are truly rare, and I estimate that only about 50 to 100 remain.
>
> "Illustrative of the elusiveness of top grade coins, Wayne Miller once examined a group of 140 Mint State coins and picked out just eight coins he liked, of which just three or four were gems.
>
> "Most Mint State coins are well struck and have excellent lustre. Many have semi-prooflike surfaces. An attractive 1895-S dollar with a minimum of bagmarks is an object of intense numismatic desire, and competition is strong whenever such a piece appears on the market."

This piece could well be the poster child for the Bowers quote above. The surfaces of this stunning coin are silver-white without so much as a hint of color. Bountiful cartwheel luster emanates from both sides, and Liberty's cheek is pristine and free of distractions. There is a tiny abrasion just above Liberty's eyebrow that is mentioned for strict accuracy, but the coin overall is an exemplary and thoroughly appealing, high-end example, especially for Morgan collectors who prefer their coins to be white and brilliant.

In MS66 (non-PL and non-DMPL), the present piece is tied for finest at NGC with two others so graded. The finest certified at PCGS are two more MS66 examples, making five MS66/67 coins in all at both services combined that have neither a Prooflike or Deep Mirror Prooflike designation.

For Morgan dollar collectors—or for those who just want to acquire one special coin—this piece should be given serious consideration.

Condition Census Key 1895-S Morgan Dollar
MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike
Ex: Wayne Miller

5039 1895-S MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Wayne Miller. The 1895-S Morgan dollar is no rarity in the lower levels of Uncirculated. According to Bowers' Silver Dollar Encyclopedia, "A few bags of 1895-S dollars were released by the San Francisco Mint in 1942, much to the delight of Bay Area numismatists. From that time through the very early 1950s, more bags were paid out, but then the distribution stopped. By 1953-55, 1895-S dollars were considered to be rare."

The eccentric real estate investor and coin hoarder LaVere Redfield, when he died in 1974, left about 407,000 Morgan and Peace silver dollars, more than 85% of which were Mint State. Among that treasure trove was about a bag of perhaps 1,000 Mint State 1895-S Morgan dollars. Of course, Redfield was known to love quantity, not quality, and when he acquired his bags of silver dollars, he stored them by throwing them down a coal chute into his basement. All of this throwing around of bags exacted a price on the coins. Bowers notes in his Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States:

> "Mint State coins are usually heavily bagmarked. In fact, the booby prize for bagmarking should go to the 1895-S or the 1893-CC; it's probably a toss-up. Apparently, most bagged coins were handled roughly while in Treasury storage. Because of this, when Mint State pieces are encountered, they are usually in grades of MS-60 through MS-62. Some looking will be required to find a nice one of these. The aforementioned Redfield hoard coins probably constitute the source for most pieces on the market today; and these are widely dispersed.
>
> "The 1895-S is one of the key issues among San Francisco Mint dollars, and finding a nice one will definitely be a challenge for you."

The present coin in MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike is one of the finest in existence, both aesthetically as well as numerically. Liberty's cheek is nearly pristine, showing only a couple of the most minor and insignificant reeding marks. The silver-gray surfaces are nearly devoid of color, although a hint of gold or cinnamon appears here and there. Of course the splendidly mirrored fields and intense reflectivity are given due and well-deserved credit with the Deep Mirror Prooflike designation by PCGS.

There is only one Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS-certified 1895-S finer than the present specimen, a phenomenal MS67 DMPL coin that we offered in our Dallas Signature Sale (Heritage, 11/2005, lot 2326) which brought $207,000. In MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike, this coin is tied with one single other piece at PCGS for the honor of second finest; there are no others above MS65 (11/08). NGC has never certified a Deep Mirror Prooflike example finer than MS64.

We would be remiss in failing to mention this coin's Wayne Miller pedigree. Coin dealer Miller, Helena, Montana, has been called "perhaps the most famous and influential silver dollar dealer of all time" and is, of course, author of The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook. Miller is certainly a man noted for his eye for quality, and the fact that he at one time owned the present coin speaks volumes about its appear and importance.

As we noted elsewhere in this Platinum Night catalog concerning the Eliasberg 1892-S Morgan dollar graded MS67, the MS66 key-date Morgans are bringing what the MS67s brought only a few years ago. It is certainly possible that this stunning MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike coin will surpass that MS67 DMPL record from a few years ago. Watch the bidder cards fly on this one. Population: 2 in 66 Deep Mirror Prooflike, 1 finer (11/08).

Gorgeous Choice 1896-O Dollar

5040 1896-O MS64 PCGS. How challenging is the 1896-O dollar in pleasing Mint State? Q. David Bowers, in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, notes that "Striking is usually below average, insipid and unattractive. This will be a problem and a challenge, as very few exceptions can be found." While this strongly lustrous Choice piece is not absolutely bold in the strike on all areas, it is substantially above-average. Unworn surfaces are generally silver-white save for splashes of gold-orange at the margins. Impeccable eye appeal for the grade. Population: 24 in 64, 3 finer (11/08). (#7242)

Condition Rarity 1896-O Dollar, MS64

5041 1896-O MS64 PCGS. With a combined population of 36 MS64 pieces at NGC and PCGS, and a total of only six finer examples at both services as of (11/08), the supply of high grade 1896-O dollars falls substantially short of its demand. Unfortunately for collectors, it is highly unlikely that the number of available near-Gem or better examples will increase in the future, although cautiously note that anything is possible. In the past two years, only two new examples have been recorded in the combined population data, and these may actually be resubmissions of the same coin. During that same time period, the number of Gem or better examples—the finest being two MS66 coins—has not changed from six, and in the past year, only one piece has been added to the roster of MS64 1896-O specimens graded by PCGS.

This example is one of only 13 MS64 1896-O dollars to cross our auction block since the introduction of our online auction archive in 1993. Since then, we have only offered four finer examples, including the unimaginable MS66 specimen sold as part of our November 2005 Signature Sale, where it realized, unsurprisingly, the impressive sum of $345,000.

A light, golden patina is illuminated by soft, satiny luster on both sides of this near-Gem. An arm's-length examination reveals only an insignificant tick to the right of the motto's E in the obverse field, and a thin superficial abrasion from star 3 to below Liberty's ear. The reverse reveals only one minor mark at the tip of the center arrowhead. A pleasing example of a true condition rarity.

Lustrous, Condition Rarity
1896-O Dollar, MS64

5042 1896-O MS64 PCGS. Mint State 1896-O dollars are readily available through the MS62 level of preservation. Above the MS62 level, the supply drops precipitously. Select coins are scarce, near-Gems are rare, and anything finer is extremely rare.

Nearly all examples are poorly struck. The present MS64 coin reveals the typical weakness in the centers, but the intensely lustrous surfaces help make up for this. Wisps of light tan-gray color make occasional visits to both sides, each of which possesses just a few minor marks. Population: 24 in 64, 3 finer (12/08). (#7242)

Important Gem 1896-O Dollar

5043 1896-O MS65 NGC. The best introduction to this issue as a high-grade condition rarity is the opening paragraph for its entry in Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States by Q. David Bowers, who wrote in 1993:

> "The 1896-O dollar is one of those coins that makes numismatics so interesting and, at the same time, puzzling to the uninitiated observer. On one hand, a well-worn specimen can be bought with a bill [perhaps a bill today]. On the other hand, no less an authority than Wayne Miller wrote that 'the 1896-O is the rarest of all Morgan dollars in truly gem condition.' In some ways the 1896-O is similar to its cousin of a decade earlier, the 1886-O. Both are exceedingly rare in high Mint State levels, but are relatively available MS-60 to 62."

The 1896-O presents a substantial challenging for the collector who seeks a technically satisfying representative. This is exemplified by the writing of the above-quoted Wayne Miller: "No other Morgan dollar is as consistently deficient in luster, strike, and degree of surface abrasions as the 1896-O."

To the collector accustomed to the 1896-O issue's prevailing mediocrity, this MS65 coin must come as a revelation. The strike, though not absolutely sharp at the hair over Liberty's ear, is substantially above-average for the issue, and the smooth surfaces are anything but lacking in luster. Subtle gold and pink tints visit otherwise silver-white surfaces. Bowers wrote that "In full MS-65 or better the 1896-O Morgan dollar is the stuff of which legends are made." Which modern-day collecting legend will add this piece to his or her collection? Census: 3 in 65, 0 finer (11/08).

Interesting Gem 1896-S Dollar

5044 1896-S MS65 PCGS. This later S-mint issue is among the more challenging dates for its time, particularly above the Choice level; despite a mintage of 5 million pieces, it was not saved in quantity, and only a handful of truly high-end pieces are available today. This well-defined example has smooth, creamy luster with generally silver surfaces that show occasional splashes of milky patina. Eye appeal is strong and delightful, with only a handful of isolated ticks and grazes visible in the fields. A faint flaw on Liberty's cheek precludes an even higher designation. PCGS has graded only three finer examples (11/08). (#7244)

Sensational 1896-S Morgan Dollar, MS66

5045 1896-S MS66 NGC. Heavy circulation and widespread melting seem to explain the dichotomy that characterizes the 1896-S Morgan dollar. Worn examples are easily obtainable through the Very Fine grade level, but Extremely Fine and About Uncirculated representatives are scarce. In Mint State, this issue becomes a rarity, particularly at the Gem level, where the certified population drops off rapidly.

Lower-level Uncirculated 1896-S pieces can be acquired with searching and patience. According to David Bowers, writing in his Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, several hundred 1896-S coins grading MS60 to MS63 found their way to the holdings of Reno investor LaVere Redfield, probably from a California or Nevada dealer source, and later included in his estate.

As an MS66 example, this coin aspires to the uppermost echelon. NGC and PCGS combined have graded only five pieces as Premium Gem, and a mere three examples finer (10/08). This untoned specimen is expectedly abrasion-free for the grade. The luster is bright and frosty, and the strike is well above-average by the standards of the date and series. An interesting area of satiny luster is seen on Liberty's cheek. With impressive technical quality and eye appeal for this often aesthetically challenged issue, there is no doubt in our mind that this coin will elicit significant bidder competition. Census: 4 in 66, 1 finer (10/08).

Condition Rarity 1896-S Dollar, MS66

5046 1896-S MS66 PCGS. It is generally thought that most of the 5 million piece 1896-S dollar circulation strike mintage went to the melting pots, particularly under terms of the 1918 Pittman Act. A large number of unmelted specimens apparently circulated. In this regard, David Bowers, in his Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States, says: "Bags of 1896-S Uncirculated dollars were paid out from the San Francisco Mint during the very early 1950s, when scant attention was paid to them as they had little value at the time."

1896-S dollars are scarce in circulated grades and in the lower levels of Mint State through near-Gem. The PCGS/NGC figures reveal a precipitous drop at the Gem level of preservation—from nearly 600 MS64 coins to 75 MS65 pieces. Five specimens rate a Premium Gem grade, two MS67, and one finer.

Moreover, the 1896 is usually found with an average or below average strike. Also, its surfaces are usually somewhat subdued (Bowers, A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars).

The Premium Gem offered here exhibits a better-than-average strike. The hair above Liberty's ear is almost completely delineated, as are the eagle's breast feathers and the leaf ribbing. Both sides display powerful luster, along with freckles of gold-brown patina, more so on the reverse. Close examination reveals no mentionable contact marks. A fine crack runs from below the second U in UNUM to the cap, and three or four thin peripheral cracks are visible on the reverse. Population: 1 in 66, 2 finer (11/08).

Legendary 1897-O Dollar, MS66
The Clapp/Eliasberg Specimen

5047 1897-O MS66 PCGS. As numismatists, we often wonder—even daydream—how certain rarities may have survived the years in such wonderful condition. Was the coin saved by a wealthy banker who also collected coins, or did a government employee buy a freshly minted example to commemorate a special event? Most coins hold their secrets well and, for most, that is the alluring aspect of our hobby. The present coin, however, is special in the fact its history is fully known—nearly from the moment it left the press.

We are pleased to present the Eliasberg 1897-O dollar. Purchased directly from the New Orleans Mint by Pennsylvania oilman and numismatist extraordinaire John M. Clapp in November 1897, and subsequently passed to his son, John H. Clapp, in 1906. The numismatic portion of the younger Clapp's estate was acquired by Louis E. Eliasberg in 1942, and the coin offered here remained in the his collection until April 1997, where it was sold as lot 2305 by Bowers and Merena. It was described, in part, as follows:

> "A small indentation probably caused by a piece of debris adhering to the die near the upper right cluster of leaves suggests the split grade [of MS66/64]; otherwise this would be an unquestioned MS66 overall."

The flaw described by the cataloger of the Eliasberg sale is, more than likely, a miniature strike-through error. When examining—and grading—major rarities, most people tend to scrutinize the details with greater intensity and the numismatist's indispensable tool, the loupe, is pushed to its limits. In reality, the small indentation mentioned above is no larger than the tip of a ball-point pen and is well concealed by a beautiful patina. When compared to other MS66 O-mint dollars, the Eliasberg 1897-O stands out in terms of strike, luster, and overall eye appeal, which rivals the smattering of certified MS67 New Orleans dollars we have observed.

Silvery centers are delicately framed by pleasing sea-green and russet peripheral toning, especially so on the obverse. An unusually bold strike for the issue and rich, velvety luster adds to the eye appeal of this Premium Gem dollar. When we think of a 19th century coin that has never entered the channels of commerce, proof coinage comes to mind. The rare opportunity to own a specially preserved 1897-O dollar—obtained directly from the New Orleans Mint—is now before you.

Superlative 1897-S Morgan Dollar, MS68

5048 1897-S MS68 PCGS. CAC. Ex: Jack Lee 2. Unlike the preceding few years, the mintage of silver dollars in San Francisco during the 12 months of 1897 was substantial, and at the end of the year that facility had coined nearly 6 million pieces. Dave Bowers writes in A Guidebook of Morgan Silver Dollars: "Here we are, back to a really top-notch dollar in terms of availability, strike, luster, and all else good. The 1897-S is usually all of these, and adding one to your collection can be done on just about any budget. The entire situation of 1897-S is reminiscent of the memorable-quality, but inexpensive, S Mint coins of the early years of the series."

It must be remembered that Bowers' comments regarding all Morgan dollar issues are for those pieces typically encountered, coins in the middle Mint State grades for most issues like the 1897-S. His comments hardly apply to coins like the present MS68 piece that is tied with just one other example for the finest that PCGS has certified, with no similar examples appearing on the NGC Census Report.

An absolutely sumptuous silver dollar, this Superb Gem has wisps of champagne toning over highly lustrous and satiny silver surfaces. There is hardly a blemish to be seen on either side. Every design feature is sharply detailed, including the hair over Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. The present offering provides an amazing opportunity for the connoisseur who demands the highest possible quality.

Stunning 1897-S Morgan Dollar Tied for Finest Certified MS67 Prooflike

5049 1897-S MS67 Prooflike PCGS. The initial mintage of 1897-S silver dollars was a substantial 5.8 million pieces. Many Mint State examples survive today, and Q. David Bowers believes this date is the most available Prooflike San Francisco Mint silver dollar dated later than 1882. The Redfield Hoard reportedly contained more than 1,000 pieces of this date in the Prooflike category.

While Prooflike specimens of this date are not rare in general, the great majority of these coins are in lower Mint State grades. At the exalted Superb Gem level, Prooflike specimens are very rare indeed. Currently, NGC has certified only two examples in this grade and category, with PCGS also reporting only two specimens in MS67 PL (11/08).

The present example is a delightful combination of high technical quality and stunning eye appeal. The deeply reflective fields contrast vividly with the strongly impressed devices to produce a near-Cameo effect. The surfaces are untoned and brilliant, with no detectable distractions. The present coin has few equals, and represents an important opportunity for the high-grade Morgan dollar specialist.

Extremely Rare 1898 Morgan Dollar MS67 Deep Mirror Prooflike

5050 1898 MS67 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/ Jack Lee 2. This coin is an anomaly when it comes to 1898 Morgan dollars. Coins with the depth of mirrors and exceptional contrast are extremely rare. The present example seems to have it all. Wayne Miller wrote in The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook: "Most prooflike pieces are brilliant rather than cameo, with fields that are not deeply mirrored. Other pieces may exhibit adequate mirror surfaces, but are lacking in luster or reflectiveness. A gem prooflike 1898-P dollar which exhibits good contrast between field and devices is a rare coin." At the time these words are written in November 2008, PCGS has certified 12,071 1898 Morgan dollars. Of that total, only 380 (3.1%) have been assigned the Deep Mirror Prooflike designation, and just 72 of those have also been given a grade of MS65 or finer.

A quick glance fails to differentiate between this piece and a Superb Gem proof, although proofs have deeper mirrored fields than those that are found on this amazing business strike. The surfaces are entirely brilliant, with frosty and lustrous devices that seem to float over the fields. The existing contrast is so much better than usually seen on an 1898-P dollar. There is no evidence of toning on either side of this beauty. This is the single finest example that PCGS has ever certified, with no comparable NGC certified pieces.

The Finest Certified 1898-O Morgan Silver Dollar MS68 Deep Mirror Prooflike

5051 1898-O MS68 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. Prior to the early 1960s, the 1898-O Morgan silver dollar was considered one of the prime rarities in the series, despite a mintage well in excess of 4 million coins. After the massive Treasury release of the 1962 to 1964 era, the 1898-O took a seat at the common date table, where it remains today. Old issues of the Guide Book tell the story in very simple terms: the 1898-O had a value of $500 in Uncirculated according to the 1963 Guide Book that was published in 1962. A year later, it had a value of $5 in the same grade.

While prooflike and even deeply mirrored prooflike examples are plentiful, thanks to the Treasury release, Gem quality examples with exceptional contrast are always difficult to locate. At the time The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook was published in 1982, author Wayne Miller probably had more experience handling those coins than any other individual in the country, with the possible exception of Philadelphia dealer Harry Forman. Miller commented that "Cameos with deep prooflike fields will always command a premium, because of their beauty and growing scarcity."

Here is a sensational Superb Gem with deeply mirrored fields around fully lustrous, satiny devices. Both sides are essentially brilliant with only the slightest peripheral champagne toning on each side. This is the only example graded MS68 DMPL by either NGC or PCGS.

Finest PCGS 1898-S Morgan, MS68

5052 1898-S MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 2. Like the 1897-S Morgan, the 1898-S is relatively easy to find in all Mint State grades through Gem MS65. Even those that grade MS66 are rather plentiful. However, Superb Gem examples are extremely hard to find. Many surviving examples of this issue have moderate to heavy abrasions, and they are often quite softly struck. Quite a bit of searching is necessary to find a Gem Mint State piece that is also sharply struck. So here is a candidate for careful scrutiny. Dave Bowers writes: "It will pay you to be picky when buying one of this date." Alternatively, the fastidious connoisseur can simply outbid the competition at the present sale and acquire this amazing MS68 coin, the only one that PCGS has certified with none finer.

Prior to the present 2009 FUN sale, dating back to the beginning of our archives in 1993, we have handled one MS67 PCGS example of this date, with no others finer than MS66. The price record for this issue seems to be $13,800 for an MS65 DMPL piece that we sold three years ago at the 2006 FUN auction. We expect to see a new record when this piece crosses the auction block.

This sensational example has fully brilliant silver surfaces and faint traces of lilac toning. Both sides have fully reflective fields that create attractive contrast, and possibly deserving a prooflike designation. Although shy of a full strike, the existing design definition is far finer than normally encountered. Easily the quality that was once called "semi-prooflike."

The Finest PCGS Certified 1899-O Morgan Dollar, MS68

5053 1899-O MS68 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. The late Jack Lee had one of the best eyes for quality of anyone in the coin business. As both a collector and a dealer, he was always on the lookout for the best possible examples of all silver dollars, and the collections that he formed were nothing short of phenomenal. The present coin, the finest 1899-O Morgan dollar that PCGS has ever certified, is just one example of the quality that Jack loved so much.

With a mintage of more than 12 million coins, the 1899-O is another extremely common date, although before the Treasury release it was considered a rarity. Striking quality varies from poor to exceptional, as Wayne Miller explains: "Strike varies considerably from very flat to fully struck. This is to be expected for a high-mintage issue, since New Orleans struck approximately 150,000 coins per working die. Those struck near the end of the life of the dies would of course suffer considerable loss of detail." Obviously struck early in the life of a new pair of working dies, this Superb Gem exhibits bold design motifs and frosty luster with fully brilliant silver surfaces. Hints of champagne toning are most obvious on the eagle's breast feathers. Both sides are pristine and virtually mark free. The Morgan dollar collector and connoisseur will not want to miss such an important opportunity to acquire the finest known 1899-O Morgan dollar.

Beautiful 1899-S Dollar, MS67

5054 1899-S MS67 PCGS. The strike is solid bordering on decisive for this essentially brilliant Superb Gem, and the exquisitely preserved fields have a slight watery quality that lends them subtle reflectivity. Hints of frostiness grace the highest parts of the design. Striking visual appeal in all respects. This S-mint Morgan dollar issue of under 2.6 million pieces, though only moderately elusive in the context of the series, is substantially less available at the MS67 level than a number of its peers. Just one MS67 piece appears in the NGC Census Report, and the present piece is part of a group of eight so certified by PCGS, with none finer at either service (11/08).

Splendid 1899-S Morgan Silver Dollar MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike Tied for Finest Certified

5055 1899-S MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Silver dollars were not needed in normal channels of commerce in 1899. The coins saw some circulation in the Western part of the country, but most examples were relegated to long term storage in bank vaults. In the case of the 1899-S, this circumstance led to the preservation of large numbers of coins in Mint State grades. Worn coins of this date are relatively scarce because the majority of the generous mintage of 2.5 million pieces never reached circulation. Q. David Bowers reports the coins were later released in a steady stream by the San Francisco Mint in the 1940s and 1950s. The Redfield Hoard may have contained up to a bag of uncirculated examples, obtained by LaVere Redfield after being shipped to Nevada for use in casinos. Due to this constant, long-term drain, there were only a few bags left in the vaults by the time of the great Treasury release of the early 1960s.

Apparently, the long hiatus in the vaults was a peaceful one, as the typical example of this issue shows few handling marks or abrasions. While uncirculated examples of this date are not rare, few are available at the Premium Gem level. Likewise, while Prooflike representatives of this date are relatively plentiful, Deep Mirror Prooflike specimens are estimated to be three times as rare.

The present coin is a superior specimen of this typically high quality date. The strongly mirrored fields establish this coin as the epitome of the Deep Mirror Prooflike classification. The pristine surfaces are untoned, and all devices are strongly impressed. The detail in the eagle's feathers and the wreath on the reverse is especially crisp. There is strong contrast between the design elements and the reflective fields. The combination of all these sterling qualities endows this specimen with stunning eye appeal. The present coin shares the honor of finest certified in the Deep Mirror Prooflike category with four other examples at PCGS, while NGC has yet to award a grade at this level. Connoisseurs of Morgan silver dollars will compete vigorously for this rarely encountered prize. Population: 4 in 66 DMPL, 0 finer (11/08).

Sharp 1900 Morgan Silver Dollar, MS67

5056 1900 MS67 PCGS. A new reverse hub for the Morgan dollar design was put into use in 1900. In A Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, Dave Bowers writes: "Coins made from dies made from this hub have less definition to the eagle's breast feathers, introducing another aspect into grading techniques." It is obviously impossible to grade any coin without knowing what was there to start with.

This gorgeous turn-of-the century Morgan dollar has mark-free and brilliant silver surfaces that display thick, frosty luster. Slight weakness of the design is evident at the centers, particularly over Liberty's ear. This issue is common through the Gem grade, but at the MS67 level becomes a true condition rarity. In fact there has never been a finer example certified by either grading service. Population: 17 in 67, 0 finer (10/08).

Attractive 1900-O/CC Dollar MS67, VAM-12

5057 1900-O/CC MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee 1/Jack Lee 2. VAM-12. A Top 100 Variety. A crack from the field into the lower and middle part of the cap, a crack from the top of the 1 in the date through the tip of the neck to star 1, and a crack to the right part of the bow knot help to attribute the variety.

The essentially untoned surfaces of this Superb Gem exhibit pleasing luster, and reveal just a few light grade-consistent marks. An attentive strike imparts relatively strong definition to the design elements, including partial delineation in the hair over Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. Population: 2 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Fantastic MS67 Prooflike 1900-S Dollar

5058 1900-S MS67 Prooflike PCGS. CAC. After the repeal of silver-purchase and coinage legislation in 1893, the previous torrent of Morgan dollar production became more like a trickle, and even though production recovered somewhat in later years, most issues did not reach the mintage heights of yesteryear. Just 20 years before the striking of this 1900-S dollar, San Francisco struck more than 20 million Morgan dollars between 1880 and 1881. By the turn of the century, however, that figure was down to just over 3.5 million pieces, and even that figure was comparatively high against issues such as the 1893-S or 1895-S. Production quality was also down, with commentators noting the decrease in quality for strikings and luster in the later years.

Both sides of this gorgeous Superb Gem piece have brilliant silver luster with a hint of peripheral gold toning and occasional silver-blue elements away from the rims. The surfaces are exceptional with fully mirrored fields and highly lustrous devices, unusually strong on the cameo effect for an issue that has prooflikes only "occasionally seen" and having "low contrast," to quote Bowers in his Guide Book of United States Coins. The strike, while not absolutely sharp throughout, is more than pleasing. The single finest Prooflike representative in the combined certified population (11/08), and as such an important trophy for the dedicated and discerning Morgan dollar enthusiast.

Toned MS63 1901 Dollar
A Key Condition Rarity in the Morgan Series

5059 1901 MS63 PCGS. Despite a mintage of nearly 7 million pieces, the 1901 Morgan dollar is difficult to locate in Mint State, especially the in better grades of Uncirculated. Paul Green, in a January 9, 2007 Numismatic News article titled "1901 Morgan Value contrary to Mintage," attempts to explain this discrepancy by asserting that: "The 1901 was destroyed in large numbers in the Pittman Act melting. There is never certainty when it comes to that subject, but the 1901 had to have been melted and in large numbers."

Soft multicolored patination covers the lustrous surfaces of this Select specimen, and a strong strike brings out better-than-usual definition on the design elements. A few minute marks limit the grade to MS63. (#7272)

Charming Select 1901 Dollar

5060 1901 MS63 PCGS. The 1901-P is one of the five major rarities among Morgan dollars at the Mint State level and is easily the most conditionally challenging issue from the Philadelphia Mint; moreover, the condition rarity of this date is not purely a matter of circulated versus Mint State. On the contrary, the elusiveness of survivors increases exponentially as one progresses up the grading scale from MS60 on. The tendency for Mint State survivors to be poorly struck, heavily abraded, and/or lackluster is particularly high on this issue. Offered here is a Select representative that is particularly lustrous and possesses above-average sharpness for an 1901-P. The satiny surfaces are untoned throughout, and only a few shallow blemishes on Liberty's cheek rules out an even higher rating. Housed in an early green label PCGS holder. (#7272)

Rarely Offered MS64 1901 Dollar

5061 1901 MS64 PCGS. Leroy Van Allen and George Mallis expound the 1901 P-mint dollar issue in their Comprehensive Catalog and Encyclopedia of Morgan and Peace Dollars: "This issue seems to be split between specimens with a fairly good strike with C3 reverse and those with a fairly weak strike with C4 reverse. Luster is usually dull. Lustrous fully struck specimens with minimal bag marks are truly very rare." The piece offered here is of the C4/C3 reverse type, which means that the C3 reverse die was impressed a second time, but with a C4 reverse hub. An extra olive adjacent to the eagle's right claw provides instant verification of this fact. Since the reverse die used to produce this specimen started its life as a C3 die, its stronger than usual strike is understandable. The more weakly struck C4 examples mentioned by Van Allen and Mallis seem to outnumber those of the C3 subtype, and further explains why 1901-P dollars are typically found with softly defined details.

A combination of an above average strike, a lustrous sheen, and pleasing fields and devices define the near-Gem grade of this survivor. This 1901-P is mostly white, although a slightly hazy tint is revealed when the obverse is tilted at a certain angle. And, for the sake of full disclosure, we make note of fingerprint remnants in the area of the date, although evidence of such is only clear with the aid of magnification. One of only 20 pieces—not counting resubmissions—graded by PCGS as MS64, with just three finer coins at the MS65 level (11/08).

Conditionally Rare 1901-O Morgan, MS67

5062 1901-O MS67 NGC. To help fulfill the government coinage obligations for Morgan dollars, the New Orleans Mint coined more than 13 million pieces during 1901. NGC and PCGS have combined to grade more than 40,000 submissions of this single date. Despite the incredible mintage and submission numbers, just 14 pieces have been certified by the two companies in MS67, with none finer. Just one submission has been certified MS67 for every million coins struck, or just one MS67 has been encapsulated for every 3,000 coins submitted. The numbers clearly show the condition rarity of Superb Gem 1901-O dollars.

This brilliant specimen has an uncharacteristic bold strike, with nearly full hair details over the ear, and sharp breast feathers on the eagle. The surfaces are frosty, brilliant, and pristine, with bright silver luster. Census: 11 in 67, 0 finer (10/08).

Singular MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike 1901-S Dollar

5063 1901-S MS66 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. Though its proximity to the Philadelphia issue of the same year has caused this San Francisco date to be somewhat underrated, the series enthusiast knows well how elusive it can be. It lends itself to condition rarity at the MS66 level, and Prooflike pieces are highly elusive; combine the Premium Gem grade with Deep Mirror Prooflike reflectivity, and the result is outstanding.

The surfaces are outstanding, of utmost importance for collectors who appreciate the delicate mirror fields, which so often show myriad handling ticks. Not so here, as the surfaces are excellent, and Liberty's cheek and neck are essentially pristine. The coin is faintly champagne-toned over the lower two thirds on the obverse, with the area from her cap and above lighter. On the reverse, the coin has traces of gold patina, primarily around the rim. For the strike, we note minor weakness on the curls over Liberty's ear and similar minor weakness on the eagle's chest, but finding an exactly struck example might not be possible for this scarce 20th century S-mint issue.

Easily the single finest Deep Mirror Prooflike representative certified by either NGC or PCGS (11/08), with just five Deep Mirror Prooflikes each graded by the two services and a single MS65 example ranking as the "best of the rest." One could make a plausible argument for either this coin or the lone MS67 exemplar certified by PCGS to be the single most important 1901-S dollar known. Housed in a green label holder.

Captivating 1902-S Dollar, MS67

5064 1902-S MS67 PCGS. CAC. With just over 1.5 million pieces struck, the 1902-S fits in well with the generally depressed mintages that marked the 20th-century coda to the main Morgan dollar series. High-end survivors are elusive, and at the Superb Gem level this issue is an extreme rarity, with only four MS67 pieces graded by PCGS qualifying (11/08). Delicate mustard and tan tints drape much of the present example, while the powerful luster that shines through the patina lends the untoned areas considerable brilliance. Sharply struck central devices are virtually faultless.

Superb Gem 1902-S Dollar From the Legendary Eliasberg Collection

5065 1902-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Eliasberg. An extraordinary example of this or any other late date Morgan dollar issue. Originally toned in dappled golden-brown and cream-gray. Each side is virtually free from post-striking impairments, and the striking details are just a bit soft in the centers, as expected. There are no roller marks on either side. In the Eliasberg catalog, there is a die note included that reads: "Two close olives are on the branch held by the eagle." Housed in a green label holder. Population: 4 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Singular 1903-S Dollar, MS67

5066 1903-S MS67 NGC. The 1903-S is a popular issue, due in part to the superior eye appeal most examples exhibit. Swirling mint frost races around each side, and on this particular piece it is especially pronounced. Unfortunately, as popular as this issue may be with collectors, there are precious few specimens available in the better Mint State grades. And in MS67, we have only handled one other piece, the former Eliasberg coin that was purchased directly from the Mint in the year of issue.

This is an absolutely breathtaking coin. The coruscant mint luster is unaffected by the abrasions that usually afflict Mint State examples. Brilliant throughout and well struck. When we offered this piece seven years ago, it was the only NGC MS67 certified, and today that remains unchanged. Census: 1 in 67, 0 finer (10/08).

Magnificent 1903-S Morgan Silver Dollar
The Eliasberg Specimen, MS67

5067 1903-S MS67 PCGS. The San Francisco Mint produced a modest mintage of 1.2 million silver dollars in 1903. Things were winding down for the silver dollar denomination, and production would be suspended after 1904. The denomination made a comeback in 1921, with the largest mintage of any year for the Morgan silver dollar, but these events were not foreseen in 1903. Most of the initial mintage was stored at the Mint and paid out in small amounts over the years. It is believed that John M. Clapp purchased the present coin in one of these small transactions in October 1903.

John M. Clapp was the patriarch of a family of distinguished numismatists. He was one of the first collectors to systematically order coins from the branch Mints every year. When he died, his collection passed to his son, John H. Clapp. In much the same way that T. Harrison Garrett's sons became the custodians of his collection after his death, the younger Clapp picked up where his father left off. John H. Clapp purchased coins at some of the most important auction sales of all time, including the George Earle Sale (Henry Chapman, 6/1912), where he acquired the finest known specimen of the ultra-rare 1825/4 half eagle. After Clapp's death, his collection (including the present coin) was purchased intact by Louis Eliasberg, and became the foundation for one of the greatest collections of all time. Eliasberg is the only collector to ever complete a collection of U.S. federal coinage by date, mintmark, and major variety.

The 1903-S silver dollar is an important coin, a key date in this popular series. Q. David Bowers reports "I have never handled a quantity of them, and few other dealers have either." Silver dollars of this date are seldom encountered in Mint State grades.

The present coin is a magnificent specimen. The surfaces exude satiny luster underneath hints of heather, gold, and blue toning. The fields are well preserved, and the finely detailed devices show no distractions. The eye appeal is spectacular. This coin is simply one of the finest known specimens of this key date, and it boasts an illustrious pedigree.

Exceptional 1903-S Dollar MS65 Prooflike

5068 1903-S MS65 Prooflike NGC. The 1903-S has become an important key issue. Prooflike pieces are extremely rare. Moreover, most are, according to David Bowers (1993), extensively bagmarked and have unappealing surfaces.

NGC and PCGS have certified a mere 11 Prooflike 1903-S Dollars. Our Gem offering in this lot is tied with two others for the finest certified Prooflike.

Whispers of electric-blue, reddish-brown, and lavender toning clings to the rim areas. The design elements are generally well impressed, save for softness in the centers. Just a few minor marks preclude an even finer grade. (#7289)

Spectacular 1904 Morgan Silver Dollar Rare in Mint State, MS66

5069 1904 MS66 PCGS. Silver dollar production was suspended after 1904, with a supposedly final mintage of 2.8 million pieces. Of course, production was resumed in 1921, but that circumstance was not foreseen at the time. By 1910 the Mint was so certain that no more silver dollars would ever be wanted that they destroyed all the hubs and master dies still being stored at the Mint. Perhaps this feeling that the world was through with silver dollars led to lax quality control at the Mint. The silver dollars of 1904 are typically shallowly struck, with poor luster, and surface quality is indifferent.

The present coin is a marked exception to this rule. The surfaces display full cartwheel luster, and the fields are undisturbed. All devices are fully detailed, and one could not ask for more in terms of eye appeal. This offering is a splendid example of this tougher date. Population: 13 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

Finest Certified Gem Deep Mirror Prooflike 1904 Dollar, Ex: Jack Lee

5070 1904 MS65 Deep Mirror Prooflike PCGS. Jack Lee. As dollar collectors know, the 1904 is a challenging issue to locate in high grades. With prooflike fields it is exceptionally difficult. In his latest book on the series, Q. David Bowers notes, "Some prooflikes exist but are not of high contrast." That is not the case with this coin. The devices are notably differentiated from the deeply mirrored fields and present a strong cameo contrast. This is the only Gem Deep Mirror Prooflike example certified by either of the major services. The only other DMPL is a PCGS MS64. As such, it is not surprising to learn that the finest coin of this issue was in Jack Lee's collection. The centers of each side are mostly brilliant, while the margins are toned with gorgeous rainbow colors in an arc on the upper obverse and lower reverse with iridescent sections which come alive when examined in a light. There are a few small abrasions on each side, but certainly none that can be considered distracting. The most apparent flaw that can be used for pedigree purposes is a tiny, almost microscopic circular planchet flaw on Liberty's cheek. The surfaces overall are outstanding, as expected for the grade. The strike is also above average, bearing in mind this entire issue was struck from a C4 reverse die which has an inherent weakness on the eagle's breast feathers. This is a unique opportunity for the dollar collector who demands the ultimate grade.

Wonderful, Condition Rarity
1904-S Dollar, MS67

5071 1904-S MS67 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. The 1904-S Morgan, with a mintage of 2.304 million pieces, apparently saw a large number melted. David Bowers, in his Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars of the United States, estimates that 2 million or so coins succumbed to later-day melts. Despite this, a fair number of specimens are available in the in the low to mid Mint State levels, due to modest Treasury releases in the 1930s and 1940s, along with one or more bags that came though Los Angeles Banks in the 1950s (Bowers, Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States). Bowers finds no accounts of any being in the 1962-1964 Treasury release, and apparently none was in the Redfield estate.

The PCGS/NGC certified population decreases to about 140 or so 1904-S dollars at the Gem level of preservation. The two services have graded fewer than 15 Premium Gems, a mere three MS67s, and none finer. We can thus readily see that the Superb Gem offering in the present lot is an important condition rarity.

Whispers of golden-tan patination make occasional appearances on both sides of this lovely piece, each of which is awash in potent luster. An above average strike leaves strong definition on the design features, including at least partial detail in the usually weak centers. Close examination reveals no marks of consequence. All in all, this is a wonderful '04-S representative, and one of the finest known. Population: 2 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Delightful MS67 1921 Morgan Dollar

5072 1921 MS67 PCGS. Paradoxically, this highest-mintage Morgan dollar issue is one of the most elusive in pleasing Mint State, according to Q. David Bowers. He writes in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars: "Many millions exist in Mint State. However, finding one with eye appeal can be a challenge. ... Luster is typically satiny rather than deeply frosty, but quite a few are grainy or dull."

This piece should inspire no such concerns, with considerable frost gracing the razor-sharp central devices. Aside from a few tiny grazes on each side, the silver-white surfaces are nearly faultless and essentially untoned. Population: 12 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7296)

Well Struck, Condition Rarity 1921-D Dollar, MS67

5073 1921-D MS67 PCGS. Ex: Mike Gilley Collection. The 1921-D Morgan dollar is common in Mint State. PCGS/NGC population figures reveal an abundant supply of coins through near-Gem, after which the number of specimens decreases significantly. The services have graded 10 MS67 pieces, and NGC has certified one finer.

The 1921-D tends to be weakly struck. David Bowers (2005) writes: "Sharply struck pieces are in the distinct minority and will require extensive cherrypicking to find." The present Superb Gem strays from this profile, as most of the design features are well brought up, including bold delineation in the hair over Liberty's ear, and clarity (though not fullness) on the eagle's breast. The leaf ribbing is mostly crisp, save for minor softness on those on the lower part of the wreath.

Bright luster exudes from both sides, and each displays a whisper or two of barely discernible gold color. A few minute marks on the well preserved surfaces are not worthy of individual mention. Some peripheral cracks are visible, slightly more so on the obverse. Population: 5 in 67, 0 finer (11/08).

Elegant MS66 1921-S Dollar

5074 1921-S MS66 PCGS. Unlike Philadelphia, San Francisco struck the Morgan design only for silver dollars in 1921, resulting in a mintage of nearly 21.7 million pieces. Most examples, however, suffer from unattractive surface abrasions or a combination of mediocre striking and luster. By contrast, this Premium Gem is impressively lustrous with a sharp strike and marvelous visual appeal. Light golden shadings drape a majority of the surfaces, though a crescent of pale silver-blue appears at the lower right obverse and the reverse shows occasional hints of pink. Population: 24 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).
From The Sanderson Family Collection. (#7300)

Exceptional 1921-S Dollar, MS66

5075 1921-S MS66 PCGS. Ex: Jack Lee. The 1921-S Morgan, from a mintage of 21.695 million coins, is common in all but the very highest Mint State grades. Furthermore, most are poorly struck and exhibit dull luster. Leroy Van Allen and George Mallis, in their Encyclopedia of Morgan & Peace Dollars, write: "A fully struck piece with good luster is very rare."

The Premium Gem that we present here fulfills the above requirements. Both sides radiate effusive luster, and an exacting strike delivers bold definition to most of the design elements, including exquisite detail in the hair over Liberty's ear. Speckles of very faint purple and gold at the upper right obverse and lower reverse margins are the only hint of color. A nicely preserved coin. Population: 24 in 66, 0 finer (11/08).

PROOF MORGAN DOLLARS

Lovely PR66 Cameo 1878 Eight Tailfeathers Dollar

5076 1878 8TF PR66 Cameo NGC. Per Q. David Bowers and his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, "The demand for Proofs [of this variety] is especially strong, not as much from Proof specialists as from those who seek an example for a type set." It is more likely the completionist, however, than the type collector who would acquire this exquisite coin. Both sides are strongly mirrored in the fields and minimally toned with significant contrast. A few tiny planchet flakes are noted in the reverse fields, but these have little impact on this carefully preserved specimen's eye appeal. Census: 9 in 66 Cameo, 5 finer (12/08). (#87311)

Breathtaking 1879 Morgan Silver Dollar PR66 Deep Cameo

5077 1879 PR66 Deep Cameo PCGS. Traditionally, it is estimated that 1,100 Proof Morgan dollars were struck in 1879. According to David Bowers, proofs are not rare on the market today. Many have been cleaned, however, and Gems are elusive. He estimates that over 600 examples are extant. Cameos and Deep Cameos, however, are rare. With respect to the latter, this is only the second 1879 given a Deep Cameo designation (11/08). It is an exceptional, deeply mirrored example. The devices are nicely frosted and provide stark cameo contrast against the sparkling reflectivity in the fields. The centers are mostly untoned, with a narrow band of peripheral cobalt-blue, lavender, and golden-brown on the obverse, and golden-brown around the reverse margins. The design elements are sharply impressed, though some softness is apparent in the hair over Liberty's ear. The surfaces are impeccably preserved on both sides. Population: 1 in 66 Deep Cameo, 0 finer (11/08).

Striking PR67 Cameo 1880 Morgan Dollar

5078 1880 PR67 Cameo PCGS. The unusually high mintage for this issue, 1,355 proofs, has inspired a good deal of numismatic interest over the years; Q. David Bowers, in his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, suggests that the same speculators who ran up the proof Trade dollar mintages in this year also had a spillover effect for the Morgans. This faintly gold-tinged Superb Gem is among the best survivors of the issue, elegantly detailed with sumptuous mirrors. The frost across the devices is light but elegant. Population: 8 in 67 Cameo, 2 finer (12/08).

Spectacular PR67 Cameo 1881 Morgan Dollar

5079 1881 PR67 Cameo NGC. At first glance this charming Superb Gem proof appears silver-white, but then one notices the lightly tinged rims in golden hues. For an issue that generally is found with little contrast between the fields and devices, this example shows good, if not spectacular, contrast in that regard. The proof emission was only 710 pieces, and today this example is one of only 11 pieces so graded at NGC, with eight coins finer (11/08). The sharp strike adds to the overall appeal, which is considerable, and perusal with a loupe fails to reveal even the remotest distraction. (#87316)

Elegant PR67 Cameo 1881 Dollar

5080 1881 PR67 Cameo PCGS. Excellent strike and eye appeal for this popular proof issue, the first full year of proof Morgan dollar production to see fewer than 1,000 specimens struck. Delicate champagne and gold patina, strongest at the rims as usual, visits gleaming and beautifully preserved mirrors. The level of frostiness on the central devices is minor, yet ample for a strong cameo effect. One of just four PR67 Cameo examples certified by PCGS, with none finer for the contrast category (11/08).

Stunning 1882 Dollar, PR66 Deep Cameo

5081 1882 PR66 Deep Cameo PCGS. Eleven hundred dollars were struck in proof format in 1882. PCGS and NGC have certified approximately 650 examples. Of these, only about 25 are Deep/Ultra Cameos.

The PR66 offered in the present lot displays stunning Cameo contrast. A penetrating strike results in sharp delineation on the design features, including the hair above Liberty's ear and the eagle's breast feathers. Whispers of golden-brown gravitate to the margins, and both sides are nicely preserved. Population: 3 in 66 Deep Cameo, 0 finer (12/08).

Fantastic 1883 Dollar PR67 Cameo

5082 1883 PR67 Cameo NGC. A fairly large number of the 1,039 proof dollar mintage of 1883 has been certified by NGC and PCGS, making it fairly available through PR65. Cameo examples, on the other hand, are quite elusive, especially in Gem and finer condition.

Outstanding field-motif contrast is apparent on the Superb Gem Cameo proof in the present lot. An exacting strike leaves bold definition on the design features, enhancing even more the coin's fantastic eye appeal. Nicely preserved surfaces display just a touch of gold color at the margins. Census: 5 in 67 Cameo, 1 finer (12/08). (#87318)

Lightly Toned Cameo Superb Gem Proof 1884 Morgan Dollar

5083 1884 PR67 Cameo NGC. Liberty's cheek and neck is as frosted as her hair, and the eagle and wreath also display prominent cameo contrast with the glassy field. A pinpoint-sharp specimen that has complete feather definition on the eagle's breast. The hair above the ear has virtually full detail. This beautiful Superb Gem appears brilliant upon cursory inspection, but faint gold toning adorns the immaculate fields. A minute planchet flake beneath the second S in STATES will identify the present specimen. A scant 875 proofs were struck. Among the finest survivors of this scarce proof issue. Census: 8 in 67 Cameo, 2 finer (12/08). (#87319)

Impressive Branch Mint Proof 1884-CC Dollar PR66 Cameo

5084 1884-CC Branch Mint PR66 Cameo NGC. The extreme rarity of the four branch mint proof 1884-CC dollars is well known to specialists. What is not as well known, and is in fact extraordinary, is that Jack Lee owned two of the four known pieces. At first we thought this must be the same coin we sold in the Morris Silverman Collection in 2002. However, when we compared it to the plate in the Silverman catalog we came to the startling conclusion that they are clearly two different coins with distinctly different pedigree markers.

In his 1986 book The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook, Wayne Miller termed the 1884-CC dollars as Class III coins, meaning little was known but these coins might be proofs. Other Class III branch mint dollars include the 1881-O and 1884-O. However, after we have examined two of 1884-CC dollars we are of the opinion these coins can be "promoted" to Class II strikings, i.e., "unauthorized but definite branch mint proofs."

The four criteria set out by Wayne Miller for proof strikings include: a bold strike, square rims, virtually perfect surfaces, and mirror-like fields. This coin fits three of the four criteria listed. The only exception are square rims, which one really would not expect on a branch mint proof dollar, almost all of which were struck from dies intended for circulation. (The only exception we are aware of is the 1879-O).

In 1995 we handled the Anita Maxwell Trust of Morgan Dollars, a collection that included eight branch mint proofs. This provided a singular opportunity to study these coins in depth and publish the findings. One of the most important features we found:

> "All branch mint proof dollars, except the 1879-O, were struck from regular production dies that had been heavily polished to produce a proof surface in the fields. All were struck more than once, giving the coins a crispness of strike not found on regular production coins. While the fields were polished to a depth that is comparable to Philadelphia proofs of the period and striking details are usually comparable also, the overall quality of branch mint proofs is not fully comparable to Philadelphia coins. From examination of the eight coins it seems that this is true for two reasons. First, all coins show incomplete die polishing, especially in areas where there is little blank surface between the design elements. Second, small patches of die rust are seen on several of the coins—a curious and surprising discovery that indicates that in some cases mint personnel heavily polished discarded or worn dies—dies that had lain around the mint long enough to rust slightly. From these observations we may also conclude that branch mint personnel were not familiar with Philadelphia proofs and what was required to produce such coins. The presence of die cracks indicates that most branch mint proofs were either struck during a production run or at some time afterward, but not before as one might suspect (except for the 1884-O and 1921-S)."

The 1884-CC branch mint proofs were struck from VAM-3 dies. According to the VAMworld website, these heavily used dies are characterized by: "Doubled 18 in date. 1 doubled below top crossbar and to left of bottom crossbar. Die chips at inside right of top and bottom loops of first 8 and slightly doubled right outside of upper loop. Second 8 slightly doubled at top inside of bottom loop. Slightly doubled nose, lips, chin and back of Phrygian cap." The proofs were struck from an advanced state of these dies with extensive die cracks noted around the periphery on the obverse. Also, the die chipping in the top of the loop of the 8 appears to have diminished from die lapping, and the chipping in the bottom loop of the 8 is more sharply defined here, now an arc in that part of the digit rather than generalized chipping. As seen also on the earlier Jack Lee branch mint proof, this piece shows an area of heavy die polish in front of Liberty's eye. Also common to both coins, and branch mint proofs in general, there is an unpolished area between the eagle's neck and right (facing) wing. This is common to these pieces because of the branch mint's unfamiliarity with striking proof coinage. It appears an attempt was made to try and strike coins that closely resembled Philadelphia proofs; however, lacking actual proof dies there were necessarily limitations to how "proof" these pieces could be.

Allegedly there are four branch mint proof 1884-CC dollars known. We have not traced the pedigree of these four pieces but this would make an interesting numismatic research project for someone with an extensive numismatic library. The fields on this piece have mirror-like reflectivity that goes well beyond that seen on a prooflike dollar. The surfaces are nearly perfect, lacking the usual small abrasions from coin-to-coin contact. Similar to the other Jack Lee proof sold in the Morris Silverman Sale (Heritage, 4/2002), close examination with a loupe reveals tiny lint marks, an obvious attempt by mint personnel to wipe the dies prior to striking, but tiny lint marks adhered to the dies from static electricity. Both sides are evenly matched in color with a reddish undertone that is overlaid by rich cobalt-blue. A curious feature of this coin is seen over the ear of Liberty. It shows faint remnants of roller marks. This is most likely from setting the dies too far apart rather than a lack of striking pressure.

The 1884-CC branch mint proof is one of the great rarities in the Morgan dollar series. So few pieces are known that most dollar collectors are not even aware of their existence. For those who do know, this lot represents a rare opportunity to acquire this important coin.

The Finest PCGS 1886 Morgan, PR67 Cameo

5085 1886 PR67 Cameo PCGS. Over 22 years of operation, PCGS has certified 224 proof 1886 Morgan dollars, including 25 that are designated Cameo, and one that is designated Deep Cameo. Of all those proofs, the present piece is the single PR67 Cameo proof they have certified, clearly the finest existing 1886 proof Morgan dollar.

An amazing, mostly brilliant piece, this Superb Gem has exceptional contrast with mostly untoned silver surfaces and a trace of peripheral gold toning. Population: 1 in 67 Cameo, 0 finer (12/08).

Desirable 1889 Morgan Dollar, PR67 Cameo

5086 1889 PR67 Cameo PCGS. An extraordinary Superb Gem Cameo proof, this 1889 Morgan dollar has amazing eye appeal created through a combination of deeply mirrored fields, satiny and sharply detailed devices, and delicate golden toning across the entire obverse and along the reverse border. Cameo proof examples such as this one represent only a minor portion of the total population, with only 29 such pieces designated by PCGS, from a total proof population of 184 coins. In addition, exactly one coin, graded PR64, has been designated as a Deep Cameo proof. Population: 2 in 67 Cameo, 1 finer (12/08).

Incredible 1890 Morgan Dollar, PR67

5087 1890 PR67 PCGS. An amazing Superb Gem, this lovely proof Morgan has a vibrant display of gold, lilac, and blue toning over fully and deeply mirrored fields and highly lustrous devices. It has excellent cameo contrast, although has not garnered a Cameo designation from the grading service simply because the toning prevents an obvious decision about the degree of contrast. It is unfortunate that most proof coins have to be essentially brilliant without toning, or they will fail to get a Cameo or Deep Cameo designation. Population: 9 in 67, 0 finer (12/08). (#7325)

Finest PCGS-Certified 1890 Proof Morgan PR68 Cameo

5088 1890 PR68 Cameo PCGS. PR68 Morgan dollars of any date are a major rarity, and yet, as we see here, they are much desired, not only for their aesthetic appeal, but also because they are required for the top-grading PCGS and/or NGC Registry Sets. In PR68 grade, for all dates, PCGS has certified only 35 Morgan dollars in PR68. Of that 35 coins, exactly 40%, or 14 examples, are also certified Cameo.

Indeed, in the entire Morgan dollar series, there are only three coins certified as PR68 Deep Cameo, and there is a single non-Cameo certified as PR69—making PR68 Cameo coins, for all intents and purposes, just about the finest quality obtainable, regardless of price.

Of course in the PCGS scheme of things, each proof Morgan in the set is given a one-point bonus for a Cameo designation, and a two-point bonus for a Deep Cameo designation. It is certainly no accident to note that, of the top 10 PCGS Morgan Dollars Basic Sets, Proof (1878-1904), the present piece would provide a ranking upgrade to every set but the one from whence it comes.

The surfaces on this splendid Superb Gem coin are silver-white, with just the merest suggestion of gold tinge, more subliminal than obvious as on many top-grade Morgans. The fields are blinding mirrors, and a generous coating of mint frost coats the devices, providing ample contrast. For pedigree purposes we note a tiny wisp of a planchet flaw underneath ES of STATES that has picked up a bit of toning. The single finest 1890 proof Morgan graded at PCGS.

Remarkable PR68 Cameo 1892 Dollar

5089 1892 PR68 Cameo NGC. Though it is not the highest-mintage proof Morgan dollar issue (the 1880 takes that crown, with 1,355 specimens struck), the 1,245 examples struck in 1892 represent a secondary peak, separate from the high production plateau that dominates the earliest years of the design. Q. David Bowers, among others, credits the introduction of the Barber design with fueling demand for silver proof sets; perhaps it is not a surprise, then, that buyers' support for the silver proofs sets should be withdrawn so swiftly afterward and production of proof Morgan dollars should suffer as a consequence.

With few exceptions (the 1895 and First Reverse and Third Reverse 1878 varieties chief among them), individual proof Morgan dollar issues rarely command a premium over one another. As a result, the interested type collector has a smorgasbord of possible options and is at leisure to choose a specimen that combines exceptional preservation with top-notch eye appeal. The present PR68 Cameo piece readily satisfies both criteria.

Delicate gold and mauve tints at the margins yield to gleaming silver-gray mirrors closer to the centers, and the generally well-defined central devices turn a whisper of silver-white frost into distinct and delightful contrast. As expected of the grade, the surfaces are free of all but the tiniest post-striking flaws. Neither NGC nor PCGS has certified a numerically finer Cameo specimen (11/08). (#87327)

Sparkling PR67 Cameo 1893 Dollar

5090 1893 PR67 Cameo NGC. The Morgan dollar saw 792 proofs coined in 1893, nearly half of which have survived, judging from NGC and PCGS population data. Coins with the Cameo designation are far fewer, especially in higher grades.

Deeply mirrored fields establish pronounced contrast with the motifs of this Superb Gem proof, confirming the Cameo designation, and impeccably preserved surfaces are essentially untoned. We mention a small milling mark just below Liberty's chin that may help identify the coin for future catalogers. Save for the usual weakness on the hair above Liberty's ear, the strike on this specimen is above-average, as most of the remaining elements are well impressed. Such is not the case for most other representatives of this issue, for as David Bowers (1993) writes: "The situation of flatly struck Proof coins begun in 1888 ... was continued. In 1892 and 1893 dollars the flatness is particularly noticeable; more so than in the earlier years." Census: 4 in 67 Cameo, 1 finer (11/08). (#87328)

Brilliant PR67 Cameo 1894 Dollar

5091 1894 PR67 Cameo NGC. The minuscule mintage of only 110,000 business strikes in 1894 exerts constant date pressure on the 972 proof examples of this year. Furthermore, after several years of substandard production of proof Morgan dollars, the Mint tightened quality control considerably in 1894. As a result, most of the proofs from this year are well produced and sharply struck.

This Superb Gem Cameo example exhibits splendid field-motif contrast. A powerful strike shows virtually complete definition on the design elements, and both sides are impeccably preserved and untoned. Census: 28 in 67 Cameo, 8 finer (11/08). (#87329)

Ebullient PR67 Cameo 1894 Morgan Dollar

5092 1894 PR67 Cameo PCGS. The 1894 Morgan dollar issue is one that, at least as a business strike, needs no introduction to aficionados of the series. While the proofs throughout the series have a much more limited range of production, of course, it is nonetheless true that the 1894 is a key in both series—although all of the proofs are keys within the series. This ebullient Superb Gem proof boasts completely untoned, silver-white surfaces with loads of contrast and enormous eye appeal. Indeed, we see little reason this piece does not merit an even finer grade. Population: 2 in 67 Cameo, 0 finer (12/08).

Famous Proof-Only 1895 Morgan Dollar

5093 1895—Improperly Cleaned—NCS. Proof. Light chestnut-gold and powder-blue toning embraces this key date proof Morgan. A good strike with only slight merging of detail on the hair above the ear and the eagle's breast feathers. A minute rim ding is noted on the reverse at 11 o'clock. The centers have a trace of friction, although the fields remain reflective, and hairlines are only visible near UNUM.

The 1895 is famous for its alleged business strike production of 12,000 pieces. However, no Uncirculated examples are known, and all circulated survivors are believed to be impaired proofs. The Morgan dollar series is among the most widely collected, and demand for proofs is formidable. (#7330)

Ever-Popular Select Proof 1895 Dollar

5094 1895 PR63 PCGS. Attached to any other year, the proof Morgan dollars of 1895 would attract little attention. Even the proofs dated 1894, associated with a low-mintage issue of just 110,000 business strikes, do not enjoy a premium based on that link. With the 1895 circulation strike pieces either melted into oblivion or never existing, however, the proofs of that year have assumed monumental importance and create a de facto limit on the number of "complete" date sets that can be assembled according to prevailing community standards.

It ranks as the most commercially popular issue of its kind, and perhaps no proof Morgan dollar issue has received greater scrutiny than the 1895, particularly from the purchaser's point of view. Q. David Bowers, in his A Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States, advises: "Of the 880 Proofs struck, more than half exist today. Typical 'nice' grades are Proof-63, Proof-64, and Proof-65. Within these categories, there are many variables as to quality. If you decide to add an 1895 to your collection, take time and pick out a nice one."

For the grade, the present piece is about as "nice" as they come. This pleasing example displays deeply mirrored gunmetal-gray fields and an overlay of speckled golden-brown and emerald toning. This patina partly conceals the light hairlines that are responsible for the technical grade of the coin, and overall this is an attractive example that shows no obvious surface flaws to the unaided eye. PCGS has graded 92 finer examples in the contrast category (11/08). (#7330)

Deeply Toned 1895 Dollar, PR63
An Enigmatic, Proof-Only Issue

5095 1895 PR63 ANACS. Controversy has raged for many years now over whether business-strike Morgan dollars were produced. Whether we wish it or not, generations of Morgan dollar collectors have grown up believing that there were business strikes coined, and millions of coin albums of one sort or another include the 1895 Philadelphia issue alongside other specialties such as the 1893-S, 1893-CC, and the 1894-P issues. It is likely these, as well as a multitude of other factors, that lead legions of collectors to pursue choice examples of the 1895 proof Morgan. Q. David Bowers' silver dollar Red Book (2004) asserts that no business strikes were produced, and that when Morgan silver dollars were presented in 1895 to the Assay Commission, "a single Proof coin" represented the emission.

More recently, however, Roger Burdette, in the July 3, 2006 Coin Values supplement to Coin World, takes a different tack to explain the accounting entry of 12,000 business strikes. He rejects the notion espoused by some (including Bowers) that the pieces were of "earlier date." Using various Mint records—most tellingly Engraver Charles Barber's report concerning the number of dies used for circulation-strike and proof coinage, which shows that five obverse and four reverse dies were used for silver dollar coinage, although Barber fails to specify exactly what uses the dies were put to—Burdette demonstrates his (well documented) belief that 12,000 business strikes were indeed produced. Burdette shows that six circulation examples and four proofs were provided to the Assay Commission, plus two "special assay" coins that were presumably destroyed. Burdette posits that the circulation strikes were likely melted under Pittman Act, or perhaps during the silver runup of the 1970s—although random examples could still exist today.

Suffice it to say that no documented business-strike Morgan dollar has ever surfaced, and it appears unlikely that one ever will. This 1895 dollar is deeply toned on each side and this depth of color does much to conceal the underlying hairlines that account for the PR63 grade. Other than the brightness from cleaning, there are no other surface blemishes that are worthy of mention. (#7330)

Conditionally Scarce 1895 Morgan Dollar, PR66 Cameo

5096 1895 PR66 Cameo NGC. Numismatists have often speculated about the possible existence of any non-proof 1895 Morgan dollars from Philadelphia. Bowers, in his Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States, A Complete Encyclopedia (1993), quoted the traditional mintage figure of 12,000 business strikes for this date, although he noted: "I have never seen an authentic specimen. It is presumed that the entire mintage, if indeed it ever existed, consisting of only 12 mint bags, went to the melting pot under the provisions of the Pittman Act of 1918." In 2004, Bowers was more definite in his opinion regarding this issue. In The Official Red Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, Bowers states "In 1895, at the Philadelphia Mint, there was no coinage of silver dollars for circulation."

Perhaps we will never know for certain whether or not the Philadelphia Mint produced business strike silver dollars in 1895, or, if it did, what happened to the coins. In the meantime, Morgan dollar specialists will need to obtain a specimen from the 880-piece proof mintage in order to own an example of the 1895 "P".

Among the finest specimens that we have ever seen, this Premium Gem proof displays essentially untoned surfaces that only exhibit hints of golden color, on the highpoints of the design and along the rim. The deeply reflective fields and sharply struck devices are equally free of grade-limiting blemishes. Noticeable contrast is evident on both sides and this factor easily warrants a Cameo designation. We anticipate significant bidder interest when this conditionally scarce example crosses the auction block. Census: 12 in 66 Cameo, 18 finer (11/08). (#87330)

Six-Piece 1895 Proof Set, PR65 to PR67
Includes a PR67 Cameo 1895 Morgan Dollar

5097 1895 Proof Set, Cent to Dollar, PR65 to PR67 NGC. The set includes:

1895 Indian Cent PR65 Red and Brown NGC. This boldly struck Gem displays orange-gold when rotated beneath a light. The borders exhibit violet-red and forest-green. An unabraded specimen with minimal obverse carbon and only a few tiny flecks on the reverse.
1895 Liberty Nickel PR65 Cameo NGC. A razor-sharp Gem that provides noticeable contrast between the glassy fields and the frosted motifs. The undisturbed surfaces possess light streaks of golden-brown toning. The cheek has a pair of tiny spots. Census: 18 in 65 Cameo, 5 finer (11/08).

1895 Barber Dime PR66 Cameo NGC. Icy devices display dramatic contrast with the flashy fields. Precisely struck and close to brilliant with exemplary preservation. Only 880 proofs were struck, the same mintage as the other silver pieces within the present set. Census: 17 in 66 Cameo, 13 finer (11/08).

1895 Barber Quarter PR66 NGC. A fully struck and flawless Premium Gem that should please even the most demanding collector. Untoned aside from a few russet freckles on the cheek. A raised lintmark (as made) is noted southwest of Liberty's eye, a diagnostic for proofs of this date. Census: 34 in 66, 38 finer (11/08).

1895 Barber Half PR66 Cameo NGC. This magnificent Premium Gem nearly merits an Ultra Cameo designation, since both legends and devices offer consistent thick mint frost. The mirrored fields are virtually devoid of hairlines, and the strike is penetrating, even on the fletchings and shield corners. Census: 18 in 66 Cameo, 19 finer (11/08).

1895 Morgan Dollar PR67 Cameo NGC. Ex: South Beach Collection. The Philadelphia mint coined 12,000 business strike Morgan Dollars in 1895—at least that's what the official government records say. To date, collectors have failed to confirm the existence of a single business strike 1895-P Morgan Dollar. Although well known to specialists, we repeat here two of the more popular theories surrounding this phantasmal business strike issue:

1. The 12,000 coins reported in the Philadelphia mint ledger could have represented the last of the 1894-dated coins delivered to the chief coiner.
2. Twelve bags of business strike 1895 Dollars could have been produced, yet retained in federal vaults until they were destroyed after passage of the Pittman Act in 1918.

Perhaps we will never know whether or not the Philadelphia mint produced business strike Dollars in 1895, or, if it did, what happened to the coins. What we do know for certain is that Morgan Dollar specialists will need to acquire a survivor of the 880-pieces proof production in order to have a representative of the 1895-P.

Among the finest specimens that we have offered in recent years, this Superb Gem displays delicate champagne rim accents around otherwise untoned features. The glassy fields and boldly impressed devices are equally free of grade-limiting blemishes. Noticeable contrast is evident on both sides and this factor easily warrants a Cameo designation. We anticipate strong bidder demand for this carefully preserved and appealing proof.

Key 1895 Morgan Dollar, PR68 Cameo

5098 1895 PR68 Cameo NGC. The 1895 Morgan dollar has been an object of great desire for many decades, and the mysterious alleged production of 12,000 business strikes, with none ever verified by numismatic experts, has only compounded that desire. The year 1895 has a special cachet all its own. Just as the 1879-CC, 1889-CC, and 1893-CC dollars constitute the "great triumvirate" of key-date CC-mint dollars, so the year 1895 boasts three issues, each incredibly difficult in its own right: the 1895 proof-only dollars; the 1895-O, which is one of the most intriguing and elusive Morgans in Gem condition; and the 1895-S which, while also a condition rarity, is the most available of the three. Heritage is pleased and privileged to offer high-grade examples of each of the 1895 issues in the present sale.

Although earlier there was doubt concerning the possible existence of business strike 1895 dollars, Q. David Bowers' most recent utterances on Morgan dollars have shown capitulation on the issue. In the 2006 Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, third edition, Bowers writes:

> "Called 'the King of Morgan Dollars,' the 1895 is known to me only in Proof or impaired Proof form. I have never seen a business strike. It is believed that the 12,000 reported business strikes of the date represent an accounting entry error, and were never struck, or as mentioned earlier, probably were dated 1894. Recent research indicates the latter scenario is true."

Bowers continues his commentary on the 1895 proof dollars by saying that typical "nice" grades are PR63 through PR65. If that is so, the present PR68 Cameo piece must be put in the category of "marvelous." The silver-white, radiantly mirrored fields and thickly frosted devices verge on an Ultra Cameo designation and, as expected for the Superb Gem level, there is absolutely no visible distraction of even the most minute sort.

While several hundred 1895 proof Morgan dollars still exist today, precious few approach the quality of the present specimen. In PR68 Cameo this piece is one of seven so certified at NGC, and there are four PR68 Ultra Cameos at that service. All of these pieces are tied for numerically finest, with the sole exception of a PR69 Ultra Cameo NGC example (11/08). PCGS has certified a single Deep Cameo in PR68.

Starkly Contrasted PR67 Cameo 1896 Dollar

5099 1896 PR67 Cameo NGC. Commenting on the 1896 proof dollars in his Morgan silver dollar Guide Book (2005, p. 227), David Bowers says: "Good strike. Deep cameo contrast. Some nice ones are around. Whew! Those nasty years of weak striking, beginning in 1888, are over!"

And over the weak strikes were, at least for the Superb Gem Cameo being offered in this lot! The design elements are well brought up, including sharp (though just a tad short of full) delineation in the hair over Liberty's ear. All of the eagle's plumage is bold, including that on the breast. Fantastic field-motif contrast is noted on both sides, as are impeccably preserved and essentially untoned surfaces. All in all, great technical quality and aesthetic eye appeal. Census: 18 in 67 Cameo, 6 finer (11/08). (#87331)

Wonderful PR67 Cameo 1896 Dollar

5100 1896 PR67 Cameo PCGS. This proof issue of 762 pieces is praised by a number of numismatic experts, particularly for its strike and contrast properties, and this fantastic Superb Gem exemplifies those traits. Moderate frost crosses the exquisitely detailed devices, and the potent mirrors are particularly pleasing and notably well-preserved. Combining these facets yields an excellent, nearly black-and-white effect. One of just two PR67 Cameo pieces graded by PCGS, with no Cameo coins finer (11/08).

From The Good Morgan Sunshine #3 PCGS Registry Set of Proof Morgan Dollars. (#87331)

Captivating PR64 Deep Cameo 1896 Dollar

5101 1896 PR64 Deep Cameo PCGS. PCGS has certified just 21 Deep Cameo examples of this popular and lower-mintage proof issue, leaving few options for the Registry collector (11/08). For such an enthusiast, this Choice example comes highly recommended. It certainly looks the part of a Deep Cameo coin, with thickly frosted devices and flashy, powerful mirrors that pierce delicate tan tints at the obverse margins and through the reverse fields. Despite a handful of faint hairlines in the fields that account for the grade, this better-date proof Morgan dollar offers dramatic eye appeal. (#97331)

PR68 Ultra Cameo 1896 Morgan Dollar

5102 1896 PR68 Ultra Cameo NGC. An exquisite Superb Gem with ice-white motifs and darkly mirrored fields. The contrast easily merits an Ultra Cameo designation. Although a powerful loupe locates a few hair-thin striations, relics of the die preparation, no abrasions are observed. The present piece can be identified by a trio of pinpoint flecks between the AR in DOLLAR.

Only 762 proofs were struck, a reduction of 118 pieces from that of the prior year's proof issue, the famous 1895 silver dollar. According to Q. David Bowers in his monolith Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States, two obverse dies were used to coin proof 1896 dollars, "both with date further left than usual, one with two small die file marks below ear, the other with heavy die polish in [the] ear and curls." On the present piece, both the ear and the recesses of Liberty's hair exhibit a mirrored surface. Therefore, this is the second obverse die referred to in the Bowers reference.

Mintages of Morgan silver dollars declined after 1891, and bottomed out in 1895. 1895 was the only year without Philadelphia business strike production, and also was the only year that the combined mintages at all mints were less than 1 million dollars. It is surprising, then, that business strike emissions soared in 1896. The three mints struck close to 20 million pieces, with nearly 10 million coined at Philadelphia.

It is true that the economy had improved in 1896. But since Treasury vaults contained more than 100 million silver dollars by 1896, none needed to be struck for circulation. One possibility for the heavy coinage of silver dollars was that they were needed to back the issue of 1896 silver certificates (Friedberg-224). 1896 was also an election year, and agitation by the free silver movement may have compelled increased government purchases of silver. Census: 18 in 68 Ultra Cameo, 3 finer (12/08). (#97331)

Magnificent 1897 Dollar, PR67

5103 1897 PR67 PCGS. Nearly inconceivable in terms of preservation, this Superb Gem proof dollar displays intense, watery fields and exacting detail. Wayne Miller, in his Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook, provides commentary regarding proof 1897 dollars: "... hairlines and other surface impairments are quite prevalent on this issue. Marginal Gems are not uncommon, but fully Gem proofs of this date are rare." Of course with a scant mintage of only 731 coins, any proof-format 1897 dollar is scarce—or even rare—depending on which standard is applied. Population: 10 in 67, 3 finer (12/08).

Gorgeous PR67 Cameo 1897 Dollar

5104 1897 PR67 Cameo NGC. From an original mintage of 731 specimens, this is one of the most appealing and best-preserved survivors, delightfully detailed with light but bold frost across the carefully preserved central devices. Striking mirrors, silver-white close to the portrait and eagle but increasingly gold-toned close to the rims, are similarly attractive. Though a faint fingerprint appears above Liberty's cap, the general visual appeal is grand. An enchanting opportunity for the dedicated proof Morgan dollar enthusiast. Census: 14 in 67, 8 finer (12/08). (#87332)
See: Video Lot Description

Marvelously Toned 1897 Dollar, PR68 Cameo

5105 1897 PR68 Cameo PCGS. At first glance this coin wins the prize for one of the most ineffably beautiful toned Morgans the present cataloger has ever seen. The obverse center has a remarkably consistent shade of pale pastel sage, deepening at the rim to sunset-orange and lilac. The reverse has a slightly deeper shade of sage in the center, with a bit less of a yellow tinge. In spite of the moderate color, both sides show splendid reflectivity, and the justly merited Cameo designation indicates the depth of contrast between frosty devices and looking-glass fields.

The strike is also marvelously without fault, showing good separation in the hair over the ear, the individual hair strands beneath LIBERTY, and full articulation on the eagle's wing and breast feathers. For pedigree purposes we note a couple of tiny dark toning spots on Liberty's rear cheek just in front of the lock of hair in front of the ear.

Even with the normal loving preservation that was afforded to proof Morgan dollars, there are precious few indeed that ever reach the PR68 certified grade. NGC has currently certified about 3.6% of all proof Morgans in this grade (all contrast levels), while PCGS has certified only 0.7% of all proof Morgans in PR68 at all levels of contrast. For all proof Morgans, the latter service has certified only 14 examples in PR68 Cameo, and there is only a single PR69 (non-Cameo).

For the 1897 date, this piece is tied for finest certified with one other PR68 Cameo piece. A marvelous opportunity for the collector of high-grade Morgans or proof type coins. (#87332)

1898 Ultra Cameo Morgan Dollar Astonishing White-on-Black PR65 ★

5106 1898 PR65 ★ Ultra Cameo NGC. CAC. Considerations such as the mintage of 735 specimens notwithstanding, the prime attribute of this attractive Gem is its stunning contrast. Collector consensus is that the 1898 issue has some of the most amazing examples of the cameo effect on Morgan dollar proofs, and coins such as the present example strongly reinforce that perception. The fully struck devices display such thick, extensive frost that even the peripheral design elements offer powerful contrast with the fathomless, astonishingly reflective mirrors. Overall preservation is strong for the grade assigned, and only the slightest trace of a golden aura visits the margins. Census: 14 in 65 Ultra Cameo, 30 finer (11/08). (#97333)

Gorgeous 1898 Silver Dollar, PR67 Deep Cameo

5107 1898 PR67 Deep Cameo PCGS. Amazing proof brilliance is visible on this outstanding Morgan dollar, with fully mirrored and extremely deep fields surrounding highly lustrous and frosty silver devices, all within a border of pale gold toning. Dave Bowers commented about the proof 1898 Morgan dollars: "Proofs of this date are usually sharply struck with beautiful, bold cameo contrast and are unusually beautiful." His comments are certainly applicable to the present aesthetically pleasing coin. It will undoubtedly excite the connoisseur. Population: 8 in 67 Deep Cameo, 0 finer (12/08).

Splendid 1899 Morgan Silver Dollar Low Mintage, PR67

5108 1899 PR67 NGC. The year 1899 saw an anemic business strike mintage of 330,000 Morgan silver dollars. This small production figure has always enhanced the desirability of the 1899 date in general, and puts particular pressure on the tiny proof mintage of 846 pieces. The Annual Report of the Director of the Mint explained the small mintage, "The mint at Philadelphia, besides turning out the usual supply of minor coin, has borne the brunt of an exceptionally heavy demand for subsidiary silver, given some assistance to fill the required quota of silver dollars, and applied the rest of its capacity to the coinage of gold." The New Orleans Mint apparently worked overtime in 1899 to produce the large number of silver dollars usually coined at Philadelphia.

The present coin is a magnificent example of this scarce date. Full frosty devices contrast dramatically with liquid, reflective fields to create spectacular eye appeal. The coin possesses all the attributes of a stellar proof Morgan dollar. Census: 12 in 67, 4 finer (11/08). (#7334)

Lovely 1899 Dollar, PR67 Cameo

5109 1899 PR67 Cameo PCGS. The 1899 Morgan dollar is a date that has long exerted a peculiar fascination for aficionados of the series. The low mintage of business strikes—330,000 coins—is a partial explanation, and some numerological sorts are attracted by the pair of 9's making 18 and such tricks. But the proof issue is also fundamentally appealing precisely because so few Cameo pieces are found in the higher proof grades. In PR67 Cameo, this example is one of only two so certified at PCGS, and that service has graded only a single Cameo finer (12/08). This piece has splendid silver-white surfaces with only a few faint contact marks, and the fields are highly reflective, setting off the frosty devices to good effect. There are no Deep Cameos at PCGS of this issue graded finer than PR66.

Exceptional PR67 Cameo 1900 Dollar

5110 1900 PR67 Cameo NGC. The 1900 is a popular proof Morgan dollar issue among type collectors; in his The Morgan and Peace Dollar Textbook, Wayne Miller writes: "Not all proofs of this date are cameos, but deep mirror frosty cameos do exist, and are very beautiful." The sentence is apt, particularly when one examines the present Superb Gem. The strike is bold, the mirrors are deep, and the moderate frost on the devices supplies excellent (though not Ultra Cameo-level) contrast. The surfaces are brilliant throughout. Census: 13 in 67 Cameo, 7 finer (11/08). (#87335)

Exquisite Gem Deep Cameo Proof 1900 Dollar

5111 1900 PR65 Deep Cameo PCGS. In his Guide Book of Morgan Silver Dollars, Q. David Bowers briefly treats the proofs of 1900: "Usually a decent strike. Contrast varies from average to cameo. Most are cameos, and, increasingly, many are being certified as such." Deep Cameo coins, on the other hand, remain rare birds. This boldly contrasted Gem shows light golden overtones on the obverse with a couple of tiny dots of deeper toning on the rim above PLURIBUS. Excellent striking definition with gorgeous frost on the portrait and eagle. A noteworthy coin for the connoisseur. Population: 2 in 65 Deep Cameo, 4 finer (12/08).
From The Good Morgan Sunshine #3 PCGS Registry Set of Proof Morgan Dollars. (#97335)

Originally Toned 1902 PR68 Morgan Dollar

5112 1902 PR68 NGC. This is a simply splendid Superb Gem proof of this issue, with deep original toning on the obverse in a wonderful shade of aquamarine around the peripheries, with the center deep cherry-pink. On the reverse that same shade expands outward, occupying a greater area in the center and embracing gold, pinkish-gold, and lavender hues before merging into the iridescent aqua at the rims outside of the wreath. In PR68 grade this piece is one of four examples certified at NGC, along with a single PR68 Star example (12/08). A marvelous acquisition for a high-grade date or type set. (#7337)

Impeccable PR66 Cameo 1904 Dollar

5113 1904 PR66 Cameo NGC. CAC. The remarkably smooth, impeccably preserved surfaces of this Premium Gem proof Cameo exhibit a mild white-on-black appearance, and the devices are fully struck on each side. Brilliant throughout, the surfaces are essentially perfect and the fields have a delicate mirror-like flash. Post-1900 dollars are rarely seen with any cameo contrast. The method for proofing coins changed after the turn of the century to no contrast between the fields and devices. As a result, the only coins that show a hint of cameo in these years are the first ones from a fresh set of dies. Census: 2 in 66 Cameo, 1 finer (11/08). (#87339)

Brightly Reflective Gem Zerbe Proof

5114 1921 Zerbe PR65 NGC. Struck for Farran Zerbe, the exact status of these pieces varies from one dollar expert to another. Some consider them true proofs, others presentation strikes. As presentation pieces, the criteria is lower than for actual Philadelphia-struck proofs. These pieces were struck from polished dies, but lack the depth of mirroring in the fields that Chapman proofs and other Morgan dollar proofs possess. Nevertheless, these coins are widely considered proofs and collected as such. This particular coin has bright, reflective fields, and each side is covered with an even layer of reddish-golden patina. A couple of shallow marks are located on Liberty's chin and may serve in the future as pedigree identifiers for this important, high grade piece. Census: 10 in 65, 9 finer (12/08). (#7341)

One of the Finest 1922-D Peace Dollars Certified, MS67

5115 1922-D MS67 NGC. The 1922-D Peace dollar, with a mintage exceeding 15 million pieces, is the most plentiful Denver Mint dollar of this design type in Mint State (David Bowers, A Buyer's Guide to Silver Dollars and Trade Dollars of the United States, third edition). NGC and PCGS have certified several thousand pieces through MS65, and close to 300 Premium Gems. A mere 13 MS67 coins have been graded, however, and none are finer.

The well cared for silver-colored surfaces of this Superb Gem are awash in dazzling luster. Additionally, the design elements are boldly impressed—including the centers and the lower obverse—areas that are often weak. This is a wonderful opportunity for the Peace dollar specialist to acquire an exceptional specimen of this condition rarity. Census: 12 in 67, 0 finer (11/08). (#7358)

Awesome 1922-D Peace Dollar, MS67

5116 1922-D MS67 NGC. Awe-inspiring luster beams from this splendid Superb Gem D-mint Peace dollar. Many 1922-D Peace dollars display die breaks, and the current offering is no exception. A circular break extends from the base of Liberty's neck, across the top of the 1 in the date, up through the N of the motto, and finally terminates at the bases of LI in LIBERTY. A smaller die break joins a minuscule rim cud at 8 o'clock on the obverse to the aforementioned break, and the bases of R and Y in LIBERTY are joined by a diagonal crack. An impressive and interesting 1922-D that is also fully struck. Census: 12 in 67, 0 finer (12/08). (#7358)

Splendid 1925-S Peace Dollar, MS65

5117 1925-S MS65 NGC. For advanced Peace dollar specialists, the acquisition of a Gem 1925-S represents an important step toward the completion of the finest quality set. NGC and PCGS have combined to certify 91 submissions as MS65, but neither service has graded even one finer example. This Gem is highly lustrous with fully brilliant, untoned silver surfaces and few marks of any sort. The strike is well above average, but even this piece has evidence of slight weakness at the centers, especially evident on the obverse. Census: 55 in 65, 0 finer (12/08). (#7366)

Marvelous Gem 1925-S Peace Dollar

5118 1925-S MS65 PCGS. Despite its moderate mintage of 1.6 million coins, the 1925-S is among the most difficult Peace dollar issues to locate in Gem condition. This example, untoned save for scattered hints of gold-gray, has satiny luster marked by a virtual absence of mint frost. The strike is considerably better than average for this poorly struck issue, showing the lowest row of feathers plainly, if not boldly. The surface preservation is remarkable, even by Gem standards, and the eye appeal is gorgeous. Housed in a small-format PCGS holder. Population: 36 in 65, 0 finer (12/08). (#7366)

Amazing Superb Gem 1935-S Peace Dollar

5119 1935-S MS67 NGC. Final year of issue and both a popular and elusive item in high grades. Well struck and brilliant, with an effulgent satiny sheen that emanates from the exquisitely preserved surfaces. There are no distracting marks evident on either side. What few minuscule surface interruptions that exist have no depth, leaving this piece as the most Superb Peace dollar that this cataloger has ever seen. This level of quality is exceedingly rare, for the series; and one could examine thousands of Uncirculated examples, from multiple dates and mints, without ever finding another specimen as fine as this one. An amazing coin that must be seen in order to be fully appreciated. Census: 3 in 67, 0 finer (11/08). (#7379)

Steve Ivy began collecting and studying rare coins in his youth, and as a teenager in 1963 began advertising coins for sale in national publications. Seven years later, at the age of twenty, he opened Steve Ivy Rare Coins in downtown Dallas, and in 1976, Steve Ivy Numismatic Auctions was incorporated. Steve managed the business as well as serving as chief numismatist, buying and selling hundreds of millions of dollars of coins during the 1970s and early 1980s. In early 1983, James Halperin became a full partner, and the name of the corporation was changed to Heritage Rare Coin Galleries. Steve's primary responsibilities now include management of the marketing and selling efforts of the company, the formation of corporate policy for long-term growth, and corporate relations with financial institutions. He remains intimately involved in numismatics, attending all major national shows. Steve engages in daily discourse with industry leaders on all aspects of the rare coin/currency business, and his views on grading, market trends and hobby developments are respected throughout the industry. He serves on the Board of Directors of the Professional Numismatists Guild (and was immediate past president), is the current Chairman of The Industry Council for Tangible Assets, and is a member of most leading numismatic organizations. Steve's keen appreciation of history is reflected in his active participation in other organizations, including past or present board positions on the Texas Historical Foundation and the Dallas Historical Society (where he also served as Exhibits Chairman). Steve is an avid collector of Texas books, manuscripts, and national currency, and he owns one of the largest and finest collections in private hands. He is also a past Board Chair of Dallas Challenge, and is currently the Finance Chair of the Phoenix House of Texas.

James Halperin - Co-Chairman

Jim Halperin and the traders under his supervision have transacted billions of dollars in rare coin business, and have outsold all other numismatic firms every year for over two decades. Born in Boston in 1952, Jim attended Middlesex School in Concord from 1966 to 1970. At the age of 15, he formed a part-time rare coin business after discovering that he had a knack (along with a nearly photographic memory) for coins. Jim scored a perfect 800 on his math SATs and received early acceptance to Harvard College, but after attending three semesters, he took a permanent leave of absence to pursue his full-time numismatic career. In 1975, Jim personally supervised the protocols for the first mainframe computer system in the numismatic business, which would catapult New England Rare Coin Galleries to the top of the industry in less than four years. In 1983, Jim merged with his friend and former archrival Steve Ivy, whom Jim had long admired. Their partnership has become the world's largest and most successful numismatic company, as well as the third-largest auctioneer in America. Jim remains arguably the best "eye" in the coin business today (he won the professional division of the PCGS World Series of Grading). In the mid-1980s, he authored "How to Grade U.S. Coins" (now posted on the web at www.CoinGrading.com), a highly-acclaimed text upon which the NGC and PCGS grading standards would ultimately be based. Jim is a bit of a Renaissance man, as a well-known futurist, an active collector of EC comics and early 20th-century American art (visit www.jhalpe.com), venture capital investor, philanthropist (he endows a multimillion-dollar health education foundation), and part-time novelist. His first fictional novel, "The Truth Machine," was published in 1996 and became an international science fiction bestseller, and was optioned for movie development by Warner Brothers. Jim's second novel, "The First Immortal," was published in early 1998 and immediately optioned as a Hallmark Hall of Fame television miniseries. Jim is married to Gayle Ziaks, and they have two sons, David and Michael. In 1996, with funding from Jim and Gayle's foundation, Gayle founded Dallas' Dance for the Planet, which has grown to become the largest free dance festival in the world.

Today, as an owner and as President of Heritage, his responsibilities include overseeing the firm's private client group and working with top collectors in every field in which Heritage is active. Greg has been involved with many of the rarest items and most important collections handled by the firm, including the purchase and/or sale of the Ed Trompeter Collection (the world's largest numismatic purchase according to the Guinness Book of World Records), the legendary 1894 San Francisco Dime, the 1838 New Orleans Half Dollar, and the 1804 Silver Dollar. During his career, Greg has handled more than $1 billion of rare coins, collectibles and art, and provided expert consultation concerning the authenticity and grade condition of coins for the Professional Coin Grading Service (PCGS). 8. Bids in Signature. Auctions or Grand Format Auctions may be placed as set forth in the printed catalog section entitled "Choose your bidding method." For auctions held solely on the Internet, see the alternatives on HA.com. Review at HA.com/common/howtobid.php.
9. Presentment of Bids: Non-Internet bids (including but not limited to podium, fax, phone and mail bids) are treated similar to floor bids in that they must be on-increment or at a half increment (called a cut bid). Any podium, fax, phone, or mail bids that do not conform to a full or half increment will be rounded up or down to the nearest full or half increment and this revised amount will be considered your high bid.
10. Auctioneer's Execution of Certain Bids. Auctioneer cannot be responsible for your errors in bidding, so carefully check that every bid is entered correctly. When identical mail or FAX bids are submitted, preference is given to the first received. To ensure the greatest accuracy, your written bids should be entered on the standard printed bid sheet and be received at Auctioneer's place of business at least two business days before the Auction start. Auctioneer is not responsible for executing mail bids or FAX bids received on or after the day the first lot is sold, nor Internet bids submitted after the published closing time; nor is Auctioneer responsible for proper execution of bids submitted by telephone, mail, FAX, e-mail, Internet, or in person once the Auction begins. Internet bids may not be withdrawn until your written request is received and acknowledged by Auctioneer (FAX: 214-4438425); such requests must state the reason, and may constitute grounds for withdrawal of bidding privileges. Lots won by mail Bidders will not be delivered at the Auction unless prearranged.
11. Caveat as to Bid Increments. Bid increments (over the current bid level) determine the lowest amount you may bid on a particular lot. Bids greater than one increment over the current bid can be any whole dollar amount. It is possible under several circumstances for winning bids to be between increments, sometimes only $1 above the previous increment. Please see: "How can I lose by less than an increment?" on our website. Bids will be accepted in whole dollar amounts only. No "buy" or "unlimited" bids will be accepted.

The following chart governs current bidding increments.

12. If Auctioneer calls for a full increment, a bidder may request Auctioneer to accept a bid at half of the increment ("Cut Bid") only once per lot. After offering a Cut Bid, bidders may continue to participate only at full increments. Off-increment bids may be accepted by the Auctioneer at Signature® Auctions and Grand Format Auctions. If the Auctioneer solicits bids other than the expected increment, these bids will not be considered Cut Bids.

Conducting the Auction:

13. Notice of the consignor's liberty to place bids on his lots in the Auction is hereby made in accordance with Article 2 of the Texas Business and Commercial Code. A "Minimum Bid" is an amount below which the lot will not sell. THE CONSIGNOR OF PROPERTY MAY PLACE WRITTEN "Minimum Bids" ON HIS LOTS IN ADVANCE OF THE AUCTION; ON SUCH LOTS, IF THE HAMMER PRICE DOES NOT MEET THE "Minimum Bid", THE CONSIGNOR MAY PAY A REDUCED COMMISSION ON THOSE LOTS. "Minimum Bids" are generally posted online several days prior to the Auction closing. For any successful bid placed by a consignor on his Property on the Auction floor, or by any means during the live session, or after the "Minimum Bid" for an Auction have been posted, we will require the consignor to pay full Buyer's Premium and Seller's Commissions on such lot.
14. The highest qualified Bidder recognized by the Auctioneer shall be the buyer. In the event of any dispute between any Bidders at an Auction, Auctioneer may at his sole discretion reoffer the lot. Auctioneer's decision and declaration of the winning Bidder shall be final and binding upon all Bidders. Bids properly offered, whether by floor Bidder or other means of bidding, may on occasion be missed or go unrecognized; in such cases, the Auctioneer may declare the recognized bid accepted as the winning bid, regardless of whether a competing bid may have been higher.
15. Auctioneer reserves the right to refuse to honor any bid or to limit the amount of any bid, in its sole discretion. A bid is considered not made in "Good Faith" when made by an insolvent or irresponsible person, a person under the age of eighteen, or is not supported by satisfactory credit, collectibles references, or otherwise. Regardless of the disclosure of his identity, any bid by a consignor or his agent on a lot consigned by him is deemed to be made in "Good Faith." Any person apparently appearing on the OFAC list is not eligible to bid.
16. Nominal Bids. The Auctioneer in its sole discretion may reject nominal bids, small opening bids, or very nominal advances. If a lot bearing estimates fails to open for 40–60% of the low estimate, the Auctioneer may pass the item or may place a protective bid on behalf of the consignor.
17. Lots bearing bidding estimates shall open at Auctioneer's discretion (approximately 50% of the low estimate). In the event that no bid meets or exceeds that opening amount, the lot shall pass as unsold.
18. All items are to be purchased per lot as numerically indicated and no lots will be broken. Auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw, prior to the close, any lots from the Auction.
19. Auctioneer reserves the right to rescind the sale in the event of nonpayment, breach of a warranty, disputed ownership, auctioneer's clerical error or omission in exercising bids and reserves, or for any other reason and in Auctioneer's sole discretion. In cases of nonpayment, Auctioneer's election to void a sale does not relieve the Bidder from their obligation to pay Auctioneer its fees (seller's and buyer's premium) and any other damages or expenses pertaining to the lot.
20. Auctioneer occasionally experiences Internet and/or Server service outages, and Auctioneer periodically schedules system downtime for maintenance and other purposes, during which Bidders cannot participate or place bids. If such outages occur, we may at our discretion extend bidding for the Auction. Bidders unable to place their Bids through the Internet are directed to contact Client Services at 1-800-872-6467.
21. The Auctioneer or its affiliates may consign items to be sold in the Auction, and may bid on those lots or any other lots. Auctioneer or affiliates expressly reserve the right to modify any such bids at any time prior to the hammer based upon data made known to the Auctioneer or its affiliates. The Auctioneer may extend advances, guarantees, or loans to certain consignors, and may extend financing or other credits at varying rates to certain Bidders in the auction.
22. The Auctioneer has the right to sell certain unsold items after the close of the Auction. Such lots shall be considered sold during the Auction and all these Terms and Conditions shall apply to such sales including but not limited to the Buyer's Premium, return rights, and disclaimers.

Payment:

23. All sales are strictly for cash in United States dollars (including U.S. currency, bank wire, cashier checks, travelers checks, eChecks, and bank money orders, all subject to reporting requirements). All are subject to clearing and funds being received In Auctioneer's account before delivery of the purchases. Auctioneer reserves the right to determine if a check constitutes "good funds" when drawn on a U.S. bank for ten days, and thirty days when drawn on an international bank. Credit Card (Visa or Master Card only) and PayPal payments may be accepted up to $10,000 from non-dealers at the sole discretion of the Auctioneer, subject to the following limitations: a) sales are only to the cardholder, b) purchases are shipped to the cardholder's registered and verified address, c) Auctioneer may pre-approve the cardholder's credit line, d) a credit card transaction may not be used in conjunction with any other financing or extended terms offered by the Auctioneer, and must transact immediately upon invoice presentation, e) rights of return are governed by these Terms and Conditions, which supersede those conditions promulgated by the card issuer, f) floor Bidders must present their card.
24. Payment is due upon closing of the Auction session, or upon presentment of an invoice. Auctioneer reserves the right to void an invoice if payment in full is not received within 7 days after the close of the Auction. In cases of nonpayment, Auctioneer's election to void a sale does not relieve the Bidder from their obligation to pay Auctioneer its fees (seller's and buyer's premium) on the lot and any other damages pertaining to the lot.
25. Lots delivered in the States of Texas, California, or other states where the Auction may be held, are subject to all applicable state and local taxes, unless appropriate permits are on file with Auctioneer. Bidder agrees to pay Auctioneer the actual amount of tax due in the event that sales tax is not properly collected due to: 1) an expired, inaccurate, inappropriate tax certificate or declaration, 2) an incorrect interpretation of the applicable statute, 3) or any other reason. The appropriate form or certificate must be on file at and verified by Auctioneer five days prior to Auction or tax must be paid; only if such form or certificate is received by Auctioneer within 4 days after the Auction can a refund of tax paid be made. Lots from different Auctions may not be aggregated for sales tax purposes.
26. In the event that a Bidder's payment is dishonored upon presentment(s), Bidder shall pay the maximum statutory processing fee set by applicable state law. If you attempt to pay via eCheck and your financial institution denies this transfer from your bank account, or the payment cannot be completed using the selected funding source, you agree to complete payment using your credit card on file.
27. If any Auction invoice submitted by Auctioneer is not paid in full when due, the unpaid balance will bear interest at the highest rate permitted by law from the date of invoice until paid. If the Auctioneer refers any invoice to an attorney for collection, the buyer agrees to pay attorney's fees, court costs, and other collection costs incurred by Auctioneer. If Auctioneer assigns collection to its in-house legal staff, such attorney's time expended on the matter shall be compensated at a rate comparable to the hourly rate of independent attorneys.

28. In the event a successful Bidder fails to pay any amounts due, Auctioneer reserves the right to sell the lot(s) securing the invoice to any underbidders in the Auction that the lot(s) appeared, or at subsequent private or public sale, or relist the lot(s) in a future auction conducted by Auctioneer. A defaulting Bidder agrees to pay for the reasonable costs of resale (including a 10% seller's commission, if consigned to an auction conducted by Auctioneer). The defaulting Bidder is liable to pay any difference between his total original invoice for the lot(s), plus any applicable interest, and the net proceeds for the lot(s) if sold at private sale or the subsequent hammer price of the lot(s) less the 10% seller's commissions, if sold at an Auctioneer's auction
29. Auctioneer reserves the right to require payment in full in good funds before delivery of the merchandise.
30. Auctioneer shall have a lien against the merchandise purchased by the buyer to secure payment of the Auction invoice. Auctioneer is further granted a lien and the right to retain possession of any other property of the buyer then held by the Auctioneer or its affiliates to secure payment of any Auction invoice or any other amounts due the Auctioneer or affiliates from the buyer. With respect to these lien rights, Auctioneer shall have all the rights of a secured creditor under Article 9 of the Texas Uniform Commercial Code, including but not limited to the right of sale. In addition, with respect to payment of the Auction invoice(s), the buyer waives any and all rights of offset he might otherwise have against the Auctioneer and the consignor of the merchandise included on the invoice. If a Bidder owes Auctioneer or its affiliates on any account, Auctioneer and its affiliates shall have the right to offset such unpaid account by any credit balance due Bidder, and it may secure by possessory lien any unpaid amount by any of the Bidder's property in their possession.
31. Title shall not pass to the successful Bidder until all invoices are paid in full. It is the responsibility of the buyer to provide adequate insurance coverage for the items once they have been delivered to a common carrier or third-party shipper.

Delivery; Shipping; and Handling Charges:

32. Buyer is liable for shipping and handling. Please refer to Auctioneer's website www.HA.com/common/shipping.php for the latest charges or call Auctioneer. Auctioneer is unable to combine purchases from other auctions or affiliates into one package for shipping purposes. Lots won will be shipped in a commercially reasonable time after payment in good funds for the merchandise and the shipping fees is received or credit extended, except when third-party shipment occurs.
33. Successful international Bidders shall provide written shipping instructions, including specified customs declarations, to the Auctioneer for any lots to be delivered outside of the United States. NOTE: Declaration value shall be the item'(s) hammer price together with its buyer's premium and Auctioneer shall use the correct harmonized code for the lot. Domestic Buyers on lots designated for third-party shipment must designate the common carrier, accept risk of loss, and prepay shipping costs.
34. All shipping charges will be borne by the successful Bidder. Any risk of loss during shipment will be borne by the buyer following Auctioneer's delivery to the designated common carrier or third-party shipper, regardless of domestic or foreign shipment.
35. Due to the nature of some items sold, it shall be the responsibility for the successful bidder to arrange pick-up and shipping through third-parties; as to such items Auctioneer shall have no liability. Failure to pick-up or arrange shipping in a timely fashion (within ten days) shall subject Lots to storage and moving charges, including a $100 administration fee plus $10 daily storage for larger items and $5.00 daily for smaller items (storage fee per item) after 35 days. In the event the Lot is not removed within ninety days, the Lot may be offered for sale to recover any past due storage or moving fees, including a 10% Seller's Commission.
36. The laws of various countries regulate the import or export of certain plant and animal properties, including (but not limited to) items made of (or including) ivory, whalebone, turtleshell, coral, crocodile, or other wildlife. Transport of such lots may require special licenses for export, import, or both. Bidder is responsible for: 1) obtaining all information on such restricted items for both export and import; 2) obtaining all such licenses and/or permits. Delay or failure to obtain any such license or permit does not relieve the buyer of timely compliance with standard payment terms. For further information, please contact Bill Taylor at 800-872-6467 ext. 1280.
37. Any request for shipping verification for undelivered packages must be made within 30 days of shipment by Auctioneer.

Cataloging, Warranties and Disclaimers:

38. NO WARRANTY, WHETHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, IS MADE WITH RESPECT TO ANY DESCRIPTION CONTAINED IN THIS AUCTION OR ANY SECOND OPINE. Any description of the items or second opine contained in this Auction is for the sole purpose of identifying the items for those Bidders who do not have the opportunity to view the lots prior to bidding, and no description of items has been made part of the basis of the bargain or has created any express warranty that the goods would conform to any description made by Auctioneer. Color variations can be expected in any electronic or printed imaging, and are not grounds for the return of any lot.
39. Auctioneer is selling only such right or title to the items being sold as Auctioneer may have by virtue of consignment agreements on the date of auction and disclaims any warranty of title to the Property. Auctioneer disclaims any warranty of merchantability or fitness for any particular purposes. All images, descriptions, sales data, and archival records are the exclusive property of Auctioneer, and may be used by Auctioneer for advertising, promotion, archival records, and any other uses deemed appropriate.
40. Translations of foreign language documents may be provided as a convenience to interested parties. Auctioneer makes no representation as to the accuracy of those translations and will not be held responsible for errors in bidding arising from inaccuracies in translation.
41. Auctioneer disclaims all liability for damages, consequential or otherwise, arising out of or in connection with the sale of any Property by Auctioneer to Bidder. No third party may rely on any benefit of these Terms and Conditions and any rights, if any, established hereunder are personal to the Bidder and may not be assigned. Any statement made by the Auctioneer is an opinion and does not constitute a warranty or representation. No employee of Auctioneer may alter these Terms and Conditions, and, unless signed by a principal of Auctioneer, any such alteration is null and void.
42. Auctioneer shall not be liable for breakage of glass or damage to frames (patent or latent); such defects, in any event, shall not be a basis for any claim for return or reduction in purchase price.

Release:

43. In consideration of participation in the Auction and the placing of a bid, Bidder expressly releases Auctioneer, its officers, directors and employees, its affiliates, and its outside experts that provide second opines, from any and all claims, cause of action, chose of action, whether at law or equity or any arbitration or mediation rights existing under the rules of any professional society or affiliation based upon the assigned description, or a derivative theory, breach of warranty express or implied, representation or other matter set forth within these Terms and Conditions of Auction or otherwise. In the event of a claim, Bidder agrees that such rights and privileges conferred therein are strictly construed as specifically declared herein; e.g., authenticity, typographical error, etc. and are the exclusive remedy. Bidder, by non-compliance to these express terms of a granted remedy, shall waive any claim against Auctioneer.
44. Notice: Some Property sold by Auctioneer are inherently dangerous e.g. firearms, cannons, and small items that may be swallowed or ingested or may have latent defects all of which may cause harm to a person. Purchaser accepts all risk of loss or damage from its purchase of these items and Auctioneer disclaims any liability whether under contract or tort for damages and losses, direct or inconsequential, and expressly disclaims any warranty as to safety or usage of any lot sold.

Dispute Resolution and Arbitration Provision:

45. By placing a bid or otherwise participating in the auction, Bidder accepts these Terms and Conditions of Auction, and specifically agrees to the alternative dispute resolution provided herein. Arbitration replaces the right to go to court, including the right to a jury trial.
46. Auctioneer in no event shall be responsible for consequential damages, incidental damages, compensatory damages, or any other damages arising or claimed to be arising from the auction of any lot. In the event that Auctioneer cannot deliver the lot or subsequently it is established that the lot lacks title, or other transfer or condition issue is claimed, In such cases the sole remedy shall be limited to rescission of sale and refund of the amount paid by Bidder; in no case shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot. After one year has elapsed, Auctioneer's maximum liability shall be limited to any commissions and fees Auctioneer earned on that lot.
47. In the event of an attribution error, Auctioneer may at its sole discretion, correct the error on the Internet, or, if discovered at a later date, to refund the buyer's purchase price without further obligation.
48. Arbitration Clause: All controversies or claims under this Agreement or arising from or pertaining to: this Agreement or related documents, or to the Properties consigned hereunder, or the enforcement or interpretation hereof of this or any related agreements, or damage to Properties, payment, or any other matter, or because of an alleged breach, default or misrepresentation under the provisions hereof or otherwise, that cannot be settled amicably within one (1) month from the date of notification of either party to the other of such dispute or question, which notice shall specify the details of such dispute or question, shall be settled by final and binding arbitration by one arbitrator appointed by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA"). The arbitration shall be conducted in Dallas, Dallas County, Texas in accordance with the then existing Commercial Arbitration Rules of the AAA. The arbitration shall be brought within two (2) years of the alleged breach, default or misrepresentation or the claim is waived. The prevailing party (a party that is awarded substantial and material relief on its claim or defense) may be awarded its reasonable attorney's fees and costs. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof; provided, however, that the law applicable to any controversy shall be the law of the State of Texas, regardless of its or any other jurisdiction's choice of law principles and under the provisions of the Federal Arbitration Act.
49. No claims of any kind can be considered after the settlements have been made with the consignors. Any dispute after the settlement date is strictly between the Bidder and consignor without involvement or responsibility of the Auctioneer.
50. In consideration of their participation in or application for the Auction, a person or entity (whether the successful Bidder, a Bidder, a purchaser and/or other Auction participant or registrant) agrees that all disputes in any way relating to, arising under, connected with, or incidental to these Terms and Conditions and purchases, or default in payment thereof, shall be arbitrated pursuant to the arbitration provision. In the event that any matter including actions to compel arbitration, construe the agreement, actions in aid or arbitration or otherwise needs to be litigated, such litigation shall be exclusively in the Courts of the State of Texas, in Dallas County, Texas, and if necessary the corresponding appellate courts. For such actions, the successful Bidder, purchaser, or Auction participant also expressly submits himself to the personal jurisdiction of the State of Texas.
51. These Terms & Conditions provide specific remedies for occurrences in the auction and delivery process. Where such remedies are afforded, they shall be interpreted strictly. Bidder agrees that any claim shall utilize such remedies; Bidder making a claim in excess of those remedies provided in these Terms and Conditions agrees that in no case whatsoever shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot.

Miscellaneous:

52. Agreements between Bidders and consignors to effectuate a non-sale of an item at Auction, inhibit bidding on a consigned item to enter into a private sale agreement for said item, or to utilize the Auctioneer's Auction to obtain sales for non-selling consigned items subsequent to the Auction, are strictly prohibited. If a subsequent sale of a previously consigned item occurs in violation of this provision, Auctioneer reserves the right to charge Bidder the applicable Buyer's Premium and consignor a Seller's Commission as determined for each auction venue and by the terms of the seller's agreement.
53. Acceptance of these Terms and Conditions qualifies Bidder as a client who has consented to be contacted by Heritage in the future. In conformity with "do-not-call" regulations promulgated by the Federal or State regulatory agencies, participation by the Bidder is affirmative consent to being contacted at the phone number shown in his application and this consent shall remain in effect until it is revoked in writing. Heritage may from time to time contact Bidder concerning sale, purchase, and auction opportunities available through Heritage and its affiliates and subsidiaries.
54. Rules of Construction: Auctioneer presents properties in a number of collectible fields, and as such, specific venues have promulgated supplemental Terms and Conditions. Nothing herein shall be construed to waive the general Terms and Conditions of Auction by these additional rules and shall be construed to give force and effect to the rules in their entirety.

Additional Terms & Conditions:
COINS & CURRENCY

COINS and CURRENCY TERM A: Signature. Auctions are not on approval. No certified material may be returned because of possible differences of opinion with respect to the grade offered by any third-party organization, dealer, or service. No guarantee of grade is offered for uncertified Property sold and subsequently submitted to a third-party grading service. There are absolutely no exceptions to this policy. Under extremely limited circumstances, (e.g. gross cataloging error) a purchaser, who did not bid from the floor, may request Auctioneer to evaluate voiding a sale: such request must be made in writing detailing the alleged gross error; submission of the lot to the Auctioneer must be pre-approved by the Auctioneer; and bidder must notify Ron Brackemyre (1-800-8726467 Ext. 1312) in writing of such request within three (3) days of the non-floor bidder's receipt of the lot. Any lot that is to be evaluated must be in our offices within 30 days after Auction. Grading or method of manufacture do not qualify for this evaluation process nor do such complaints constitute a basis to challenge the authenticity of a lot. AFTER THAT 30-DAY PERIOD, NO LOTS MAY BE RETURNED FOR REASONS OTHER THAN AUTHENTICITY. Lots returned must be housed intact in their original holder. No lots purchased by floor Bidders may be returned (including those Bidders acting as agents for others) except for authenticity. Late remittance for purchases may be considered just cause to revoke all return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM B: Auctions conducted solely on the Internet THREE (3) DAY RETURN POLICY: Certified Coin and Uncertified and Certified Currency lots paid for within seven days of the Auction closing are sold with a three (3) day return privilege. You may return lots under the following conditions: Within three days of receipt of the lot, you must first notify Auctioneer by contacting Client Service by phone (1-800-872-6467) or e-mail (Bid@HA.com), and immediately ship the lot(s) fully insured to the attention of Returns, Heritage, 3500 Maple Avenue, 17th Floor, Dallas TX 75219-3941. Lots must be housed intact in their original holder and condition. You are responsible for the insured, safe delivery of any lots. A non-negotiable return fee of 5% of the purchase price ($10 per lot minimum) will be deducted from the refund for each returned lot or billed directly. Postage and handling fees are not refunded. After the three-day period (from receipt), no items may be returned for any reason. Late remittance for purchases revokes these Return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM C: Bidders who have inspected the lots prior to any Auction, or attended the Auction, or bid through an Agent, will not be granted any return privileges, except for reasons of authenticity.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM D: Coins sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for a guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Numismatic Guaranty Corporation (NGC), P.O. Box 4776, Sarasota, FL 34230; Professional Coin Grading Service (PCGS), PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; ANACS, 6555 S. Kenton St. Ste. 303, Englewood, CO 80111; and Independent Coin Grading Co. (ICG), 7901 East Belleview Ave., Suite 50, Englewood, CO 80111.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM E: Notes sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Grading, condition or other attributes of any lot may have a material effect on its value, and the opinion of others, including third-party grading services such as PCGS Currency, PMG, and CGA may differ with that of Auctioneer. Auctioneer shall not be bound by any prior or subsequent opinion, determination, or certification by any grading service. Bidder specifically waives any claim to right of return of any item because of the opinion, determination, or certification, or lack thereof, by any grading service. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Paper Money Guaranty (PMG), PO Box 4711, Sarasota FL 34230; PCGS Currency, PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; Currency Grading & Authentication (CGA), PO Box 418, Three Bridges, NJ 08887. Third party graded notes are not returnable for any reason whatsoever.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM F: Since we cannot examine encapsulated coins or notes, they are sold "as is" without our grading opinion, and may not be returned for any reason. Auctioneer shall not be liable for any patent or latent defect or controversy pertaining to or arising from any encapsulated collectible. In any such instance, purchaser's remedy, if any, shall be solely against the service certifying the collectible.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM G: Due to changing grading standards over time, differing interpretations, and to possible mishandling of items by subsequent owners, Auctioneer reserves the right to grade items differently than shown on certificates from any grading service that accompany the items. Auctioneer also reserves the right to grade items differently than the grades shown in the prior catalog should such items be reconsigned to any future auction.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM H: Although consensus grading is employed by most grading services, it should be noted as aforesaid that grading is not an exact science. In fact, it is entirely possible that if a lot is broken out of a plastic holder and resubmitted to another grading service or even to the same service, the lot could come back with a different grade assigned.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM I: Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. The degree of liquidity for certified coins and collectibles will vary according to general market conditions and the particular lot involved. For some lots there may be no active market at all at certain points in time.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM J: All non-certified coins and currency are guaranteed genuine, but are not guaranteed as to grade, since grading is a matter of opinion, an art and not a science, and therefore the opinion rendered by the Auctioneer or any third party grading service may not agree with the opinion of others (including trained experts), and the same expert may not grade the same item with the same grade at two different times. Auctioneer has graded the non-certified numismatic items, in the Auctioneer's opinion, to their current interpretation of the American Numismatic Association's standards as of the date the catalog was prepared. There is no guarantee or warranty implied or expressed that the grading standards utilized by the Auctioneer will meet the standards of any grading service at any time in the future.

Your five most effective bidding techniques:

1 Interactive Internet™ Proxy Bidding

(leave your maximum Bid at HA.com before the auction starts)

Heritage's exclusive Interactive Internet™ system is fun and easy! Before you start, you must register online at HA.com and obtain your Username and Password.

1. Login to the HA.com website, using your Username and Password.
2. Chose the specialty you're interested in at the top of the homepage (i.e. coins, currency, comics, movie posters, fine art, etc.).
3. Search or browse for the lots that interest you. Every auction has search features and a 'drop-down' menu list.
4. Select a lot by clicking on the link or the photo icon. Read the description, and view the full-color photography. Note that clicking on the image will enlarge the photo with amazing detail.
5. View the current opening bid. Below the lot description, note the historic pricing information to help you establish price levels. Clicking on a link will take you directly to our Permanent Auction Archives for more information and images.
6. If the current price is within your range, Bid! At the top of the lot page is a box containing the Current Bid and an entry box for your "Secret Maximum Bid" – the maximum amount you are willing to pay for the item before the Buyer's Premium is added. Click the button marked "Place Bid" (if you are not logged in, a login box will open first so you can enter your username (or e-mail address) and password.
7. After you are satisfied that all the information is correct, confirm your "Secret Maximum Bid" by clicking on the "Confirm Absentee Bid" button. You will receive immediate notification letting you know if you are now the top bidder, or if another bidder had previously bid higher than your amount. If you bid your maximum amount and someone has already bid higher, you will immediately know so you can concentrate on other lots.
8. Before the auction, if another bidder surpasses your "Secret Maximum Bid", you will be notified automatically by e-mail containing a link to review the lot and possibly bid higher.
9. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes at 10 P.M. Central Time the night before the session is offered in a floor event. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes two hours before live sessions where there is no floor bidding.
10. The Interactive Internet™ system generally opens the lot at the next increment above the second highest bid. As the high bidder, your "Secret Maximum Bid" will compete for you during the floor auction. Of course, it is possible in a Signature® or Grand Format live auction that you may be outbid on the floor or by a Heritage Live bidder after Internet bidding closes. Bid early, as the earliest bird wins in the event of a tie bid. For more information about bidding and bid increments, please see the section labeled "Bidding Increments" elsewhere in this catalog.
11. After the auction, you will be notified of your success. It's that easy!

2 HERITAGE Live!™ Bidding
(participate in the Live auction via the Internet)

1. Look on each auction's homepage to verify whether that auction is "HA.com/Live Enabled." All Signature® and Grand Format auctions use the HERITAGE Live!™ system, and many feature live audio and/or video. Determine your lots of interest and maximum bids.
2. Note on the auction's homepage the session dates and times (and especially time zones!) so you can plan your participation. You actually have two methods of using HERITAGE Live!™: a) you can leave a proxy bid through this system, much like the Interactive Internet™ (we recommend you do this before the session starts), or b) you can sit in front of your computer much as the audience is sitting in the auction room during the actual auction.
3. Login at HA.com/Live.
4. Until you become experienced (and this happens quickly!) you will want to login well before your lot comes up so you can watch the activity on other lots. It is as intuitive as participating in a live auction.
5. When your lot hits the auction block, you can continue to bid live against the floor and other live bidders by simply clicking the "Bid" button; the amount you are bidding is clearly displayed on the console.

3 Mail Bidding
(deposit your maximum Bid with the U.S.P.S. well before the auction starts)

Mail bidding at auction is fun and easy, but by eliminating the interactivity of our online systems, some of your bids may be outbid before you lick the stamp, and you will have no idea of your overall chances until the auction is over!

1. Look through the printed catalog, and determine your lots of interest.
2. Research their market value by checking price lists and other price guidelines.
3. Fill out your bid sheet, entering your maximum bid on each lot. Bid using whole dollar amounts only. Verify your bids, because you are responsible for any errors you make! Please consult the Bidding Increments chart in the Terms & Conditions.
4. Please fill out your bid sheet completely! We also need: a) Your name and complete address for mailing invoices and lots; b) Your telephone number if any problems or changes arise; c) Your references; if you have not established credit with Heritage, you must send a 25% deposit, or list dealers with whom you have credit established; d) Total your bid sheet; add up all bids and list that total in the box; e) Sign your bid sheet, thereby agreeing to abide by the Terms & Conditions of Auction printed in the catalog.
5. Mail early, because preference is given to the first bid received in case of a tie.
6. When bidding by mail, you frequently purchase items at less than your maximum bid. Bidding generally opens at the next published increment above the second highest mail or Internet bid previously received; if additional floor, phone, or HERITAGE Live!™ bids are made, we act as your agent, bidding in increments over any additional bid until you win the lot or are outbid. For example, if you submitted a bid of $750, and the second highest bid was $375, bidding would start at $400; if no other bids were placed, you would purchase the lot for $400.
7. You can also Fax your Bid Sheet if time is short. Use our exclusive Fax Hotline: 214-443-8425.

4 Telephone Bidding (when you are traveling, or do not have access to HERITAGE Live!™)

1. To participate in an auction by telephone, you must make preliminary arrangements with Client Services (Toll Free 866-835-3243) at least three days before the auction.
2. We strongly recommend that you place preliminary bids by mail or Internet if you intend to participate by telephone. On many occasions, this dual approach has reduced disappointments due to telephone (cell) problems, unexpected travel, late night sessions, and time zone differences. Keep a list of your preliminary bids, and we will help you avoid bidding against yourself.

5 Attend in Person (whenever possible)

Auctions are fun, and we encourage you to attend as many as possible – although our HERITAGE Live!™ system brings all of the action right to your computer screen. Auction dates and session times are printed on the title page of each catalog, and appear on the homepage of each auction at HA.com. Join us if you can!

Your secret maximum will compete against those bids, and win all ties. To maximize your chances of winning, enter realistic secret maximum bids before live bidding begins. (Important note: Due to software and Internet latency, bids placed through Live Internet Bidding may not register in time and those bidders could lose lots they would otherwise have won, so be sure to place your proxy bids in advance.)

Terms and Conditions of Auction

Auctioneer and Auction:

1. This Auction is presented by Heritage Auction Galleries, a d/b/a/ of Heritage Auctions, Inc., or its affiliates Heritage Numismatic Auctions, Inc., or Heritage Vintage Sports Auctions, Inc., or Currency Auctions of America, Inc., as identified with the applicable licensing information on the title page of the catalog or on the HA.com Internet site (the "Auctioneer"). The Auction is conducted under these Terms and Conditions of Auction and applicable state and local law. Announcements and corrections from the podium and those made through the Terms and Conditions of Auctions appearing on the Internet at HA.com supersede those in the printed catalog.

Buyer's Premium:

2. On bids placed through Auctioneer, a Buyer's Premium of fifteen percent (15%) will be added to the successful hammer price bid on lots in Coin and Currency auctions, or nineteen and one-half percent (19.5%) on lots in all other auctions. There is a minimum Buyer's Premium of $9.00 per lot. In Gallery Auctions (sealed bid auctions of mostly bulk numismatic material), the Buyer's Premium is 19.5%.

Auction Venues:

3. The following Auctions are conducted solely on the Internet: Heritage Weekly Internet Auctions (Coin, Currency, Comics, and Vintage Movie Poster); Heritage Monthly Internet Auctions (Sports, and Stamps). Signature® Auctions and Grand Format Auctions accept bids from the Internet, telephone, fax, or mail first, followed by a floor bidding session; Heritage Live and real-time telephone bidding are available to registered clients during these auctions.

Bidders:

4. Any person participating or registering for the Auction agrees to be bound by and accepts these Terms and Conditions of Auction ("Bidder(s)").
5. All Bidders must meet Auctioneer's qualifications to bid. Any Bidder who is not a client in good standing of the Auctioneer may be disqualified at Auctioneer's sole option and will not be awarded lots. Such determination may be made by Auctioneer in its sole and unlimited discretion, at any time prior to, during, or even after the close of the Auction. Auctioneer reserves the right to exclude any person from the auction.
6. If an entity places a bid, then the person executing the bid on behalf of the entity agrees to personally guarantee payment for any successful bid.

Credit:

7. Bidders who have not established credit with the Auctioneer must either furnish satisfactory credit information (including two collectibles-related business references) well in advance of the Auction or supply valid credit card information. Bids placed through our Interactive Internet program will only be accepted from pre-registered Bidders; Bidders who are not members of HA.com or affiliates should pre-register at least 48 hours before the start of the first session (exclusive of holidays or weekends) to allow adequate time to contact references. Credit may be granted at the discretion of Auctioneer. Additionally Bidders who have not previously established credit or who wish to bid in excess of their established credit history may be required to provide their social security number or the last four digits thereof to us so a credit check may be performed prior to Auctioneer's acceptance of a bid.

Bidding Options:

8. Bids in Signature® Auctions or Grand Format Auctions may be placed as set forth in the printed catalog section entitled "Choose your bidding method." For auctions held solely on the Internet, see the alternatives on HA.com. Review at HA.com/common/howtobid.php.
9. Presentment of Bids: Non-Internet bids (including but not limited to podium, fax, phone and mail bids) are treated similar to floor bids in that they must be on-increment or at a half increment (called a cut bid). Any podium, fax, phone, or mail bids that do not conform to a full or half increment will be rounded up or down to the nearest full or half increment and this revised amount will be considered your high bid.
10. Auctioneer's Execution of Certain Bids. Auctioneer cannot be responsible for your errors in bidding, so carefully check that every bid is entered correctly. When identical mail or FAX bids are submitted, preference is given to the first received. To ensure the greatest accuracy, your written bids should be entered on the standard printed bid sheet and be received at Auctioneer's place of business at least two business days before the Auction start. Auctioneer is not responsible for executing mail bids or FAX bids received on or after the day the first lot is sold, nor Internet bids submitted after the published closing time; nor is Auctioneer responsible for proper execution of bids submitted by telephone, mail, FAX, e-mail, Internet, or in person once the Auction begins. Internet bids may not be withdrawn until your written request is received and acknowledged by Auctioneer (FAX: 214-4438425); such requests must state the reason, and may constitute grounds for withdrawal of bidding privileges. Lots won by mail Bidders will not be delivered at the Auction unless prearranged.
11. Caveat as to Bid Increments. Bid increments (over the current bid level) determine the lowest amount you may bid on a particular lot. Bids greater than one increment over the current bid can be any whole dollar amount. It is possible under several circumstances for winning bids to be between increments, sometimes only $1 above the previous increment. Please see: "How can I lose by less than an increment?" on our website. Bids will be accepted in whole dollar amounts only. No "buy" or "unlimited" bids will be accepted.

| Current Bid | Bid Increment | Current Bid | Bid Increment |
|---|---|---|---|
| <$10 | $1 | $20,000 - $29,999 | $2,000 |

| $10,000 - $19,999 | $1,000 | | |

12. If Auctioneer calls for a full increment, a bidder may request Auctioneer to accept a bid at half of the increment ("Cut Bid") only once per lot. After offering a Cut Bid, bidders may continue to participate only at full increments. Off-increment bids may be accepted by the Auctioneer at Signature® Auctions and Grand Format Auctions. If the Auctioneer solicits bids other than the expected increment, these bids will not be considered Cut Bids.

Conducting the Auction:

13. Notice of the consignor's liberty to place bids on his lots in the Auction is hereby made in accordance with Article 2 of the Texas Business and Commercial Code. A "Minimum Bid" is an amount below which the lot will not sell. THE CONSIGNOR OF PROPERTY MAY PLACE WRITTEN "Minimum Bids" ON HIS LOTS IN ADVANCE OF THE AUCTION; ON SUCH LOTS, IF THE HAMMER PRICE DOES NOT MEET THE "Minimum Bid", THE CONSIGNOR MAY PAY A REDUCED COMMISSION ON THOSE LOTS. "Minimum Bids" are generally posted online several days prior to the Auction closing. For any successful bid placed by a consignor on his Property on the Auction floor, or by any means during the live session, or after the "Minimum Bid" for an Auction have been posted, we will require the consignor to pay full Buyer's Premium and Seller's Commissions on such lot.
14. The highest qualified Bidder recognized by the Auctioneer shall be the buyer. In the event of any dispute between any Bidders at an Auction, Auctioneer may at his sole discretion reoffer the lot. Auctioneer's decision and declaration of the winning Bidder shall be final and binding upon all Bidders. Bids properly offered, whether by floor Bidder or other means of bidding, may on occasion be missed or go unrecognized; in such cases, the Auctioneer may declare the recognized bid accepted as the winning bid, regardless of whether a competing bid may have been higher.
15. Auctioneer reserves the right to refuse to honor any bid or to limit the amount of any bid, in its sole discretion. A bid is considered not made in "Good Faith" when made by an insolvent or irresponsible person, a person under the age of eighteen, or is not supported by satisfactory credit, collectibles references, or otherwise. Regardless of the disclosure of his identity, any bid by a consignor or his agent on a lot consigned by him is deemed to be made in "Good Faith." Any person apparently appearing on the OFAC list is not eligible to bid.
16. Nominal Bids. The Auctioneer in its sole discretion may reject nominal bids, small opening bids, or very nominal advances. If a lot bearing estimates fails to open for 40–60% of the low estimate, the Auctioneer may pass the item or may place a protective bid on behalf of the consignor.
17. Lots bearing bidding estimates shall open at Auctioneer's discretion (approximately 50% of the low estimate). In the event that no bid meets or exceeds that opening amount, the lot shall pass as unsold.
18. All items are to be purchased per lot as numerically indicated and no lots will be broken. Auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw, prior to the close, any lots from the Auction.
19. Auctioneer reserves the right to rescind the sale in the event of nonpayment, breach of a warranty, disputed ownership, auctioneer's clerical error or omission in exercising bids and reserves, or for any other reason and in Auctioneer's sole discretion. In cases of nonpayment, Auctioneer's election to void a sale does not relieve the Bidder from their obligation to pay Auctioneer its fees (seller's and buyer's premium) and any other damages or expenses pertaining to the lot.
20. Auctioneer occasionally experiences Internet and/or Server service outages, and Auctioneer periodically schedules system downtime for maintenance and other purposes, during which Bidders cannot participate or place bids. If such outages occur, we may at our discretion extend bidding for the Auction. Bidders unable to place their Bids through the Internet are directed to contact Client Services at 1-800-872-6467.
21. The Auctioneer or its affiliates may consign items to be sold in the Auction, and may bid on those lots or any other lots. Auctioneer or affiliates expressly reserve the right to modify any such bids at any time prior to the hammer based upon data made known to the Auctioneer or its affiliates. The Auctioneer may extend advances, guarantees, or loans to certain consignors, and may extend financing or other credits at varying rates to certain Bidders in the auction.
22. The Auctioneer has the right to sell certain unsold items after the close of the Auction. Such lots shall be considered sold during the Auction and all these Terms and Conditions shall apply to such sales including but not limited to the Buyer's Premium, return rights, and disclaimers.

Payment:

23. All sales are strictly for cash in United States dollars (including U.S. currency, bank wire, cashier checks, travelers checks, eChecks, and bank money orders, all subject to reporting requirements). All are subject to clearing and funds being received In Auctioneer's account before delivery of the purchases. Auctioneer reserves the right to determine if a check constitutes "good funds" when drawn on a U.S. bank for ten days, and thirty days when drawn on an international bank. Credit Card (Visa or Master Card only) and PayPal payments may be accepted up to $10,000 from non-dealers at the sole discretion of the Auctioneer, subject to the following limitations: a) sales are only to the cardholder, b) purchases are shipped to the cardholder's registered and verified address, c) Auctioneer may pre-approve the cardholder's credit line, d) a credit card transaction may not be used in conjunction with any other financing or extended terms offered by the Auctioneer, and must transact immediately upon invoice presentation, e) rights of return are governed by these Terms and Conditions, which supersede those conditions promulgated by the card issuer, f) floor Bidders must present their card.
24. Payment is due upon closing of the Auction session, or upon presentment of an invoice. Auctioneer reserves the right to void an invoice if payment in full is not received within 7 days after the close of the Auction. In cases of nonpayment, Auctioneer's election to void a sale does not relieve the Bidder from their obligation to pay Auctioneer its fees (seller's and buyer's premium) on the lot and any other damages pertaining to the lot.
25. Lots delivered in the States of Texas, California, or other states where the Auction may be held, are subject to all applicable state and local taxes, unless appropriate permits are on file with Auctioneer. Bidder agrees to pay Auctioneer the actual amount of tax due in the event that sales tax is not properly collected due to: 1) an expired, inaccurate, inappropriate tax certificate or declaration, 2) an incorrect interpretation of the applicable statute, 3) or any other reason. The appropriate form or certificate must be on file at and verified by Auctioneer five days prior to Auction or tax must be paid; only if such form or certificate is received by Auctioneer within 4 days after the Auction can a refund of tax paid be made. Lots from different Auctions may not be aggregated for sales tax purposes.
26. In the event that a Bidder's payment is dishonored upon presentment(s), Bidder shall pay the maximum statutory processing fee set by applicable state law. If you attempt to pay via eCheck and your financial institution denies this transfer from your bank account, or the payment cannot be completed using the selected funding source, you agree to complete payment using your credit card on file.
27. If any Auction invoice submitted by Auctioneer is not paid in full when due, the unpaid balance will bear interest at the highest rate permitted by law from the date of invoice until paid. If the Auctioneer refers any invoice to an attorney for collection, the buyer agrees to pay attorney's fees, court costs, and other collection costs incurred by Auctioneer. If Auctioneer assigns collection to its in-house legal staff, such attorney's time expended on the matter shall be compensated at a rate comparable to the hourly rate of independent attorneys.

Terms and Conditions of Auction

28. In the event a successful Bidder fails to pay any amounts due, Auctioneer reserves the right to sell the lot(s) securing the invoice to any underbidders in the Auction that the lot(s) appeared, or at subsequent private or public sale, or relist the lot(s) in a future auction conducted by Auctioneer. A defaulting Bidder agrees to pay for the reasonable costs of resale (including a 10% seller's commission, if consigned to an auction conducted by Auctioneer). The defaulting Bidder is liable to pay any difference between his total original invoice for the lot(s), plus any applicable interest, and the net proceeds for the lot(s) if sold at private sale or the subsequent hammer price of the lot(s) less the 10% seller's commissions, if sold at an Auctioneer's auction
29. Auctioneer reserves the right to require payment in full in good funds before delivery of the merchandise.
30. Auctioneer shall have a lien against the merchandise purchased by the buyer to secure payment of the Auction invoice. Auctioneer is further granted a lien and the right to retain possession of any other property of the buyer then held by the Auctioneer or its affiliates to secure payment of any Auction invoice or any other amounts due the Auctioneer or affiliates from the buyer. With respect to these lien rights, Auctioneer shall have all the rights of a secured creditor under Article 9 of the Texas Uniform Commercial Code, including but not limited to the right of sale. In addition, with respect to payment of the Auction invoice(s), the buyer waives any and all rights of offset he might otherwise have against the Auctioneer and the consignor of the merchandise included on the invoice. If a Bidder owes Auctioneer or its affiliates on any account, Auctioneer and its affiliates shall have the right to offset such unpaid account by any credit balance due Bidder, and it may secure by possessory lien any unpaid amount by any of the Bidder's property in their possession.
31. Title shall not pass to the successful Bidder until all invoices are paid in full. It is the responsibility of the buyer to provide adequate insurance coverage for the items once they have been delivered to a common carrier or third-party shipper.

Delivery; Shipping; and Handling Charges:

32. Buyer is liable for shipping and handling. Please refer to Auctioneer's website www.HA.com/common/shipping.php for the latest charges or call Auctioneer. Auctioneer is unable to combine purchases from other auctions or affiliates into one package for shipping purposes. Lots won will be shipped in a commercially reasonable time after payment in good funds for the merchandise and the shipping fees is received or credit extended, except when third-party shipment occurs.
33. Successful international Bidders shall provide written shipping instructions, including specified customs declarations, to the Auctioneer for any lots to be delivered outside of the United States. NOTE: Declaration value shall be the item'(s) hammer price together with its buyer's premium and Auctioneer shall use the correct harmonized code for the lot. Domestic Buyers on lots designated for third-party shipment must designate the common carrier, accept risk of loss, and prepay shipping costs.
34. All shipping charges will be borne by the successful Bidder. Any risk of loss during shipment will be borne by the buyer following Auctioneer's delivery to the designated common carrier or third-party shipper, regardless of domestic or foreign shipment.
35. Due to the nature of some items sold, it shall be the responsibility for the successful bidder to arrange pick-up and shipping through third-parties; as to such items Auctioneer shall have no liability. Failure to pick-up or arrange shipping in a timely fashion (within ten days) shall subject Lots to storage and moving charges, including a $100 administration fee plus $10 daily storage for larger items and $5.00 daily for smaller items (storage fee per item) after 35 days. In the event the Lot is not removed within ninety days, the Lot may be offered for sale to recover any past due storage or moving fees, including a 10% Seller's Commission.
36. The laws of various countries regulate the import or export of certain plant and animal properties, including (but not limited to) items made of (or including) ivory, whalebone, turtleshell, coral, crocodile, or other wildlife. Transport of such lots may require special licenses for export, import, or both. Bidder is responsible for: 1) obtaining all information on such restricted items for both export and import; 2) obtaining all such licenses and/or permits. Delay or failure to obtain any such license or permit does not relieve the buyer of timely compliance with standard payment terms. For further information, please contact Bill Taylor at 800-872-6467 ext. 1280.
37. Any request for shipping verification for undelivered packages must be made within 30 days of shipment by Auctioneer.

Cataloging, Warranties and Disclaimers:

38. NO WARRANTY, WHETHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, IS MADE WITH RESPECT TO ANY DESCRIPTION CONTAINED IN THIS AUCTION OR ANY SECOND OPINE. Any description of the items or second opine contained in this Auction is for the sole purpose of identifying the items for those Bidders who do not have the opportunity to view the lots prior to bidding, and no description of items has been made part of the basis of the bargain or has created any express warranty that the goods would conform to any description made by Auctioneer. Color variations can be expected in any electronic or printed imaging, and are not grounds for the return of any lot.
39. Auctioneer is selling only such right or title to the items being sold as Auctioneer may have by virtue of consignment agreements on the date of auction and disclaims any warranty of title to the Property. Auctioneer disclaims any warranty of merchantability or fitness for any particular purposes. All images, descriptions, sales data, and archival records are the exclusive property of Auctioneer, and may be used by Auctioneer for advertising, promotion, archival records, and any other uses deemed appropriate.
40. Translations of foreign language documents may be provided as a convenience to interested parties. Auctioneer makes no representation as to the accuracy of those translations and will not be held responsible for errors in bidding arising from inaccuracies in translation.
41. Auctioneer disclaims all liability for damages, consequential or otherwise, arising out of or in connection with the sale of any Property by Auctioneer to Bidder. No third party may rely on any benefit of these Terms and Conditions and any rights, if any, established hereunder are personal to the Bidder and may not be assigned. Any statement made by the Auctioneer is an opinion and does not constitute a warranty or representation. No employee of Auctioneer may alter these Terms and Conditions, and, unless signed by a principal of Auctioneer, any such alteration is null and void.
42. Auctioneer shall not be liable for breakage of glass or damage to frames (patent or latent); such defects, in any event, shall not be a basis for any claim for return or reduction in purchase price.

Release:

43. In consideration of participation in the Auction and the placing of a bid, Bidder expressly releases Auctioneer, its officers, directors and employees, its affiliates, and its outside experts that provide second opines, from any and all claims, cause of action, chose of action, whether at law or equity or any arbitration or mediation rights existing under the rules of any professional society or affiliation based upon the assigned description, or a derivative theory, breach of warranty express or implied, representation or other matter set forth within these Terms and Conditions of Auction or otherwise. In the event of a claim, Bidder agrees that such rights and privileges conferred therein are strictly construed as specifically declared herein; e.g., authenticity, typographical error, etc. and are the exclusive remedy. Bidder, by non-compliance to these express terms of a granted remedy, shall waive any claim against Auctioneer.
44. Notice: Some Property sold by Auctioneer are inherently dangerous e.g. firearms, cannons, and small items that may be swallowed or ingested or may have latent defects all of which may cause harm to a person. Purchaser accepts all risk of loss or damage from its purchase of these items and Auctioneer disclaims any liability whether under contract or tort for damages and losses, direct or inconsequential, and expressly disclaims any warranty as to safety or usage of any lot sold.

Dispute Resolution and Arbitration Provision:

45. By placing a bid or otherwise participating in the auction, Bidder accepts these Terms and Conditions of Auction, and specifically agrees to the alternative dispute resolution provided herein. Arbitration replaces the right to go to court, including the right to a jury trial.
46. Auctioneer in no event shall be responsible for consequential damages, incidental damages, compensatory damages, or any other damages arising or claimed to be arising from the auction of any lot. In the event that Auctioneer cannot deliver the lot or subsequently it is established that the lot lacks title, or other transfer or condition issue is claimed, In such cases the sole remedy shall be limited to rescission of sale and refund of the amount paid by Bidder; in no case shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot. After one year has elapsed, Auctioneer's maximum liability shall be limited to any commissions and fees Auctioneer earned on that lot.
47. In the event of an attribution error, Auctioneer may at its sole discretion, correct the error on the Internet, or, if discovered at a later date, to refund the buyer's purchase price without further obligation.
48. Arbitration Clause: All controversies or claims under this Agreement or arising from or pertaining to: this Agreement or related documents, or to the Properties consigned hereunder, or the enforcement or interpretation hereof of this or any related agreements, or damage to Properties, payment, or any other matter, or because of an alleged breach, default or misrepresentation under the provisions hereof or otherwise, that cannot be settled amicably within one (1) month from the date of notification of either party to the other of such dispute or question, which notice shall specify the details of such dispute or question, shall be settled by final and binding arbitration by one arbitrator appointed by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA"). The arbitration shall be conducted in Dallas, Dallas County, Texas in accordance with the then existing Commercial Arbitration Rules of the AAA. The arbitration shall be brought within two (2) years of the alleged breach, default or misrepresentation or the claim is waived. The prevailing party (a party that is awarded substantial and material relief on its claim or defense) may be awarded its reasonable attorney's fees and costs. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof; provided, however, that the law applicable to any controversy shall be the law of the State of Texas, regardless of its or any other jurisdiction's choice of law principles and under the provisions of the Federal Arbitration Act.
49. No claims of any kind can be considered after the settlements have been made with the consignors. Any dispute after the settlement date is strictly between the Bidder and consignor without involvement or responsibility of the Auctioneer.
50. In consideration of their participation in or application for the Auction, a person or entity (whether the successful Bidder, a Bidder, a purchaser and/or other Auction participant or registrant) agrees that all disputes in any way relating to, arising under, connected with, or incidental to these Terms and Conditions and purchases, or default in payment thereof, shall be arbitrated pursuant to the arbitration provision. In the event that any matter including actions to compel arbitration, construe the agreement, actions in aid or arbitration or otherwise needs to be litigated, such litigation shall be exclusively in the Courts of the State of Texas, in Dallas County, Texas, and if necessary the corresponding appellate courts. For such actions, the successful Bidder, purchaser, or Auction participant also expressly submits himself to the personal jurisdiction of the State of Texas.
51. These Terms & Conditions provide specific remedies for occurrences in the auction and delivery process. Where such remedies are afforded, they shall be interpreted strictly. Bidder agrees that any claim shall utilize such remedies; Bidder making a claim in excess of those remedies provided in these Terms and Conditions agrees that in no case whatsoever shall Auctioneer's maximum liability exceed the high bid on that lot, which bid shall be deemed for all purposes the value of the lot.

Miscellaneous:

52. Agreements between Bidders and consignors to effectuate a non-sale of an item at Auction, inhibit bidding on a consigned item to enter into a private sale agreement for said item, or to utilize the Auctioneer's Auction to obtain sales for non-selling consigned items subsequent to the Auction, are strictly prohibited. If a subsequent sale of a previously consigned item occurs in violation of this provision, Auctioneer reserves the right to charge Bidder the applicable Buyer's Premium and consignor a Seller's Commission as determined for each auction venue and by the terms of the seller's agreement.
53. Acceptance of these Terms and Conditions qualifies Bidder as a client who has consented to be contacted by Heritage in the future. In conformity with "do-not-call" regulations promulgated by the Federal or State regulatory agencies, participation by the Bidder is affirmative consent to being contacted at the phone number shown in his application and this consent shall remain in effect until it is revoked in writing. Heritage may from time to time contact Bidder concerning sale, purchase, and auction opportunities available through Heritage and its affiliates and subsidiaries.
54. Rules of Construction: Auctioneer presents properties in a number of collectible fields, and as such, specific venues have promulgated supplemental Terms and Conditions. Nothing herein shall be construed to waive the general Terms and Conditions of Auction by these additional rules and shall be construed to give force and effect to the rules in their entirety.

State Notices:

Auctioneer has in compliance with Title 2.95 of the California Civil Code as amended October 11, 1993 Sec. 1812.600, posted with the California Secretary of State its bonds for it and its employees, and the auction is being conducted in compliance with Sec. 2338 of the Commercial Code and Sec. 535 of the Penal Code.

Foose, No.0952360, who will conduct the Auction on behalf of Heritage Auctions, Inc. ("Auctioneer"). All lots are subject to: the consignor's right to bid thereon in accord with these Terms and Conditions of Auction, consignor's option to receive advances on their consignments, and Auctioneer, in its sole discretion, may offer limited extended financing to registered bidders, in accord with Auctioneer's internal credit standards. ## Additional Terms & Conditions: COINS & CURRENCY

COINS and CURRENCY TERM A: Signature. Auctions are not on approval. No certified material may be returned because of possible differences of opinion with respect to the grade offered by any third-party organization, dealer, or service. No guarantee of grade is offered for uncertified Property sold and subsequently submitted to a third-party grading service. There are absolutely no exceptions to this policy. Under extremely limited circumstances, (e.g. gross cataloging error) a purchaser, who did not bid from the floor, may request Auctioneer to evaluate voiding a sale: such request must be made in writing detailing the alleged gross error; submission of the lot to the Auctioneer must be pre-approved by the Auctioneer; and bidder must notify Ron Brackemyre (1-800-8726467 Ext. 1312) in writing of such request within three (3) days of the non-floor bidder's receipt of the lot. Any lot that is to be evaluated must be in our offices within 30 days after Auction. Grading or method of manufacture do not qualify for this evaluation process nor do such complaints constitute a basis to challenge the authenticity of a lot. AFTER THAT 30-DAY PERIOD, NO LOTS MAY BE RETURNED FOR REASONS OTHER THAN AUTHENTICITY. Lots returned must be housed intact in their original holder. No lots purchased by floor Bidders may be returned (including those Bidders acting as agents for others) except for authenticity. Late remittance for purchases may be considered just cause to revoke all return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM B: Auctions conducted solely on the Internet THREE (3) DAY RETURN POLICY: Certified Coin and Uncertified and Certified Currency lots paid for within seven days of the Auction closing are sold with a three (3) day return privilege. You may return lots under the following conditions: Within three days of receipt of the lot, you must first notify Auctioneer by contacting Client Service by phone (1-800-872-6467) or e-mail (Bid@HA.com), and immediately ship the lot(s) fully insured to the attention of Returns, Heritage, 3500 Maple Avenue, 17th Floor, Dallas TX 75219-3941. Lots must be housed intact in their original holder and condition. You are responsible for the insured, safe delivery of any lots. A non-negotiable return fee of 5% of the purchase price ($10 per lot minimum) will be deducted from the refund for each returned lot or billed directly. Postage and handling fees are not refunded. After the three-day period (from receipt), no items may be returned for any reason. Late remittance for purchases revokes these Return privileges.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM C: Bidders who have inspected the lots prior to any Auction, or attended the Auction, or bid through an Agent, will not be granted any return privileges, except for reasons of authenticity.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM D: Coins sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for a guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Numismatic Guaranty Corporation (NGC), P.O. Box 4776, Sarasota, FL 34230; Professional Coin Grading Service (PCGS), PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; ANACS, 6555 S. Kenton St. Ste. 303, Englewood, CO 80111; and Independent Coin Grading Co. (ICG), 7901 East Belleview Ave., Suite 50, Englewood, CO 80111.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM E: Notes sold referencing a third-party grading service are sold "as is" without any express or implied warranty, except for guarantee by Auctioneer that they are genuine. Grading, condition or other attributes of any lot may have a material effect on its value, and the opinion of others, including third-party grading services such as PCGS Currency, PMG, and CGA may differ with that of Auctioneer. Auctioneer shall not be bound by any prior or subsequent opinion, determination, or certification by any grading service. Bidder specifically waives any claim to right of return of any item because of the opinion, determination, or certification, or lack thereof, by any grading service. Certain warranties may be available from the grading services and the Bidder is referred to them for further details: Paper Money Guaranty (PMG), PO Box 4711, Sarasota FL 34230; PCGS Currency, PO Box 9458, Newport Beach, CA 92658; Currency Grading & Authentication (CGA), PO Box 418, Three Bridges, NJ 08887. Third party graded notes are not returnable for any reason whatsoever.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM F: Since we cannot examine encapsulated coins or notes, they are sold "as is" without our grading opinion, and may not be returned for any reason. Auctioneer shall not be liable for any patent or latent defect or controversy pertaining to or arising from any encapsulated collectible. In any such instance, purchaser's remedy, if any, shall be solely against the service certifying the collectible.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM G: Due to changing grading standards over time, differing interpretations, and to possible mishandling of items by subsequent owners, Auctioneer reserves the right to grade items differently than shown on certificates from any grading service that accompany the items. Auctioneer also reserves the right to grade items differently than the grades shown in the prior catalog should such items be reconsigned to any future auction.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM H: Although consensus grading is employed by most grading services, it should be noted as aforesaid that grading is not an exact science. In fact, it is entirely possible that if a lot is broken out of a plastic holder and resubmitted to another grading service or even to the same service, the lot could come back with a different grade assigned.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM I: Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. The degree of liquidity for certified coins and collectibles will vary according to general market conditions and the particular lot involved. For some lots there may be no active market at all at certain points in time.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM J: All non-certified coins and currency are guaranteed genuine, but are not guaranteed as to grade, since grading is a matter of opinion, an art and not a science, and therefore the opinion rendered by the Auctioneer or any third party grading service may not agree with the opinion of others (including trained experts), and the same expert may not grade the same item with the same grade at two different times. Auctioneer has graded the non-certified numismatic items, in the Auctioneer's opinion, to their current interpretation of the American Numismatic Association's standards as of the date the catalog was prepared. There is no guarantee or warranty implied or expressed that the grading standards utilized by the Auctioneer will meet the standards of any grading service at any time in the future.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM K: Storage of purchased coins and currency: Purchasers are advised that certain types of plastic may react with a coin's metal or transfer plasticizer to notes and may cause damage. Caution should be used to avoid storage in materials that are not inert.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM L: Storage of purchased coins and currency: Purchasers are advised that certain types of plastic may react with a coin's metal or transfer plasticizer to notes and may cause damage. Caution should be used to avoid storage in materials that are not inert.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM M: NOTE: Purchasers of rare coins or currency through Heritage have available the option of arbitration by the Professional Numismatists Guild (PNG); if an election is not made within ten (10) days of an unresolved dispute, Auctioneer may elect either PNG or A.A.A. Arbitration.

COINS and CURRENCY TERM N: For more information regarding Canadian lots attributed to the Charlton reference guides, please contact: Charlton International, PO Box 820, Station Willowdale B, North York, Ontario M2K 2R1 Canada.

Your five most effective bidding techniques:

1 Interactive Internet™ Proxy Bidding

(leave your maximum Bid at HA.com before the auction starts)

Heritage's exclusive Interactive Internet™ system is fun and easy! Before you start, you must register online at HA.com and obtain your Username and Password.

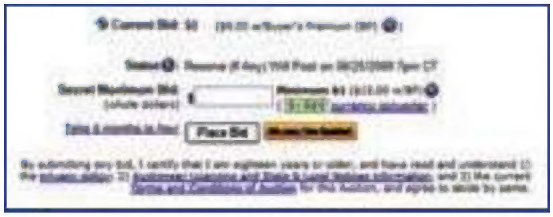
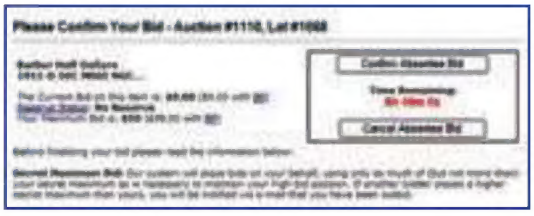
1. Login to the HA.com website, using your Username and Password.
2. Chose the specialty you're interested in at the top of the homepage (i.e. coins, currency, comics, movie posters, fine art, etc.).
3. Search or browse for the lots that interest you. Every auction has search features and a 'drop-down' menu list.
4. Select a lot by clicking on the link or the photo icon. Read the description, and view the full-color photography. Note that clicking on the image will enlarge the photo with amazing detail.
5. View the current opening bid. Below the lot description, note the historic pricing information to help you establish price levels. Clicking on a link will take you directly to our Permanent Auction Archives for more information and images.
6. If the current price is within your range, Bid! At the top of the lot page is a box containing the Current Bid and an entry box for your "Secret Maximum Bid" – the maximum amount you are willing to pay for the item before the Buyer's Premium is added. Click the button marked "Place Bid" (if you are not logged in, a login box will open first so you can enter your username (or e-mail address) and password.
7. After you are satisfied that all the information is correct, confirm your "Secret Maximum Bid" by clicking on the "Confirm Absentee Bid" button. You will receive immediate notification letting you know if you are now the top bidder, or if another bidder had previously bid higher than your amount. If you bid your maximum amount and someone has already bid higher, you will immediately know so you can concentrate on other lots.
8. Before the auction, if another bidder surpasses your "Secret Maximum Bid", you will be notified automatically by e-mail containing a link to review the lot and possibly bid higher.
9. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes at 10 P.M. Central Time the night before the session is offered in a floor event. Interactive Internet™ bidding closes two hours before live sessions where there is no floor bidding.
10. The Interactive Internet™ system generally opens the lot at the next increment above the second highest bid. As the high bidder, your "Secret Maximum Bid" will compete for you during the floor auction. Of course, it is possible in a Signature® or Grand Format live auction that you may be outbid on the floor or by a Heritage Live bidder after Internet bidding closes. Bid early, as the earliest bird wins in the event of a tie bid. For more information about bidding and bid increments, please see the section labeled "Bidding Increments" elsewhere in this catalog.
11. After the auction, you will be notified of your success. It's that easy!





6-30-08

2 HERITAGE Live!™ Bidding
(participate in the Live auction via the Internet)

1. Look on each auction's homepage to verify whether that auction is "HA.com/Live Enabled." All Signature® and Grand Format auctions use the HERITAGE Live!™ system, and many feature live audio and/or video. Determine your lots of interest and maximum bids.
2. Note on the auction's homepage the session dates and times (and especially time zones!) so you can plan your participation. You actually have two methods of using HERITAGE Live!™: a) you can leave a proxy bid through this system, much like the Interactive Internet™ (we recommend you do this before the session starts), or b) you can sit in front of your computer much as the audience is sitting in the auction room during the actual auction.
3. Login at HA.com/Live.
4. Until you become experienced (and this happens quickly!) you will want to login well before your lot comes up so you can watch the activity on other lots. It is as intuitive as participating in a live auction.
5. When your lot hits the auction block, you can continue to bid live against the floor and other live bidders by simply clicking the "Bid" button; the amount you are bidding is clearly displayed on the console.

3 Mail Bidding
(deposit your maximum Bid with the U.S.P.S. well before the auction starts)

Mail bidding at auction is fun and easy, but by eliminating the interactivity of our online systems, some of your bids may be outbid before you lick the stamp, and you will have no idea of your overall chances until the auction is over!

1. Look through the printed catalog, and determine your lots of interest.
2. Research their market value by checking price lists and other price guidelines.
3. Fill out your bid sheet, entering your maximum bid on each lot. Bid using whole dollar amounts only. Verify your bids, because you are responsible for any errors you make! Please consult the Bidding Increments chart in the Terms & Conditions.
4. Please fill out your bid sheet completely! We also need: a) Your name and complete address for mailing invoices and lots; b) Your telephone number if any problems or changes arise; c) Your references; if you have not established credit with Heritage, you must send a 25% deposit, or list dealers with whom you have credit established; d) Total your bid sheet; add up all bids and list that total in the box; e) Sign your bid sheet, thereby agreeing to abide by the Terms & Conditions of Auction printed in the catalog.
5. Mail early, because preference is given to the first bid received in case of a tie.
6. When bidding by mail, you frequently purchase items at less than your maximum bid. Bidding generally opens at the next published increment above the second highest mail or Internet bid previously received; if additional floor, phone, or HERITAGE Live!™ bids are made, we act as your agent, bidding in increments over any additional bid until you win the lot or are outbid. For example, if you submitted a bid of $750, and the second highest bid was $375, bidding would start at $400; if no other bids were placed, you would purchase the lot for $400.
7. You can also Fax your Bid Sheet if time is short. Use our exclusive Fax Hotline: 214-443-8425.

4 Telephone Bidding (when you are traveling, or do not have access to HERITAGE Live!™)

1. To participate in an auction by telephone, you must make preliminary arrangements with Client Services (Toll Free 866-835-3243) at least three days before the auction.
2. We strongly recommend that you place preliminary bids by mail or Internet if you intend to participate by telephone. On many occasions, this dual approach has reduced disappointments due to telephone (cell) problems, unexpected travel, late night sessions, and time zone differences. Keep a list of your preliminary bids, and we will help you avoid bidding against yourself.

5 Attend in Person (whenever possible)

Auctions are fun, and we encourage you to attend as many as possible – although our HERITAGE Live!™ system brings all of the action right to your computer screen. Auction dates and session times are printed on the title page of each catalog, and appear on the homepage of each auction at HA.com. Join us if you can!

We're collectors too, and we understand that on occasion there is more to buy than there is cash. Consider Heritage's Extended Payment Plan [EPP] for your purchases totaling $2,500 or more.

Extended Payment Plan [EPP] Conditions

- Minimum invoice total is $2,500.
- Minimum Down Payment is 25% of the total invoice.
- A signed and returned EPP Agreement is required.
- The EPP is subject to a 3% fully refundable Set-up Fee (based on the total invoice amount) payable as part of the first monthly payment.
- The 3% Set-up Fee is refundable provided all monthly payments are made by eCheck, bank draft, personal check drawn on good funds, or cash; and if all such payments are made according to the EPP schedule.
- Monthly payments can be automatically processed with an eCheck, Visa, or MasterCard.
- You may take up to four equal monthly payments to pay the balance.
- Interest is calculated at only 1% per month on the unpaid balance.
- Your EPP must be kept current or additional interest may apply.
- There is no penalty for paying off early.
- Shipment will be made when final payment is received.
- All traditional auction and sales policies still apply.

There is no return privilege once you have confirmed your sale, and penalties can be incurred on cancelled invoices. To avoid additional fees, you must make your down payment within 14 days of the auction. All material purchased under the EPP will be physically secured by Heritage until paid in full.

To exercise the EPP option, please notify Eric Thomas at 214.409.1241 or email at EricT@HA.com upon receipt of your invoice.

We appreciate your business and wish you good luck with your bidding.
